Weak storm brings light drizzle to area

Light drizzles brought a trace of rain to the Pomona Valley this morning as a weak storm system passed through the area, bringing overcast and dreary morning weather and hazy afternoon sunshine.

Clear and warmer weather is promised Thursday, when a warming trend is supposed to start and continue throughout the weekend. Temperatures should be in the mid-80s by Sunday.

Tuesday's high maximum temperature reached a cool 72 degrees, but didn't come close to breaking the lowest maximum temperature record for Sept. 4. The lowest high temperature for the date was 67 degrees, set in 1965.

Today's cool weather may break the present record of 75 degrees set on Sept. 5, 1965.

Normal temperatures for September are highs of 89 degrees and lows of 58 degrees.

The high today is expected to be 73 degrees and 77 degrees is forecast for Thursday.

Ehrlichman, 3 others indicted in connection with burglary

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A grand jury indicted former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman and three members of the White House "plumbers" unit Tuesday in connection with the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, it was reported today.

The grand jury, which returned secret indictments Tuesday, was reported to have charged John D. Ehrlichman with perjury and conspiracy to commit burglary for his alleged role in the September, 1971, break-in of the Los Angeles offices of Dr. Henry Fielding.

Convicted Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy and former White House aides David R. Young Jr. and Egil "Bud" Krogh Jr. were said to have been charged with conspiracy to commit burglary.

The identity of those indicted and the charges against them were reported by the Washington Post.

The Post also reported that an aide to Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox, James Doyle, said the Los Angeles indictments "might impede our investigation." He refused to elaborate.

Ehrlichman, President Nixon's chief domestic adviser until he resigned under the cloud of Watergate April 30, was charged with perjury, the Post said, on account of conflicts between his grand jury testimony and what he told the Senate Watergate Committee about his prior knowledge of the burglary.

A series of memos from April, 1971, also led the grand jury to believe Ehrlichman had prior knowledge, said the newspaper.

Ehrlichman, in his Watergate testimony, denied advance knowledge of the break-in, which was ostensibly part of the "plumbers" attempt to find out who was leaking national security information.

None of the four was immediately available for comment.

Liddy, Krogh and Young were members of a special investigations unit formed by the White House shortly after the publication of the Pentagon papers in June, 1971. The unit became known as the "plumbers" because of its efforts to curtail information leaks to the press.

In two hours of testimony before the Los Angeles county grand jury last June 8, Ehrlichman reportedly denied that he had any prior knowledge of the burglary of the psychiatrist's office.

Krogh and Young took the Fifth Amendment when called to testify, although Krogh did issue a seven-page memorandum in which he conceded that he had ordered the "mission" that led to the break-in of Fielding's office.

Ehrlichman later told the Senate Watergate committee that he had authorized a "covert operation" to obtain Ellsberg's psychiatric files, but he insisted he did not intend that the files be obtained by illegal means.

Liddy, now serving a federal prison term in Danbury, Conn., for his part in the Watergate break-in, was not called to testify by the Los Angeles jury.

Another convicted Watergate conspirator, E. Howard Hunt, and three Cubans who admitted entering Fielding's office, provided the grand jury with details of the operation in exchange for immunity.

The Cubans—Bernard Barker, Eugenio Martinez and Felipe De Diego—reportedly told the grand jury they entered the office on Sept. 3, 1971.

Hurricane Delia just footnote in storm 'roll call'

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Tropical Storm Delia pawed 300 miles of the Texas and Louisiana Gulf Coast Tuesday, but those who have weathered some tough ladies said Delia is only a footnote in the roll call of storms.

"I've been through a lot of them," said Melody Foreman, a waitress at Dot's Cafe on the beach at High Island. "But this is just a little dinky storm."

George Kahla, who runs the ferry from Galveston across the Bay to Rollover Pass, said his boat never stopped running.

"We ran at half speed and had no trouble whatsoever," he said. "Everything was smooth. We had about four and a half foot waves."

Kahla said he's lived in the area 45 years and seen them all —Carla, Beulah, Celia—but "I'd classify this as a good thunderstorm that's about it. If this is all there is to it, we'll have to water the lawn Wednesday."

Galveston weatherman Dave Benton also shrugged it off.

"A few years ago, before you had satellites, this storm would probably never have been named," he said.

Hurricane Audrey was the worst storm to strike the coast in the last 20 years in terms of human life. It killed 390 persons after hitting Cameron, La., in 1957. Hurricane Betsy caused the most property damage. It hit the Gulf Coast in 1965 killing 75 persons and causing $1 billion in damages.

WHERE TWO MET DEATH

Two men were killed Tuesday in Fresno when a truck veered up the embankment of an off-ramp and then slid back down on Freeway 99, landing on top of two vehicles the victims were occupying. Five other persons in the two cars were injured. The victims were from Fresno and Tulare.

Gunpowder culprit

Explosions, fires hurt 5 in L.P. neighborhood

LA PUENTE — A series of explosions and fires caused havoc in a La Puente neighborhood Tuesday afternoon — touched off when a sports enthusiast was reloading a gun in his garage.

The result was fire and broken window damage to four homes and injuries to five people.

Harry Fowler, 144 N. Vangard Ave., told firemen that he and his 18-year-old son, David, were reloading a gun in his garage when the gunpowder ignited and exploded.

Mrs. W.G. Morphis, 138 N. Vangard Ave., said she was asleep when the force of the first explosion "rolled her off her bed onto the floor." Her house is located south of the Fowler residence. Damage to her home was estimated at $3,000 from fire and broken windows.

Treated at the scene for minor burns were Fowler, his son and Elma Delatore, 17, who was babysitting children in a house across the street from the Fowler residence. Also treated for minor burns were the youngsters, Irene Flecha, 7, and Diane Flecha, 4.

The Flecha home received $1,200 damage. Mrs. Candelaia Flecha wasn't home at the time of the fire.

Broken windows were also reported at 145 N. Vangard Ave.

Fowler told sheriff's deputies that he had eight or nine pounds of black gunpowder stored in his garage. A series of explosions in the gun powder jolted the neighborhood.

Fowler estimated the loss to his home and contents at $24,000. He also lost a valuable coin collection in the blaze. Firemen said the coins melted in the blaze.

Guerrillas seize Saudi Arabia embassy in plot to flee Paris

PARIS (UPI) —Three armed Palestinian guerrillas seized the Saudi Arabian embassy and an undetermined number of hostages today, threatening to blow up the building unless they were granted free passage out of France.

The guerrillas also said they were demanding the release of a leading Palestinian guerrilla serving a life senteence in Jordan.

The guerrillas initially gave police a 5 p.m. (noon EDT) deadline to provide them a car to the airport and a plane out of France, but extended the deadline twice.

"We do not want another Munich," they declared at 6 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT), referring to the Munich Olympic massacre one year ago today.

Hundreds of police wearing helmets and bullet-proof vests and including a team of sharpshooters surrounded the greystone building in the swank 16th district not far from the Arc de Triumph.

But police Inspector Jean Espinasse said: "We will not attack the embassy without a written request from the Saudi Arabian ambassador because this is extraterritorial property. If the guerrillas take a diplomatic car to the airport, we will not attack them either."

The Saudi ambassador was in Algiers today attending the summit conference of nonaligned nations.

An Arab journalist who transmitted a threat from the guerrillas to blow up the building said the guerrillas told him there were three women among the hostages, two of them French secretaries.

An unidentified Arab ambassador was quoted by Radio One, an independent station, as saying five Saudi Arabian diplomats were also among the hostages. He said they included the consul, the cultural counsellor, his deputy, a secretary and and one other diplomat.

Shortly before the 6 p.m. deadline, the ambassadors of Lebanon and Kuwait held new talks with the guerrillas, using a megaphone and shouting through an embassy window.

An Arabic speaker quoted the guerrillas as saying: "We do not want another Munich."

The guerrillas said: "We are waiting. We want a bus to take us to the airport and we want the Kuwaiti ambassador to go with us."

The ambassadors replied that no Arab plane was ready. The guerrillas said a French one would do, but were told this was not acceptable.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica today gave Watergate conspirators Jeb Stuart Magruder and James W. McCord Jr. permission to travel but not to give lectures.

"I don't understand and I don't think it's fair, frankly, for Mr. McCord . . . and Mr. Macgruder to profit by their wrongdoing, to appear on the lecture platform for $2,000 or whatever it is," Sirica said at a 13-minute hearing.

"To me it's a disgrace and as long as I'm judge I'm going to try and prevent it."

The order meant that McCord would have to cancel a lecture tour that would have taken him to 17 locations in September. Magruder had said in a letter to Sirica Tuesday that he had planned only "a limited number" of speaking engagements at colleges in September and October.

"This is creating additional worry for my wife and myself because we must provide for our four children," Magruder said.

Sirica gave both Magruder and McCord unlimited permission to travel.

Judge refuses to close theater showing 'Throat'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A Superior Court judge has refused to close down a theatre showing the sex film "Deep Throat," denying a state senator's argument that the film attracts "deviates" and is a public nuisance.

Judge David Thomas ruled Tuesday against an action filed by Sen John L. Harmer, who claimed the movie was attracting criminal elements and "deviates" to the Los Angeles theatre where it has been playing since Nov. 30.

The suit said movies like "Deep Throat" and another sex film, "The Devil In Miss Jones," tended to erode public morality, increase the probability of sexual promiscuity and divorce, and invite "similar unsavory" businesses into the area.

FBI asked to probe Agnew case leaks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson has asked the FBI to investigate reported news leaks from within the Justice Department about the progress of an investigation of kickback allegations against Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Richardson said in an interview published today by the Washington Post that "I have indications from news media themselves" that the department was the source of some news stories condemned by Agnew as "a clear and outrageous effort" to influence grand jury proceedings.

A federal grand jury in Baltimore, which has been investigating alleged corruption in Maryland politics before and after Agnew was governor, has not received any evidence pertaining to Agnew pending a decision by Richardson on whether to allow it.

Richardson returned from a vacation Tuesday, but the U.S. attorney in Baltimore, George Beall, continued on vacation and there was no indication when Richardson would make a decision on whether the grand jury could consider the case.

Agnew said on Aug. 21 that news leaks about the investigation indicated "that some Justice Department officials have decided to indict me in the press—whether or not the evidence supports their position."

Lawmen will get 5% salary increase

Pomona council ends pay hassle with policemen

POMONA — Negotiations over higher pay and other benefits were settled by the City Council Tuesday night with policemen — the only remaining holdout among the three city employe associations.

The council unanimously approved a memorandum of understanding with the 136-member Pomona Police Officers' Relief Association, providing for a five per cent salary increase effective that night.

The council had reached similar agreements with the Pomona Fireman's Association and with the largest of the three groups, the Pomona City Employes' Association, in July.

In the memo with the police association, the city agrees to provide all sworn police personnel with dental insurance coverage, $50 deductible, at no cost to the employes and covering the employe and all of his dependents.

The city also agreed to conduct in the summer of 1974 a salary survey of the top-step salary of a basic patrolman, excluding longevity and other additional compensation fringe benefits paid on Aug. 15, 1974.

The survey, to be completed by Aug. 20, 1974, will be submitted to the police association for comments and final recommendation before Sept. 1, 1974.

The memo further provides that each sworn police classification, excluding the police chief who is included with department heads, will be raised in the same percentage as the percentage differential between the salary average for a top-step basic patrolman in the cities of Compton, Downey, Inglewood, Ontario, San Bernardino and Santa Monica.

The memo spells out guidelines for determining the average. It also provides that effective July 1, 1974, the city will pay all overtime accumulated beyond 40 hours on the employe's payroll record at the rate of time and one-half of the employe's current salary, on a monthly basis.

This overtime would include only on-duty overtime and not hours contracted such as for the Los Angeles County Fair, public dances, fiestas and other similar activities.

But the memo states this fringe benefit will not be implemented unless four of the six survey cities "have included provisions for time and one-half for overtime similar to or more liberal" than the Pomona provision.

The five per cent salary increase and implementation of a dental plan is what the city had offered the police, firemen and miscellaneous employes after negotiations got under way with each of the three groups.

The police association held out for more and to dramatize its demands, staged demonstrations at the Civic Center and near the places of business of three members of the council.

Heat wave forces power cuts

East smothered by smog

By United Press International

A high-pressure air mass smothered the East Coast for the eighth straight day Tuesday, trapping pollutants in the air, pushing temperatures up into the 90's, and causing widespread power cuts. It was the worst heat wave in seven years.

In New York City, which has gotten the worst of the spell, lighting was visibly dimmer because of a 5 per cent electricity cut by Consolidated Edison, overstrained by air conditioners running full blast.

Manhattan was so thick with industrial smog and exhaust, caused by the lid which prevents air from rising, that an air stagnation advisory was issued by the National Weather Bureau. If pollutants reach higher levels, the Environmental Protection Administration said it could put the city on alert.

Thunderstorms, buoyed by the heat and moist air pushed inland from tropical storm Delia, Tuesday raced across the flat plains of Texas. A 110 m.p.h. wind gust ripped through Big Springs, Tex,, killing or injuring dozens of persons.

Power companies in the Northeast Tuesday cut back voltage 5 per cent, trying to store up electricity before the demands of straining air conditioners.

Ocean temperatures off New Jersey remained at record highs with the water registering 83 degrees.

Schools in Prince Georges and Montgomery County, Md., cut classes short for school children.

In New York, feeder cable problems in Queens forced Consolidated Edison to impose a blackout in some areas. A Con Ed spokesman urged customers to avoid using their air conditioners except for health reasons.

"We desperately need the cooperation of our customers to avoid any major breakdowns on networks in the metropolitan area," he said.

The New York State Department of Environmental Conservation banned open burning in a mild air stagnation watch for New York City, Long Island and Rockland and Westchester Counties.

Temperatures climbed to 94 degrees in Boston, a record high for the day since 1884. Temperatures rose to 95 degrees in Hartford, Conn., and 90 degrees at Burlington, Vt.

The New England Power Exchange (NEPEX) appealed to its customers to refrain from using their air conditioners. A (NEPEX) spokesman saw no relief from the late summer heat spell today and said another 5 per cent voltage reduction appeared likely.

Scattered showers cooled off a 10-day heat wave in Chicago. Weekend rains broke the heat and drought in many areas of the Plains. A cold front pushed cooler, drier air over the Rockies and northern Plains.

Congress back, hopes for peace

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Both Senate and House Democratic leaders expressed hope today of ending "civil war" between Congress and President Nixon over major issues like inflation while getting the Watergate hearings out of the nation's living rooms.

As Congress returned to work from a month-long summer vacation, Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and House Democratic Floor Leader Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts expressed hope of compromising differences with the White House.

Byrd labeled as "a false issue" Nixon's assertion that Congress was preoccupied with Watergate at the expense of other matters.

"This obviously is an attempt to divert public attention away from his own difficulties, which the President himself has contributed to in considerable measure," Byrd said.

But Byrd said he feels —and believes the public feels—that inflation and not Watergate is the No. 1 problem facing the nation, and greater attention should be given this by both Congress and the administration.

Several other members of Congress said on their return to the capital that their constituents were more concerned about inflation —reflected most vividly at food markets —than anything else.

Both Byrd and O'Neill called for negotiations between the White House and Capitol Hill leaders to try to iron out differences. O'Neill said he would suggest to House Speaker Carl Albert that Nixon's adviser Melvin R. Laird be invited to "see if we can't convince the President to compromise on some of these programs he's vetoed or is going to veto."

Nixon's calendar was clear of formal appointments, which caused speculation that Nixon may hold a televised news conference soon, possibly today.

The President has had several days to prepare himself quietly for a followup to his Aug. 22 press conference in San Clemente, Calif. His chief advisers were happy with that performance and have made it clear that the President has decided to submit himself to more frequent press conferences.

Several public appearances and speeches also were said to be contemplated as part of the strategy to assist in rejuvenating Nixon's leadership image, after months of calculated silence while the Senate Watergate hearings were under way.

Despite his twelve days in the California sunshine, with nearly daily swims in the ocean and a relaxed family weekend at Camp David, Md., Nixon looked drawn to observers who saw him back at his desk at the White House Tuesday.

His doctors say, however, that the President is in good health. They gave him a cursory examination Tuesday.

The President, aides said, was likely to veto this week legislation which would raise the minimum wage for 45 million workers from $1.60 to $2.00 immediately and $2.20 on July 1, 1974. Friday is the deadline for Nixon to act on the bill.

He had proposed a more gradual increase, reaching $2.30 by 1976.

Brown, Younger clash over ballot summary for Reagan tax limit plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — In a rare public clash between two state officials, Attorney General Evelle J. Younger has rejected Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr.'s demand that he write a new ballot summary for the governor's tax limit plan.

Younger said the official ballot title and summary he gave Brown last week "is accurate and proper and will remain unchanged."

He accused Brown of seeking publicity instead of trying to resolve any differences through "constructive dialogue."

Brown Tuesday called a news conference to charge that Younger had written "distortions and misleading statements" into the summary, which will be mailed to Californians as part of a voters' pamphlet and also appear on the ballot at a special statewide election Nov. 6.

The secretary of state announced he was holding up printing of the ballot pamphlets until at least Friday to give Younger time to rewrite his summary. Brown also objected to a proponents' argument prepared by the initiative campaign organization, the Committee for Lower Taxes.

Deputy Secretary of State Tom Quinn said Brown had not decided whether to exercise his legal authority and continue holding up the printing of ballot pamphlets if Younger persists in not rewriting his summary.

"Time is the problem here," Quinn said. "This isn't a two or three day printing job." He said the nearly 11 million pamphlets should be distributed to the counties in another month.

Democrat Brown and Republican Younger both are contenders for their parties' 1974 gubernatorial nomination.

Brown insisted he looked at Younger's summary with "impartial" eyes, but acknowledged he regarded the initiative as "an illusion, a hoax, and nothing more than a campaign gimmick" for Reagan's expected presidential bid in 1976.

Brown said "the most glaring distortion" in Younger's summary and the campaign committee's written argument was the claim that the initiative would provide a one-time income tax cut of up to 20 per cent.

The state's chief election officer noted the legislature invalidated the initiative's one-time income tax cut by passing a substitute tax rebate bill (SB90) that Reagan signed Aug. 23.

The bill reduced the sales tax by one penny for six months starting Oct. 1 and granted one-time income tax cuts of from 20 to 35 per cent on this year's wages.

Younger said his summary was the same as included on petitions which signature collectors distributed to qualify the initiative for the ballot. He said the invalidation of the initiative's one-time income tax cut will be explained in an amendment he is preparing which will summarize Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post's cost report on the initiative.

It was exactly one week earlier that Reagan held a news conference and angrily accused Post of writing "deliberate distortions" into his nonpartisan cost analysis.

Reagan's executive assistant, Edwin Meese III, apparently representing the campaign committee, met Tuesday with Brown. A spokesman for the governor said afterward that "if there are areas that need clarification, then they will be clarified."

GM, Ford price-fixing trial opens; claims in millions

DETROIT (UPI) —The pricefixing trial of General Motors and Ford, the nation's two biggest car makers, opened in federal court Tuesday. A government victory in the case could make the companies liable for hundreds of millions of dollars in civil claims already filed in 31 states.

The auto makers used to give discounts to car rental agencies, police departments, and other buyers of fleets of cars. But this practice was abandoned by both firms in 1970.

The federal government thinks the two corporate auto giants agreed mutually to end the discounts, and in so doing violated the Sherman Anti-Trust act by causing prices in the fleet trade to be set artificially, as opposed to normal forces of supply and demand on a competitive market.

Both auto makers have denied any conspiracy.

Questioning of more than 90 prospective jurors began before U.S. District Court Judge John Feikens.

The civil suits seeking damages were filed by fleet owners seeking discounts they have been denied for the past three years.

In addition, both automakers could face maximum fines of $100,000 each if convicted of in the government's criminal action.

The suit could also affect the entire dealer distribution system the industry relies on to sell its vehicles, because dealers might have to share the costs if damages are won.

The Justice Department's case describes two other groups, the 20,000-member National Assocation of Automobile Dealers and Peterson, Howell & Heather, Inc., the nation's largest auto leasing company, as "middlemen," that conveyed information between the auto firms that brought about the alleged agreement.

Black Muslim leader slain

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — James Shabazz, a leader of the Black Muslims and an associate of the Muslims' assassinated leader Malcom X, was shot to death Tuesday by two gunmen who ambushed him as he arrived home.

Police said the shooting could be the result of more internal strife among the Muslims, a black separatist group plagued with shootings, bombings, and dissent for the past decade.

Police said Shabazz, 52, the father of 13 children, drove his car into his driveway and was shot in the face as he got out. The gunmen escaped on foot.

Shabazz assumed leadership of the Black Muslim mosque headed by Malcom X in New York City when Malcom was assassinated in February, 1965, while addressing a rally at a theater.

Shabazz was head of Muslim mosques in Newark and Jersey City, N.J., at the time of his death.

Boy dies in snow as dad seeks help

ESTES PARK, Colo. (UPI) — Ernest Williams, his head injured by a fall, left his son Jonathan, 10, in a mountain snowstorm and told the boy to stay in a sleeping bag until he returned with help.

The snowstorm struck while the two attempted to hike across the Continental Divide Sunday. They gave up attempts to find their way out after Williams, of Waukeegan, Ill., hurt his head and Jonathan fell into a stream, injuring his leg and soaking his clothes.

Twelve hours before the boy's body was found Tuesday where Williams had left him, hikers found his father wandering lost in Rocky Mountain National Park and led him to safety.

Rangers sent to rescue the boy discovered his body in the snowfield a short distance from where he shed his pack Sunday night before he and his father shared the one sleeping bag.

"The boy was dead when they found him," said Chief Park Naturalist Dwight Hamilton. "He was still just where his father left him. We think he died of exposure."

Williams, hospitalized at Longmont Colo., in fair condition, told authorities he and his son wanted to hike the Continental Divide during their Labor Day outing.

He said the snowstorm swept across the mountains before they could get back to camp.

The boy's death was the sixth in a national park this summer. Three other persons have drowned and there have been two fatal climbing accidents.

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UPI) — Photographer Bob Dean flashed a picture of a dead boy lying under a wrecked car Tuesday night and drove the 40 miles back to the Boston Globe to develop his film and make prints for the newspaper's next edition.

Because of the flash and confusion at the site of the car accident, Dean, who has made hundreds of such pictures during his career as a news photographer, could not see the face of the young victim in the darkness.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Cybill Shepherd sued Playboy Enterprises, Inc., for $9-million Tuesday, claiming Playboy magazine published two semi-nude photographs of her without her consent.

Miss Shepherd, 23, alleged the photographs, which appeared in the November and December,1972, editions of the magazine, were clipped from frames of "The Last Picture Show."

The suit alleged publication of the photos invaded Miss Shepherd's property rights and her professional image as "a young woman of dignity, intelligence, modesty and artistic and personal integrity."

The two brothers are both graduates of the U.S. Naval Academy and have homes in Eufala, Ala.

Walnut board asking public opinion selecting school library materials

By LANGE WINCKLER
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — An old issue in public education surfaced in a discussion Tuesday night by the Walnut school board: How much influence should the public have on judgments made by professional educators?

In this instance, the question was raised when trustees reveiwed on second reading a proposed policy for selecting library materials. Public opinion is vital, the board concluded, particularly when objections to a book, magazine, or film are reviewed.

Similarly, another point of philosophy occupied trustees' attention when they were offered the chance to get health and dental insurance coverage from the district at no cost. While none seemed too interested in having the benefits, all were bothered by the thought that such benefits might "buy" service on the board.

With the schools gearing up for the start of a new academic year next week, trustees were primed for reports on any changes from the past year's routines, and any problems district administrators are encountering. Other than fine-line class scheduling and late delivery of two new school buses, there did not seem to be any expected hangups.

Trustees took on the touchy problem of stocking a school library—in this case called "media centers" to indicate the facilities will be more than book depositories—when they adopted a policy stating libraries will be placed in each school as space permits.

Part of the policy creating libraries is the system used to approve materials for them. As the proposal first read, it would depend on the professional judgment of librarians, reviewers, administrators and instructors. Considerations of the moral, political, or religious belief of the authors will not be allowed to block selection of items the people in the selection process decide are needed for good teaching.

Board member T. James Hannan opened up the conversation when he questioned the right of administrators to decide what is in "good taste". "Maybe their (the community's) 'good taste' doesn't agree with the school's —are we going to have to do a survey to find out who in the community likes this book and who doesn't?" he asked.

"There are a number of books and works out that are acclaimed by art lovers, or connoisseurs of trash. . . . We'll never hear what people think about this until one thing happens. Then it'll be a crisis."

As staff members replied that the board would have to trust the judgment of professionals employed for that purpose, trustees accepted the policy and regulations. Only Hannan voted against it.

However, when the plicy and regulations system for reviewing objections to media center materials came up, it was a different story. As trustees saw it, this was the proper circumstance for public participation.

"Are you saying the community can't form an opinion better than a teaching professional?" Hannan asked the staff, noting that the regulations would not allow parents to sit on the review panel.

George Hartnett, assitant superintendent of fiscal and facilities management, replied, "We have to recognize there are things apart from the instructional standpoint that might not be the kind of reading a youngster should have. But in the instructional context, it would be all right."

Finally, the board's attitude toward the policy was set: Parents will be invited to sit on a five-member review board, but an item under review will not be taken from use until a decision is reached. The policy wil return to the board for a second reading.

Cable TV talks face L.V. rerun

LA VERNE — A new ordinance that will create a franchise for the operation of cable television service in the community was discussed by members of the City Council Tuesday night and action held over until the next meeting.

Officials from International Cable TV of Glendora who presently have a license to provide cable television service to homes located near the foothills in La Verne attended the meeting as did some subscribers of the service.

The city has received numerous complaints from subscribers about the present service, city officials report. The new ordinance will give the city strict control over the operation and will also charge a $1,200 annual franchise fee.

Rates and charges to the subscribers of the service will be set and adopted by resolution of the City Council.

The council will consider the ordinance again at the Sept. 17 meeting.

In other action, the council commended City Manager George Caswell for his 1973 report of the annual revenue to the city from mobile home parks and subdivisions. The report took about a month to prepare. The council accepted but took no action on the report.

The council also approved a 20-cent rate increase to Paul's Yellow Cab Co. Inc. The increase will give employes a 9-per-cent increase for the cost of living and a 6-per cent ease for the firm to offset costs and improve profits. The firm also claims the rate increase will improve the quality of service.

Montclair acts on bus service

MONTCLAIR — Despite advice to the contrary from the Southern Califonria Association of Governments, city officials unanimously adopted a resolution to move forward on setting up an interim bus service at Tuesday night's meeting.

The resolution paves the way for further negotiations with bus company representatives to inaugurate a mini-bus service on a three-month trial basis.

The measure will revise the city's claim on gas tax revenue by transferring $6,000 from its original' claim for the construction of local streets and roads and earmarking this amount to cover the cost of the bus service, which is estimated to be about $80 per day.

The city had been advised by a SCAG representative that the gas tax money could not be used to fund a non-municipally owned or operated bus service, but the council feels regulations concerning the matter are open to a wider interpretation.

All of the city's previous committments to support regional transportation planning and local street construction will be met since the city's share of gas tax money—$135,363—is more than originally expected.

In other action, the council approved a first reading of an ordinance setting up a yearly business license fee of $25 on the first $5,000 of gross receipts on coin-operated music and amusement machines. Additionally the city will levy a charge of $1 per year on each $1,000 of gross receipts in excess of the basic amount.

In other business action, the council:

—Continued a public hearing on a proposed ordinance to require the emptying and covering of private swimming pools within 48 h9urs of abandonment or vacation of the premises.

—Approved application for a state grant of $8,000 to create a motorbike park in an existing water conservation basin.

Boy stabbed on school parking lot

CHINO — A 14-year-old Chino youth was stabbed Tuesday night in an altercation with two men in the parking lot of Buena Vista High School at 12700 Magnolia Ave., police reported.

Anthony Cortez of Chino was listed in fair condition this morning at Chino General Hospital recovering from three stab wounds of the leg, back and shoulder. Police said they suspect an ice pick type stabbing instrument was used to stab Cortez.

William Smith, 18, and Charles Sage, 22, both of 12773 Yorba Ave., were booked in Chino Jail this morning for investigation of assault with intent to commit murder. The two suspects were arrested a short time after the stabbing was reported at 6:35 p.m.

Police said they believe Cortez was attacked by the two men after Smith accused him of beating up on his foster brother.

Boys charged with ramming sheriff's car

INDUSTRY — Two teen-age boys were arrested early this morning, accused of ramming a sheriff's car during a chase on the Pomona Freeway.

The youths were booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon — the weapon being the car. One boy is from Baldwin Park and the other from Rosemead.

Sheriff's deputies gave this account:

Highway patrolmen claimed the youths committed a minor traffic violation at 1 a.m. on the Pomona Freeway at Paramount Boulevard. The patrolmen radioed that the driver wouldn't stop and the chase began. Soon cars from the sheriff's stations in Temple City and Industry joined the pursuit along with a helicopter from the Industry station.

The chase proceeded east on the freeway at speeds between 85 and 95 miles an hour. During that time the youths hit one radio car and attempted to ram several others.

At Azusa Avenue pursuing deputies were able to force the youths to the side of the road and they were arrested.

Man booked in rape try

ONTARIO — A former mental patient from Atascadero State Hospital was booked in West End jail this morning after allegedly breaking into a Cucamonga woman's home in the 9600 block of Devon Street and attempting to rape her.

Douglas Martin Rodewald, 45, a transient, was apprehended by two residents in the area after the 36-year-old housewife began screaming for help after fighting off the suspect. West End sheriff's deputies took custody of Rodewald at the scene.

West End sheriff's detective Lenn Allen said the suspect knocked on the door of the woman's home Tuesday morning. When the woman opened the door to Rodewald he allegedly forced his way inside. Allen said the woman began struggling with the suspect, scratching him in the face and hitting him in the eye. The suspect ran from the house and the woman began screaming for help, said Allen. Two of the woman's neighbors heard her screams and captured the shaken, stunned suspect.

Allen said that Rodewald is a former mental patient from Atascadero State Hospital and had a prior record of kidnap and rape. Rodewald is charged with attempted rape and burglary.

Judge delays until Friday ruling on Burt's new trial

SAN BERNARDINO — A ruling on a motion for new trial and sentencing for a San Francisco Bay area couple convicted of second-degree murder in the Oct. 6, 1972 ambush-slaying of Chino prison guard has been delayed until Friday in San Bernardino County Superior Court.

The delay was called by Judge Thomas M. Haldorsen who said he wanted to consider new evidence raised during testimony in a hearing Tuesday. Judge Haldorsen said he wanted to organize his presentation before ruling on a motion for a new trial for Benton Douglas Burt, 30, and Burt's wife, Andrea, 19, both of Mountain View.

The Burts were convicted of second-degree murder, assault with a deadly weapon and rescuing a prisoner in connection with the escape of California Institution for Men inmate Ronald Wayne Beaty. Beaty, being transported to San Bernardino from CIM for a court appearance Oct. 6, was rescued by a number of persons in two cars who ambushed Beaty's two guards on Edison Avenue west of Euclid Avenue. CIM Correctional Officer Jesus Sanchez was shot to death in the ambush and guard George Fitzgerald wounded.

In the hearing Tuesday the Burts' attorney, Charles Garry, contended that his clients deserved a new trial because juror Alexander Gavlin, 77, of Yucaipa, alledgedly made comments during deliberations showing he was heavily influenced by the radical politics of the defendants in finding them guilty.

On the stand Tuesday Gavlin denied making such remarks and said he decided on a guilty verdict on the basis of the evidence alone. He said he decided the defendants were guilty after Garry's closing argument when the attorney "wrapped up" the Declaration of Independence with a Venceremos handbook, called "Principals of Unity." Venceremos is a Maoist-Communist-oriented organization mentioned frequently in the trial testimony.

Three other jurors testified Tuesday that Gavlin did made the remarks in question, including a comment that Mrs. Burt was a menance who should be locked up because she visited Cuba and learned about revolution.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joseph Canty argued that Gavlins remarks, if he made them were permissible conduct by a juror and contended that his own questioning and statements in the court were proper.

Garry has also cited alleged predjudicial statements made by Canty during the course of the trial as grounds for a new trial.

Planners urge specific Claremont Blvd. route plan

CLAREMONT — The planning commission Tuesday night unanimously recommended that the City Council adopt a specific plan for the alignment of Claremont Boulevard from Foothill Boulevard northward and northeastward to Padua Avenue.

Claremont Boulevard now stops at Foothill Boulevard, but when the Larwin-Southern California 309-unit condominium project begins north of Foothill Boulevard, an extension of Claremont Boulevard will form the development's eastern boundary.

After leaving the Larwin project, the street would bend northeastward to meet Padua Avenue by cutting off the southeast corner of the newly-developed Claremont Tennis Club.

The commission also recommended for council approval the pre-zoning prior to annexation of about 40 acres west of Padua Avenue between Foothill Boulevard and Base Line Road.

Application for the zone change from county standards to Claremont zoning came from Mrs. C. T. Stover, who asked that a major portion of the property be zoned major commercial according to the city's general plan, and that the triangular shaped parcel created by the alignment of Claremont Boulevard with Padua Avenue be industrial. The Stover family has asked for annexation of the 20 acres it owns. All 40 acres are zoned agriculture.

Mrs. Stover also asked that 300-by-300 foot parcel at the eastern end of Rockford Drive be pre-zoned as open space district.

The 40 acres are known as Claremont Annexation 48. Stanley Clark, owner of the Claremont Tennis Club, had asked that his property not be considered as part of the annexation.

Acting planning commission chairman William McLaughlin said that the major commercial zone might be likened to Montclair Plaza, and that Grand Avenue would be built along the western boundary of the development after the Foothill Freeway has been completed through Claremont.

McLaughlin explained that Grand Avenue would form a buffer between the shopping center and the Clarion Place to Rockford Drive neighborhood to the west.

Motorcycle, bike collide; girl hurt

MONTCLAIR — A 13-year-old Montclair girl was injured Tuesday afternoon when a motorcycle and a bicycle collided in the eastbound lanes of the 4500 block of Palo Verde Street.

Pamela N. Niebergall of 4488 San Bernardino St. was given first aid treatment at Doctors Hospital of Montclair and transferred to the care of her private physician. She suffered a head laceration and possible broken wrist in the 12:48 p.m. accident.

Police said the girl was riding her bicycle eastbound on Palo Verde Street when she suddenly swerved her bike into the path of a motorcycle driven by Stanley Charles Paul, 20, of 4806 San Bernardino St. The motorcycle hit the bike broadside.

Young boys forced to undress at park

POMONA — Two boys told police Monday that a man grabbed them in Palomares Park and forced them to undress before they were able to flee unharmed.

The boys, 11 and 13, said the man approached them near the park, which is located at Arrow Highway and Orange Grove Avenue, and offered them a reward if they found a pair of gold rings he said he lost in the park. They said they were searching in bushes near the gym when he grabbed them, made them undress and put their underwear over their heads.

The 13-year-old said that while the man was talking to the younger boy, he fled, in spite of not being able to see. He stopped a short distance away, put on his underwear and ran home, arriving there in his underwear.

The younger boy fled after he heard the other boy run. En route home he managed to put on his pants.

Police described the man as a Negro betwen 20 and 25. He had a medium Afro hairdo, and a goatee was about 6-feet 1 and weighed 150 pounds. He wore a maroon tank top, blue trousers and boots.

Arson blamed in $12,000 house fire

POMONA — Arson is suspected in a fire that caused $12,000 damage to a house at 2268 Concord St. about 10 p.m. Tuesday.

Firemen discovered that flammable liquid had been poured on a bed in one of the three bedrooms of the structure and that debris was placed on the stove burners and the burners were turned on.

The occupant, Frank Bulliner, wasn't at home at the time the fire was discovered. The owner of the structure is William Hawkes of Pasadena.

Firemen said flames were leaping from the east and north side of the structure, the windows and the front door when they arrived at the scene.

Extensive damage was reported in a bedroom, bath and hallway, and heat and smoke damage was reported throughout the house.

The fire is under arson investigation.

Firemen also put out a fire that caused minor damage to a wall at the residence of Mrs. Juanita Simpson, 1818 Garland St., Tuesday night.

Mrs. Simpson told firemen that her young grandson was playing with matches and started the blaze. Damage was estimated at $200.

And then there's the story of the addlepated skunk — he had no scents.

Bean sets space endurance mark

HOUSTON (UPI) —Skylab 2 commander Alan L. Bean set a time-in-space endurance record today expected to stand for decades as he and his rookie crewmates kept up a fast pace of orbital research for the two-month voyage.

The fourth man on the moon, Bean took over the world's record for space flying from Charles "Pete" Conrad, commander of the Skylab 1 mission and fellow Apollo 12 moonwalker, at 6:13 a.m. EDT. At that moment, Bean had spent 49 days, three hours, 38 minutes and 37 seconds in space.

By the end of the 59-day flight, Bean will have spent 69 days, 15 hours, 46 minutes and 2 seconds in weightless space. That record could stand until the late 1980's because no long duration space missions are planned after the 56-day Skylab 3 flight late this year. Those crewmen, all rookies, will fall far short of Bean's mark.

Bean and crewmates Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma had 11 hours of sun watching on their flight plan today although they have already exceeded the total time for solar astronomy planned before flight for their mission.

Girl, 12, is second victim of kidnaping

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) —For the second time in three weeks a 12-year-old girl was kidnaped in the Los Angeles area, but police rescued her from her alleged abductor Tuesday in a hotel parking lot less than five miles from her home.

Earl S. Rode, 38, an unemployed construction worker, was booked on suspicion of kidnaping, attempted rape, child molesting and assault with a deadly weapon after allegedly abducting Leanne Marie Matthieson at knifepoint Monday afternoon. He gave an address about six blocks from Leanne's home as his place of residence.

Leanne was playing in the yard with a 10-year-old friend when the suspect pulled up to the curb in a yellow, 1955 Pontiac and told her, "I need to talk to you. Will you come with me?"

Police said Rode and the girl were believed to have spent the night at the Edgewater Hyatt House Hotel on Pacific Coast Highway.

Tracy Greenfield, 12, was raped, drugged, beaten and left for dead near Culver City by a kidnaper recently. She is recovering and her alleged assailant is in custody.

A training camp?

Six militants jailed in sniping incident

BRIGHTON, Colo. (UPI) — Four men and two women, including the widow of a slain Mexican-American leader, were arrested Tuesday for sniping at motorists from what investigators said might have been a training camp for militants.

Sheriff's Capt. Jim Glasmann said no one was injured and the 20 deputies who surrounded the isolated farmhouse and forced the six to surrender didn't fire a shot.

He said more than 40 pounds of ammonia nitrate explosives were found in a metal-roofed barn, one of the nine buildings on the site, plus a detonator and primer cord.

"I won't say it wasn't a training camp," said Glasmann, "but we don't really know. We did find the ammonia nitrate and there was a makeshift firing range there, too. The targets were full of bullet holes."

The farm was named the "Academia Ricardo Falcon" after a Chicano militant shot to death in 1972 by a New Mexico service station owner. Glasmann said Falcon's widow, Priscilla, was among the six arrested.

The sniper fire at motorists along U. S. 85, which runs through Brighton, began before dawn Tuesday. Deputies who closed off the highway said they counted more than 70 gunshots before help arrived and the six surrendered. A rifle, shotgun and pistol were recovered from the farmhouse.

"We have a sniper team within the Adams County sheriff's office," Glasmann said. "They infiltrated armystyle. They very well could have shot these people. They had the light and the silhouettes of the people."

Falcon, 27, was shot to death by Oro Grande, N. M., service station operator Perry Brunson on Aug. 30, 1972, during an argument between the two men. Falcon was on his way to a convention of Raza Unida at El Paso, Tex. Brunson was acquitted of manslaughter charges last December.

Bigger death rate linked to tots of smoking moms

LONDON (UPI) —Babies of women who smoke cigarettes have a 30 per cent higher incidence of death just after birth than those born to nonsmoking mothers, a British report said today.

Harvey Goldstein, statistician of the privately run National Children's Bureau, said in the bureau's journal "Concern" that the figures applied to mothers who smoke regularly after the fourth month of pregnancy.

He said they were based on a study of data on babies who die just before birth and in the period up to 100 hours afterward.

Another study, he said, showed that surviving children of cigarette-smoking mothers were .3 inches shorter, trailed three months in reading skills and were less well adjusted at school than children of nonsmokers.

"If a well-known drug was suddenly found to cause the deaths of 1,500 new-born babies a year it would be unlikely ever to be used again," Goldstein wrote.

"Nevertheless, on the best available evidence, this is roughly the number of babies who died in Britain last year because their mothers were smoking cigarettes during pregnancy."

Geologist suffocates in trench earth fall

LEONA VALLEY (UPI) —A state geologist, who eyewitnesses said was buried by dirt which fell from the side of a 15-foot deep trench dug to monitor land movement along the San Andreas Fault, suffocated Tuesday before he could be dug out.

William L. Harris, 31, Los Angeles, died within five minutes after the dirt pinned him against one wall of the excavation and covered his head, sheriff's deputies said. Some observers said the dirt may have come from the bottom of the pit.

The monitoring hole, three feet wide and 150 feet long, was dug Tuesday morning at the orders of Harris and another geologist who are studying land movement here, about nine miles from Palmdale.

Witnesses said Harris and the other geologist saw movement in the freshly dug excavation and went into the pit to examine the earth when the sudden sweep of dirt trapped Harris.

Harris was an employe of the state division of mines and geodetic survey.

Wesley Brauer, chief of the division, and a top official of the state department of industrial safety were expected to take charge of the investigation into the death today.

Ballot statements misleading--Brown

SACRAMENTO (UPI) -- Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. Tuesday said Attorney General Evelle J. Younger and backers of Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax initiative had placed "distortions and misleading statements" in an official ballot pamphlet prepared for voters.

"Upon review of the attorney general's material, it appears as though some statements he makes are misleading because he fails to take note" of a recently passed, one-time income tax reduction, Brown said.

Brown said he had halted printing of the pamphlet until Friday so the state will not "become an official party to the dissemnation of misleading information." It was to have been printed today.

"For too long voters have been inundated with misleading commercial advertising just before each election," he said.

Brown, a contender for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1974, also said he had asked "the initiative's proponents to correct misleading statements and distortions in their argument. And, for the sake of fairness, I have given the League of Women Voters, author of the opposition argument, an opportunity to write a revised statement."

Brown said the "major problem" with Younger's summary "centers around the sentence which says the initiative reduces 1973 income taxes by 20 per cent.

"This statement is highly misleading because a recently enacted law—Senate Bill 90—has already reduced 1973 income taxes by at least 20 per cent and the initiative will therefore make no change in the existing situation."

Brown also was critical of another part of the summary which said income taxes for lower-income persons would be partially eliminated.

"Again, this statement is inaccurate because the new law has already abolished income taxes for persons in low-income categories. The initiative is therefore redundant and will have no significant effect," Brown said.

Brown said another ballot pamphlet problem was created by the argument in favor of the initiative prepared by Reagan's "Committee for Lower Taxes."

"The argument contains many errors," Brown said. "For example, the statement begins by saying a vote for the proposition will 'provide a 20 per cent refund on 1973 state income taxes,' and this statement is miseading."

Brown continued, "I have discussed these problems with the attorney general and with the initiative's proponents. They appear willing to correct distortions and misleading statements in the ballot."

The new tax bill which caused the problems was passed by the legislature Aug. 16. It was signed by Reagan Aug. 23.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Taxation was one of the major causes of the 13 American Colonies' rebellion against the British Empire. "Taxation without representation is tyranny" became a rallying cry throughout the Colonies. The World Almanac recalls that this quote is attributed to James Otis in his speech, "Argument on the Illegality of the Writs of Assistance," given to the Superior Court of Massachusetts in February, 1761.

Russ novelist, physicist under fire by their peers

MOSCOW (UPI) — In part of an escalating newspaper attack on Soviet dissidents, 21 members of the Soviet Academy of Fine Arts denounced novelist Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn and nuclear physicist Andrei D. Sakharov in a letter published by the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda.

But a corresponding member of the Academy of Science, mathematician Igor R. Shafarevitch, defended Sakharov in an open letter made available to Western newsmen. He called Sakharov "an outstanding scientist and one of the finest representatives of mankind."

Sakharov is a father of the Soviet hydrogen bomb and leader of the unofficial Human Rights Committee, of which Shafarevitch also is a member. Sakharov has been under fire from the Soviet press and leading scientists, musicians, artists and others for the past week because he warned against Western accommodation with the Soviet Union in the absence of democratization in the Soviet Union.

The 21 members of the Academy of Fine Arts in their letter accused Sakharov and Solzhenitsyn of supporting "mendacious attacks" on the Soviet party and the Socialist system.

Shafarevitch, head of the algebra department at the Institute of Mathematics, was the first member of the Academy of Science—a pantheon of top Soviet scientists—to come to his colleague's defense. He likened the campaign against Sakharov to campaigns against other academy members during the Stalin era.

Shafarevitch said Sakharov is being condemned because "he spoke of the vices and sores of our society with the persistence and selflessness typical of the best representatives of the Russian people."

"His conscience made him speak," the mathematician said. "He could not keep silent...Are we to believe that we are living in a paradise where there are no sores or vices?"

Science for You

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: Float an egg.

NEEDED: Two wide-mouth jars, water, salt, an egg.

DO THIS: Fill one jar half-full of water and stir in salt until no more will dissolve. Drop the egg into the salt water and it will float. Now pour plain water carefully over the egg and the jar may be filled while the egg still floats on the salt water, under the plain water.

HERE'S WHY: According to Archimedes' principle, a body wholly or partially immersed in a fluid is buoyed upward with a force equal to the weight of the volume of liquid it displaces. Salt water is heavier than the egg and so the egg floats in it. But the egg is heavier than plain water and so does not float in it.

If the experiment is undisturbed, the egg will remain half-way down in the liquid for several days.

Son loses his inheritance over marriage

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) —A rich businessman who died in 1972 left nearly $340,000 to the Israeli Air Force, $42,000 to his son if he got a divorce, and not a penny to his wife.

The widow asked the Supreme Court recently to determine if her husband was mentally competent when he wrote the will.

The businessman was Harry Haber who died in March, 1972, as the age of 56. Mrs. Leah Haber, 52, said she would contest the documents.

At a hearing recently, William Harris, the counsel for the executors, asked the court to grant probate.

Harris said Haber left nothing to his wife because he said in the will that during his life he had made adequate provision for her.

He left $42,300 to his son, Michael, 33, on the condition that "if at the time of my death he (Michael) is lawfully married then this bequest shall be void."

The court was told that the son and his wife were still married.

Baboon bites zoo visitor

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A 40-pound pet baboon was placed under routine quarantine in an animal shelter Monday after escaping from its owner and biting the foot of a 6-year old girl.

After biting Alicia Lopez the 2-year-old baboon, Choka, hid in nearby trees before being trapped by zoo keepers and an animal shelter employe.

Alicia was treated at Children's Hospital in Hollywood and released.

SUPER CRADLE — This electric cradle in Munich, West Germany, rocks gently and plays lullabies. Gunter Beltzig, a furniture designer from Deimhausen, invented it for his son Boris. It warms the baby's bottle in an upper compartment and sterilizes diapers in a lower one. Pullout shelves store food and keep it warm. A touch on a button lowers dark glass canopies to simulate darkness. Parents may purchase the cradle for only $2,250.

Press aide mum

Nixon apology to Ziegler top secret

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House refused Tuesday to say whether President Nixon had apologized to Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler for shoving Ziegler during an appearance in New Orleans Aug. 20.

However, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren told reporters "the President and Ron had a number of discussions following the incident."

"They have an excellent relationship," Warren said. "They understand each other fully. The matter is of no great concern to both."

Warren said discussions on the subject between Nixon and Ziegler "should remain private."

The incident, which millions of persons saw on television news shows, involved Nixon taking Ziegler by a jacket lapel with one hand and shoving his shoulder with the other. At the same time, he told his press secretary that he wanted "no press" following him into the Rivergate Convention Center in New Orleans, where the President addressed the Veterans of Foreign Wars' annual meeting.

The following day, in a rare statement of that kind, Warren told reporters that the President had been under some strain and pressure as a result of the Watergate scandal and a reported assassination threat against him during the New Orleans visit.

On other subjects at a news briefing Tuesday, Warren:

—Said in response to a question that the President feels he is "doing very well" in public opinion polls and cited a Sindlinger poll showing Nixon had 51 per cent popular approval as President.

—Announced Nixon's intention to reappoint George H. Hearn as a member of the Federal Maritime Commission for the term expiring June 30, 1978. Hearn is now vice chairman of the commission.

—Said the President had issued proclamations setting aside Sept. 23 as the beginning of National Highway Week and Oct. 24 as United Nations Day.

U.S., Thailand talk on troop withdrawal

BANGKOK (UPI) —High-ranking American and Thai officials met Tuesday for talks on the second phase withdrawal of some American troops from six base in Thailand.

Government sources said it was not known whether a statement on the talks would be issued later although Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn was expected to comment on the pullout program Wednesday at his regular news conference.

As the withdrawal talks resumed, the National Student Center, representing 100,000 members, protested to the U.S. Embassy about a statement by Sen. Barry Goldwater that the United States would be "perfectly justified" in bombing Thailand if the kingdom were invaded.

The first phase of the American withdrawal, decided last month, called for the removal of 3,550 American troops and more than 100 planes. By last Saturday, some 2,100 U.S. Marine airmen along with 36 Phantom and Skyhawk jets were removed from Nam Phong, a base 240 miles northeast of Bangkok.

Only a handful of administrative personnel and mechanics working on two disabled planes remained behind and the base, for all practical purposes, was closed.

U.S. and Thai officials have made no announcement on the other 1,450 American troops and 64 planes involved in the first phase withdrawal and Thanom was expected to report on their status Wednesday.

With Nam Phong all but closed, U.S. troops and planes remain at six bases in Thailand. Only about 100 Marines remain in the kingdom, most of them U.S. Embassy guards in Bangkok or on security duty at airfields scattered across the country. At the time of the Aug. 15 bombing halt over Cambodia, about 45,000 American troops and more than 600 planes were stationed at U.S.-built and Thai controlled bases here.

In its letter to protest sent to the U.S. Embassy, the student group said:

"Goldwater is a senior politician of the United Sates and the U.S. Government is supposed to take responsibility for what he said."

A later embassy statement said that it had not received the transcript of Goldwater's speech but added that Goldwater "as a member of the Legislaiure" was entitled "to his own opinions."

Chicken cargo flew the coop

When he came out Monday, Jimmy Ray Pulley, 33, who drives for the Blue Sky Trucking Co. in Wayne, Ark., discovered 215 pounds of frozen chickens valued at $131.90 missing.

Minimum wage bill faces veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Administration sources said Tuesday a veto awaits a bill to raise the minimum wage —touching off yet another dispute between the legislative and executive branches as Congress resumes work after a month at the grass roots.

Hard feelings that existed between President Nixon and the Democratic Congress at the start of the recess are expected to be evident again when both houses resume work today.

Today or Thursday, Nixon is considered certain to veto the minimum wage bill as inflationary and likely to increase unemployment in lowskill, low-wage jobs and among the untrained young.

That could be the vehicle for debate over the state of the economy. Polls show inflation to be a bigger issue —and one more damaging to Nixon —than the Watergate scandal.

In an interview, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said there was little Congress could do about the economy. He also expressed doubt he could muster the votes necessary to give him the two-thirds majority required to override a veto even if the House, which votes first, overrides.

The bill would extend minimum wage coverage to seven million workers not now covered, mostly federal, state and local government blue-collar workers and household domestics.

It would raise the minimum wage for the 45 million workers now covered from the present $1.60 an hour to $2 immediately and to $2.20 on July 1, 1974. The $1.30 minimum for most farm workers would go to $2.20 by July 1, 1976, putting more pressure on food prices.

Nixon had proposed a more gradual increase, reaching $2.30 by 1976.

Another quick showdown comes in the House Sept. 12 on an attempt to override Nixon's veto of an emergency medical services bill.

So far in this Congress Democrats have failed to put together the majorities in both houses to override any of Nixon's five vetoes. The biggest threat to Nixon's record will come over the health bill next week.

Bland, tasteless diets for ulcer patients unnecessary

CHICAGO (UPI) —There is no evidence that the bland, tasteless diet usually prescribed for ulcer patients helps the ulcer and it "probably should be dropped," according to a report in the current edition of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Robert M. Donaldson, of the Boston University School of Medicine, reports the answer to the question of what patients with common gastrointestinal disorders should eat. "With few exceptions," he said, "no one really knows."

Donaldson's report said "bland, tasteless, insipid diet of the ulcer patient probably isn't helping the ulcer and should be dropped.

"There is something fundamentally wrong with an approach that assumes that the form, consistency, color, taste and order of a food have anything to do with the effects of that food on secretions, mucosal integrity, vascularity or motility of the gastrointestinal tract," Donaldson wrote. Controlled clinical trials indicate that the kinds of food ingested have no effect on the course of peptic disease or on the quality of acid in the stomach."

Young Koreans can't watch 'Godfather'

SEOUL (UPI) — The South Korean Education Ministry Monday banned elementary and high school students from viewing the film "The Godfather."

The action was a response to public criticism that the film, describing the violent life of a Mafia family, might adversely affect the growing generation.

The film opened to the public for the first time in Korea Saturday and has drawn sell-out audiences since.

Attempt to wipe out rattlesnakes kills three men

CHESHIRE, Ohio (UPI) —An attempt to kill a nest of rattlesnakes in a well ended in death Sunday for Fred D. Shields, his father and teen-age son.

The three men had connected a hose to the exhaust system of a car and pumped deadly carbon monoxide into the well.

However, when Shields, 42, was lowered into the well to see if the nakes were dead he was overcome by the fumes. The elder Shields, Fred P., 73, tried to save his son but also was overcome by the gas.

The tragedy was repeated a third time when Jim Shields, 18, made a futile attempt to rescue his father and grandfather.

Sheriff's deputies said the men had sighted the snakes Saturday, but when the bodies were recovered from the well Sunday no snakes were found.

Drug price disclosure moves ahead

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Consumer legislation requiring pharmacists to post the prices of the most commonly sold prescription drugs easily cleared the Senate Finance Committee today and moved to the floor.

The heavily lobbied bill (AB684) by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, was approved on a 10-0 vote after it was amended to remove a major provision allowing advertising of prescription drugs.

The amendment was offered by Sen. Fred W. Marler Jr., Redding, after Sen. Walter W. Stiern, D-Bakersfield, complained, "Newspapers are for this because they'll sell a lot of advertising."

Other committee members said the provision allowing advertising would force small drug stores out of business because they could not compete with large groups of pharmacies.

As amended, Moretti's bill would require drugstores to post the prices of the 100 most commonly sold prescription drugs as determined by the state Board of Pharmacy.

It would also require pharmacies to give prices over the telephone.

The California Pharmacists Association had fiercely opposed the bill prior to today's amendments. But Robert Johnson, executive vice president of the group, said the organization was now "neutral" on the bill.

Moretti said he introduced the bill because he said the price of drugs varies as much as 200 to 300 per cent among pharmacies.

Moretti declared his measure would allow consumers to compare prices and choose the cheapest.

PUC utility report said misleading

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A recent Public Utilities Commission report that California's utility rates were among the lowest in the country was "deceptive and misleading" propaganda a consumer advocate said today.

Sylvia M. Siegel, executive director of Toward Utility Rate Normalization (TURN), said percentage rate increases between June 1972 and June 1973 for the state's three largest cities were among the highest in the nation.

The report was designed to show "what a gorgeous job these regulations are doing," she said.

San Francisco was ranked as having the country's least expensive utility rate. Mrs. Siegel said a U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics price index showed San Francisco's rates had increased 7.6 per cent, the third largest national increase.

San Diego, ranked seventh in the PUC report, had a seven per cent increase, and Los Angeles, ranked fourth, had a 4.6 per cent hike, she said.

Mrs. Siegel said the gas and electricity portion of the report was prepared by Pacific Gas & Electric Co., which is regulated by the UC.

"That's a cozy relationship," she said.

Mrs. Siegel said the PUC had granted 81 per cent of utility company rate increases requested this year.

Police keep eye on Arabs

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (UPI) —Police are keeping a special check on Arabs living here and tight security has been imposed at the airport because of reports that Arab extremists might use New Guinea as a springboard for terrorist operations in Australia, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Port Moresby airport was placed on alert last week following a message from the Australian Security Intelligence Organization (ASIO) that a hijack attempt by the Black September Arab terrorist group was a possibility.

Australia's international airline, Qantas, is the only airline with routes through New Guinea into Australia. Passengers are now double-checked and security-screened when they land here.

An airport spokesman said Tuesday police ASIO agents and customs officials met Monday to discuss the situation.

"No details of the security arrangements could be released because this would jeopardize the arrangements" he said.

Career center at Claremont high okayed

CLAREMONT The school board Tuesday night approved an agreement between the Baldy View Regional Occupational Program and the Claremont Unified School District for the establishment of a career center at Claremont High School.

The Regional Occupational Program agreed to provide certain assistance, including $5,700, for a non-certificated staff member.

Dr. Margaret Hodder, assistant superindent, told the board that the high school is able to meet the requirements for the career center, and will be able to start operation of the center Sunday, Sept. 10.

In other actions, the board approved participation by the Claremont Unified School District in the Pomona Valley Juvenile Diversion Project.

Dr. Hodder explained that the project will be presented to the Los Angeles Regional Criminal Justice Planning board Sept. 15 for approval. Federal funds for the project would come through the California Council on Criminal Justice.

The board was told that the project offers a significant alternative to youth other than the juvenile justice system, and would improve juvenile delinquency prevention services for youth living in the school district.

Pete West, Claremont human resources coordinator, told the board that the project will lower the arrest rate of youth in Claremont, and noted, "It takes a collective action of the entire community, not a specific agency, to make a project such as this successful."

Doctors baffled by recovery of stewardess who fell 31,000 feet

BELGRADE (UPI) —When stewardess Vesna Vulovic fell 31,000 feet from an exploding Yugoslav airliner and became the only person known to have survived from such a height, one of the doctors attending her broken body said: "God exists."

Today, 19 months after a bomb planted by a group of Croatian extremists killed the other 27 persons aboard the Yugoslav Airlines (JAT) DC9, 24-year-old blue-eyed Vesna looks even more of a miracle.

"Friends I have not seen since the accident come and talk to me as if I've changed, as if I'm especially fragile or as if appearing in newspapers all over the world has made me a different person. They can't understand that I'm perfectly okay and normal," she said.

The rate of her recovery has astounded doctors. She suffered brain damage, a fractured spine, metal embedded in various parts of her body and paralysis from the waist down.

"One doctor recently had to make me do some psychological tests for the United States in order to show my rate of recovery. After the second batch he was saying to me: 'Please make some mistakes. They'll never believe this,'" she said.

The last major operation was completed this summer when doctors at the hospital in Belgrade extracted the remaining metal from her body. Scars from the operations on her arms, legs and back are the only outward clue to what happened.

"Inside I feel perfect," she said. "All my organs are intact. The only remaining problem is a little trouble with my right leg and with my back but this is gradually disappearing with exercise and massage. I'm a bit more easily irritable than I used to be but otherwise I'm fine."

She has no qualms about flying and has made 18 plane journeys since —the most recent bringing her back from a hectic five-week vacation of swimming and dancing on Yugoslavia's Dalmatian coast.

Of the accident itself she remembers nothing.

"All I can recall is stepping onto the plane to start the flight. From then on it's a complete blank until my first memories of waking up in a hospital. My first cigarette. Silly things like that.

"That's one reason doctors are wary of my working in the air again. They are frightened that some sudden shock could bring it all back. They say I'm luckier not to remember."

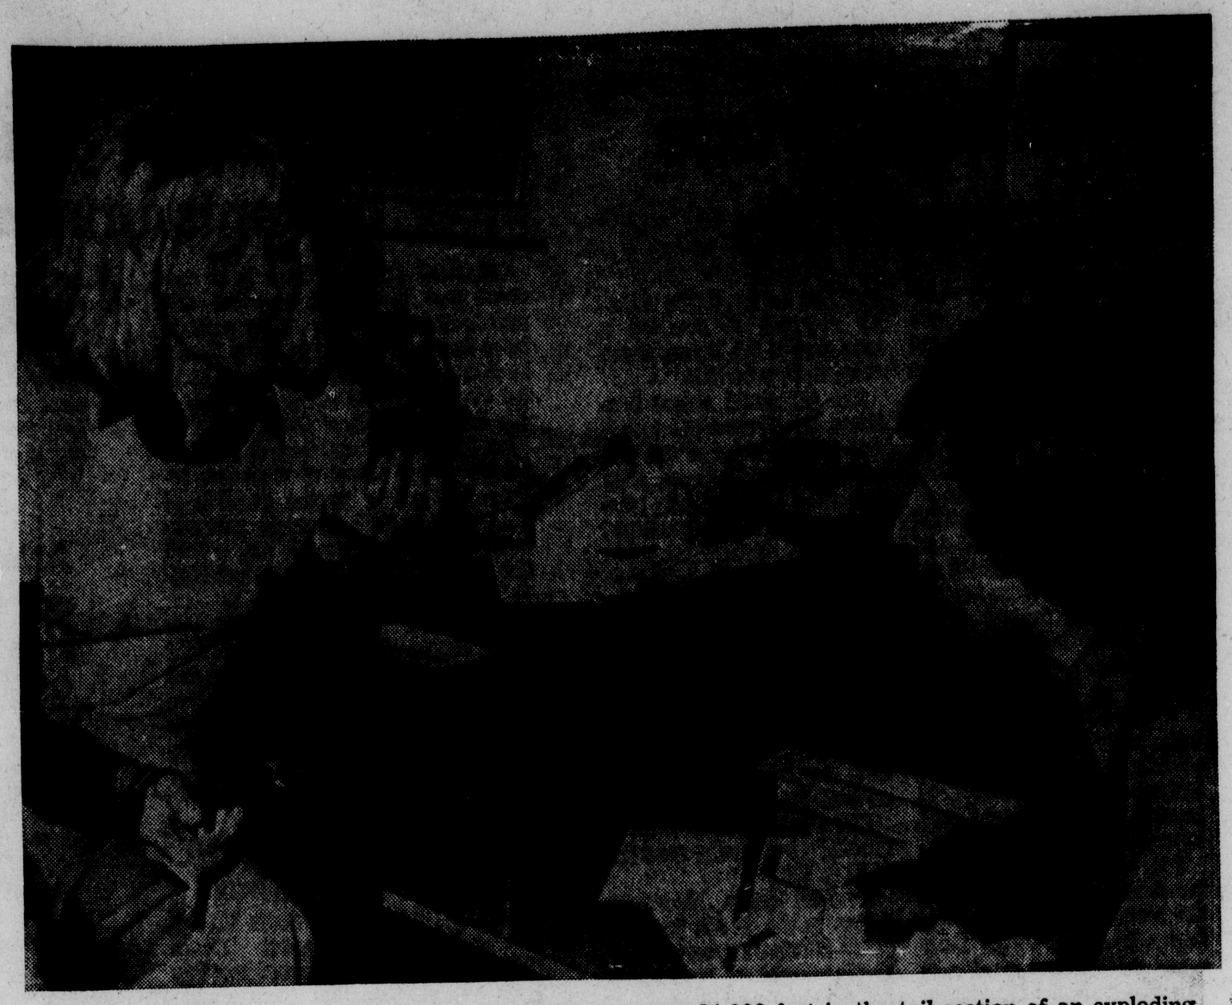
No official explanation has been given of how she survived. Aviation experts said at the time she had probably fallen in the tail of the plane which broke off. The tail spun to earth like a falling leaf and disintegrated on hitting a 45-foot high rock, allowing Vesna to roll down the slope of the rock alive.

Vesna's unique experience and good looks have led to innumerable television and publicity offers —many of them lucrative ones that could easily help her realize her next aim in life of moving into a small apartment of her own. Currently she lives with her parents and 20-year-old brother. Vesna refuses to take up the offers.

"I could do it easily," she said. "But I want to forget what happened, be a normal person. I don't want to capitalize on my misfortune. It would be wrong."

Right now her main concern is to enjoy life.

"I shall have to start working soon —ground work, probably in one of the airline offices —so for the moment I'm spending all my time seeing people. You must remember I was six months flat on my back unable to move.



LUCKY OR UNLUCKY?—Stewardess Vesna Vulovic talks to a reporter while reflecting on her fall from 31,000 feet in the tail section of an exploding Yugoslav airliner 19 months ago.

Chaffey board accepts Valley View High School

ONTARIO — The Chaffey school board Tuesday night voted its acceptance of the newly constructed Valley View High School, and authorized its president, James Garliepp, to sign the notice of completion.

The action allows the school district to occupy the facility, and to proceed with the necessary work required for the opening of school next Tuesday.

The school, which has been under construction since last March, will be used for the education of "problem" students within the district. About 200 students will attend the school which is located at Sixth Street and Vineyard Avenue.

Board members and district administrators conducted a final inspection of the facility Friday.

In other business, the board was informed of the 1973-74 tax rates adopted by the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors last week.

Reagan called top candidate for president

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan cannot escape being a candidate for President in 1976, a top state senate Republican said this week.

Sen. John L. Harmer, GOP caucus chairman, said Reagan is the leading candidate currently for the Republican Presidential nomination.

There is no way he can escape it, Harmer said.

Harmer said he had not discussed a possible presidential bid with the governor but declared he really is the one man who is able to grasp the imagination of the country.

Rudy Garcia, a spokesman for the governor, said, "the senator is entitled to his opinion and we don't know anything about it."

The governor has continually told everybody he has no plans for running for anything. He's going to finish out his term as governor, and he will probably go on speaking tours in 1975, he has said.

Harmer discounted Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's chances of successfully seeking the presidential nomination. The Glendale lawmaker said Agnew has been so completely damaged by recent allegations of bribery that he would not be an acceptable candidate.

The senator said he did not think Reagan's age would be a problem. The governor will be 65 in 1976.

Court upholds searching of hitchhiker

LOSANGELES (UPI) —The searching of a hitchhiker picked up for intoxication, which resulted in a hashish possession charge instead, was upheld by the state Court of Appeal Monday.

The appellate court said the discovery of contraband was just as important at a treatment center as at a jail.

Barry L. Markin was arrested while hitchhiking in Manhattan Beach and taken to a police station. He said under a new law he should have been taken to a detoxification center.

The higher court reversed a Superior Court dismissal of the drug charge based on Markin's argument.

L.A. C of C backs transit line to Ontario Airport

ONTARIO — Extension of a proposed mass transit system to Ontario International Airport has received some unexpected support.

The Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce included such action in its recent vote of support for the Southern California Rapid Transit District's (SCRTD) $6.6 billion, 116-mile mass transit proposal. A vote of support had been recommended by the chamber's public transportation committee, headed by Robert C. Hatfield.

In its action, however, the chamber board cautioned that it was reserving judgment about "specific points of cost-benefit analysis, energy availability and financing alternatives" for the SCRTD proposal.

The board's action called for consideration being given to Ontario International Airport for inclusion within the high priority category along the San Gabriel Valley corridor.

El Monte now

At present, SCRTD officials propose ending that corridor at El Monte. Chamber officials, however, said the Ontario airport is a major transportation center and should be given high consideration in any regional transportation system.

This is just an extension of a proposed corridor which is now scheduled to stop at El Monte," one official observed.

The airport's inclusion in a mass transit system was previously recommended by Friends of Ontario International Airport (FOOIA), an airport support group.

Members elected Don DesCombes, a Pomona insurance executive, as chairman of a committee to boost the concept.

DesCombes, a former Friends president, said any extension of a rapid transit line to the airport was logical because of the large number of people who use the facility. More than one million passengers are expected at the airport this year.

He also urged officials of cities along the proposed corridor to promot its extension.

When notified of the chamber's action, DesCombes said he was encouraged it had included the Ontario airport.

Sales tax boosted

The Los Angeles chamber, in another suggestion, requested the SCRTD get a proposal on financing part of the mass transit system via a three-fourth cent sales tax before the voters as soon as possible after completion of the public hearing process.

"Based upon the results of an eight-month, $600,000 study, SCRTD consultants have stated that immediate priority be given to the construction of 140 miles of subway-surface-aerial rapid transit and busway lines in eight of the most heavily traveled corridors in the Los Angeles area," said Hatfield.

The corridor routes recommended in the initial construction program include:

— Wilshire Boulevard; Hollywood and the San Fernando Valley: Los Angeles International Airport and localities southwest of the Los Angeles central business district; South Central area through Watts and Compton to Long Beach; a southeasterly corridor through Orange County; an east-west corridor along the programmed El Segundo-Norwalk freeway; along the San Bernardino Freeway; and in the northern extension of the Long Beach Freeway into Pasadena.

"The consultants also designated a number of alternative corridors which will be discussed during intensive community meetings throughout the remainder of the year," added Hatfield.

Costs estimated

Total construction cost of the priority 116 miles of fixed guideway lines recommended would be $3.3 billion at today's prices. Contingencies and escalation, compounded at 9 per cent per year, would bring the total cost to $6.6 billion by the time initial routes are completed 12 years from now, he said.

"In figuring the cost of construction, as well as operation, the consultants took into account the establishment of a system-wide 35 cent bus fare throughout the construction period," he noted.

The consultant team also proposed a financal plan to pay the local share of the capital cost of the initial rapid transit construction program and to maintain and expand the bus systems operation.

The team proposes a new three-fourths 1 per cent general sales tax within the district, together with fare revenues and proceeds from the State Transportation Improvement Fund to pay for the program.

These funds would be supplemented by special tax bonds to be retired from sales tax revenues after the construction phase is completed. No general property tax would be required, either during construction or for debt service on the bonds, the official added.

"While the SCRTD's suggested financal implementation is reasonable, the chamber also feels strongly that a comprehensive cost - benefit analysis should be developed.'

Federal Help needed

He said the SCRTD-proposed financial denpends greatly upon federal participation, and if that participation is not available to the great extent expected, then alternatives should be developed.

An official of the municipal financing consultant firm involved in the mass transit study told the chamber board that President Nixon's recent signing of a bill authorizing federal highway tax funds for mass transit could mean about $40 million or more annually for mass transit here, said Hatfield. "There is also an estimated $40 million yearly in SB 325 gas sales tax funds that could be earmarked for mass transit."

Herman B. Zelles, vice president of Stone and Youngberg, the consultant firm, also informed chamber officials that Urban Mass Transportation Administration Act (UMTA) funding would be increased from two-thirds to 80 per cent matching funds, with Los Angeles possibly getting more than $5 billion to construct mass transit.

In an earlier action, chamber directors had voted to support the principle of requiring revenue tax bonds issued by the SCRTD and financed from the revenues of a sales tax be approved by a simple majority of the voting electorate, rather than by the 60 per cent vote now required by the SCRTD Act.

According to transit officials, about 650,000 persons daily ride the SCRTD vehicles. With completion of the 116-mile mass transit system, officials estimated that 1,050,000 persons would use mass transit daily, with another 750,000 using the new busway programs and feeder lines.

Property tax aid claims due Oct. 15

SACRAMENTO — Persons over 62 who own and occupy their homes, have paid property taxes on their homes, and have an income less than $10,000 a year, are eligible for Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance.

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy said qualified individuals may obtain forms from any Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance office or by writing to Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, P.O. Box 1588, Sacramento 95807.

The deadline for filing claims for this year is midnight Oct. 15.

Flournoy said more than 243,000 residents already have filed 1973 claims, and reimbursements to date total $43 million for an individual average of $205.

Under the senior citizens law, up to 95 per cent of the property taxes can be reimbursed, depending upon the individual's income, Flournoy said.

Lone male entrant wins char contest

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UPI) — Ralph Osborne, 67, the only man against 1,100 cleaning women vying for the "charming char" title, won the $62.50 prize and a golden scrubbing brush Monday night.

"I learned a trick or two about polishing during my 24 years in the army," said Osborne, who mops the floors at the Royal Cinque Ports Yacht club in Dover.

Fuel economy, safety improved in Cadillac

The 1974 Cadillac, including nine models in three series, features changes and engineering innovations improving fuel economy and safety.

"The new Cadillac adds new dimensions of safety in addition to fulfilling the needs of our customers for improved fuel economy, comfort and convenience," Robert D. Lund, general manager of the Cadillac motor car division, said.

The new automobile line features a wide range of interior combinations and a choice of 21 exterior colors, 15 standard colors and six firmist tones. Fifteen of the exterior colors are new for 1974. A selection of 10 vinyl and seven convertible tops are also offered.

"To further enhance a customer's preference for personalizing his or her choice of a Cadillac, there are three new special edition cars available in 1974," Lund said. The special edition models, which feature additional luxury and accessories, are the Fleetwood Talisman, Brougham d'Elegance and the De Ville d'Elegance.

New bumpers meet all federal and state mandatory requirements and front bumper guards are wider and lower. The standard bumper impact strips are a unique silver gray color to blend into the chrome bumper.

In the standard Cadillac a new front-end appearance is enhanced by the relocation of parking lamps and head lamps. Cornering lamps, located in the lower portion of the fender, serve a dual function with the front side markers and reflex lenses.

"The familar cross-hatch grille in the standard Cadillac has been designed with a bold motif, the square grille openings highlighted above and below the bumper,"

In describing the Fleetwood Eldorado series which again includes the coupe and convertible, Lund said, "This model also has a newly styled front end, the focal point being the uniquely styled fine mesh grille."

"The side appearance is accented by a narrow body molding which protects the side of the car from parking lot damage. In addition, bolder striping and new wheel discs highlight the classic Eldorado lines," Lund said.

New pressure cited

Food becoming source of universal concern

WASHINGTON (UPI) —While Americans complain about the price of food, rationing for some foodstuffs has been put into effect in India and China, and several countries in sub-Sahara Africa are facing famime.

Food and the world's supply of it — so long taken for granted by most Americans —has suddenly become a universal concern.

According to at least one expert, Lester R. Brown, a former Agriculture Department official who now is a senior fellow of the Overseas Development Council, a new factor — the affluence of the industrialized countries —has joined expanding population as a key source of pressure on the world's food supply.

During the 1960s, the world food problem was perceived a food-population problem, a race between food and people, says Brown. But although rising population still generates a demand for more food, "rising affluence is emerging as a major new claimant on world food resources."

Writing in the Population Bulletin, Brown cited grain requirements as an example of how affluence exerts pressure on the food situation.

In poor countries, he said, the annual availability of grain per person averages about 400 pounds a year, and nearly all of it consumed directly rather than converted into animal protein.

"In the United States and Canada," Brown said, "per capita grain utilization is currently approaching one ton per year. Of this total only about 150 pounds are consumed directly in the form of bread, pastries and breakfast cereals. The remainder is consumed indirectly in the form of meat, milk and eggs.

"The agricultural resources —land, water, fertilizer — required to support an average North American are nearly five times those of the average Indian, Nigerian or Colombian."

Throughout the world, per capita grain requirements rise with income and "as yet no nation appears to have reached a level of affluence where its per capita grain requirements have stopped rising," Brown added.

To him, this means developing a two-fold strategy to meet the food crisis — a swift reduction in population growth and, for affluent countries like the United States, a change in food consumption patterns.

In poor countries, Brown says, it is difficult to reduce population growth rates because they do not usually decline "in the absence of a certain improvement in well-being — an assured food supply, a reduced infant mortality rate, literacy, and at least rudimentary health services."

Brown thus believes it is in the self-interest of the rich, industralized nations to lead the all-out attack on global poverty which would provide an incentive to the poorer nations to lower birth rates.

Closer to home, according to Brown, thought must be given on how "diets could be simplified in the wealthy nations in order to reduce per capita claims on the earth's scarce resources of land and water."

That may mean the substitution of vegetable oils for animal fat and the substitution of vegetable protein for animal protein.

He cited the development of soya-based meat substitutes as a step in that direction.

"Just as the U.S. dollar can no longer serve as the foundation of the international monetary system, U.S. agriculture may no longer have sufficient excess capacity to ensure reasonable stability in the world market for food," he said.

City will ask L.A. County for Valley Blvd. funds

By TONY NAVARRO
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Los Angeles County will be asked to put up the $485,000 Pomona needs this fiscal year to qualify for $250,000 in federal aid for the improvement of Valley Boulevard. The $485,000 would be the city's share of the project cost.

The City Council Tuesday night voted 4 to 0 to go along with the recommendation of Public Works Director Ronald Kranzer to request the county to advance the city half of the $485,000 and that the other half come as an allocation from the county to the city from the Highway Through Cities (HTC) program.

The federal assistance, channeled through the county, is available to the city under the Federal Aid Secondary Urban Extension (FASUE) program which is being discontinued after this fiscal year.

But Kranzer said he thinks the federal government would approve another program similar to FASUE that would provide funds for projects such as the Valley one.

Valley is proposed to be improved from Pomona Boulevard to Grand Avenue, involving the cities of Pomona, Walnut and Industry.

Kranzer said if the county approves the request, Pomona would agree to reimburse the county for $250,000 from the state gas tax funds the city would expect to receive for fiscal years 1974-75 and 1975-76.

The allocation of the HTC funds by the county and the assignment of city funds to the county in essence means that the city would not be requesting any other county funds for a two-year period, as was the case in the Temple Avenue (improvement) project," said Kranzer.

The Valley project was discussed with Supervisor Peter Schabarum and other county supervisors at a meeting with the council last week. County officials at that time made no commitment.

In his written recommendation to the council, Kranzer listed public works projects for which the city has committed its funds, showing that the $485,000 would not be available this year unless one or more projects were postponed.

Among the projects listed were three programmed for 1973-74 under a five-year capital improvement program.

These include the realignment of White Avenue in the Ganesha Park area calling for a commitment of $250,000, the improvement of Bonita Avenue from the west city limits to Garey Avenue for $121,000 and the construction of a pedestrian overcrossing on Valley at Norton Street for $90,000.

But Kranzer said delay of the Bonita project would result in additional costs, that the city had a long-range commitment for the White realignment, and stressed the importance of the pedestrian bridge at Valley and Norton, where a small girl was killed this year.

Shortly after the girl's death, the council had approved construction of the bridge as soon as possible.

Councilman Ben Ochoa, in response to his question on the progress on the bridge project, was told by Kranzer construction possibly would begin in three months.

On other matters, the council:

—Accepted "with regret" the resignation of W. R. Hagstrom from the Planning Commission.

—Asked for a discussion next week on a request by Ochoa that the council discontinue hiring employees until a new city administrator has been named and has had a chance to review each of the city departments.

Bank deposit insurance lingo is interpreted

I know that bank deposits are insured to $20,000. I have two accounts in one bank. Is each insured?

What if I had accounts in two separate banks? Would each be insured?

Are all banks and savings and loan associations insured? — J.D., Pomona.

Taking the last question first, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, a U.S. government agency, insures only deposits in national and most state banks, including commercial and mutual savings banks. Insured banks display the official FDIC sign at each teller's window or station.

Most savings and loan associations are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, another governmental agency.

All types of accounts are insured. If your two accounts are individual accounts in your name, the two are added together and insured up to a total of $20,000.

If, however, you are the co-owner of a joint account in which each owner has signed an account signature card and has the right of withdrawal, this account is separately insured up to the $20,000 maximum.

And if you have individual accounts in two or more institutions, each is insured without regard to the account or accounts in any other insured bank or association.

In the case of a bank or association having one or more branches, the main office and all branches are considered as one bank or association.

I would like to study the Welsh language and I don't know of anywhere it might be taught. Could you find out for me if any of the adult schools or colleges in Pomona Valley teach it? — C. G., Claremont.

The adult education department of Pomona Unified School District will start a class in the Welsh language if you can find 15 other people who are interested in it.

Otherwise, the closest instruction we could locate is at Berlitz, 170 S. Lake St., Pasadena, and that is private lessons, not a class.

The English department at UCLA offers a class in medieval Welsh from time to time but not this year.

I'm hoping that you will be able to clear up this mess with Spiegel catalogue.

I have written several times and still they insist that I owe them for items that were returned to the company.

They are charging me for items that were returned. I sent back a bra. They sent a second set of pink panels, which were the wrong color. I sent them back, too.

All I should have to pay for is two pink panels at $6.98 apiece and one pair of white panels at $4.98, which all comes to $17.96. — S.M., Chino.

The more we studied your figures and billing, the more mystified we were. We sent your complaint on to Spiegel. The customer relations manager said you had been credited with the bra and the pink panel order.

The pink panels you kept, he said, were $7.98 each, not $6.98. The correct price for the pink panels and the white panels was $20.98, not $17.96, he claimed, and the correct total charge, including tax, postage and handling, was $24.83.

Spiegel had been billing you for a past due amount of $9.09 but now places the correct amount at $7.83. The customer relations manager offered to waive the $2 finance charge of this amount if you would send the $5.83 by return mail.

We were unable to reach you by phone to ask you the one question about this affair that fascinated us: What is a pink panel? A curtain? A garment? A decoration? Is there such a thing as a purple panel? We think owning a pink panel, whatever it is, would be fun and possession of a pair of purple panels would be absolute bliss.

German shepherds get a pat as the best guide dogs

POMONA — German shepherds make the best guide dogs for the blind, Frank W. Ferrara, a public relations representative for International Guiding Eyes of North Hollywood, told members of the Rotary Club on Tuesday.

Ferrara, who is partially sighted, said that shepherds are intelligent and adjust best to climatic changes.

Dogs selected to guide the blind are given six months training before they are assigned to a blind person. Then begins a four-week period of training in which the blind person and his dog walk about 200 miles to become accustomed to everyday situations.

International Guiding Eyes is a nonprofit organization and through public contributions has provided more than 400 dog guides free to blind persons.

Ferrera demonstrated with a dog guide some of the maneuvers which the dogs are taught in order to lead their sightless masters confidently and with safety.

Two new members of the Rotary club were introduced, Bob Bush, general manager of the Progress-Bulletin, and Edward Cota, manager of the Pomona Mall East Office of the United California Bank.

Council votes more funds for Humane Society

POMONA — The City Council took two steps Tuesday night toward providing the Humane Society of Pomona Valley with additional funds to deal with the stray dog problem.

By 4-0 vote, the council approved revising animal regulations to increase the impoundment fee for dogs from the present $6 to $15 for the first time and $25 for the second and additional times.

Asst. City Administrator Joseph Korpsak estimated this measure would raise an additional $13,500 per year in revenue for the society.

The council by an identical vote also agreed to reimburse the society for all funds received by the city from the county as the city's share of fines imposed by the municipal court for violations of the animal ordinance — estimated at $2,500 a year. The society presently does not receive any of these funds.

Opinion

Press, 4th branch of the government

With all the Watergate-inspired interest in the constitutional system of checks and balances among the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government, surprisingly little note has been made of the growing importance of a fourth entity — one that was never dreamed of by the Founding Fathers.

It is surprising because so much of our daily news diet and our information about what is going on in Washington emanates from this source.

For want of a better name, call it the Department of Leaks.

Unlike other branches, agencies, bureaus, etc., whose functions are spelled out by the Constitution or by public law, who are tied to yearly budgets and whose offices can be found at definite geographical locations, the Department of Leaks is a ghostlike thing.

It has no chief or secretary, no staff, no headquarters. Yet it operates everywhere within the government and is feared and respected by the lowliest clerk on up to the president himself.

There are White House leaks, congressional committee leaks, State and Defense Department leaks — you name it.

They may be quasi-official, as in "a high-placed administration spokesman said today that . . . " Or they may be more suspect, as in "informed government sources speculate that . . . "

They may be petty: Who is being considered for an undersecretaryship. Or they may be world-shaking: The details of our fallback position on a nuclear disarmament treaty with the Soviet Union.

That the Department of Leaks has as much power to change history as a president or a Supreme Court is shown by one of its most famous, or infamous, jobs of this century, the Pentagon Papers. This case was unusual, however, in that it was one of the rare times that a leak has been associated with, and admitted by, an identifiable person.

It was frustrating White House leaks that helped create the climate of paranoia that led to Watergate (so testify the would-be "plumbers"), and it is Justice Department leaks that are currently being blamed by Vice President Agnew for what he calls trial by newspaper over his difficulties with his home state of Maryland.

Several newspapers have agreed that the vice president has a point, though none has apologized for printing the leaks.

Which underscores the fact that powerful and pervasive as it is, the Department of Leaks would be as impotent as a lame-duck junior congressman if it did not have somewhere to leak TO.

Thus it is actually the press, not the Department of Leaks, that has come to exercise the function of a further check and balance over government. The press is not only the Fourth Estate; it is in many ways the fourth branch.

This may be both good and bad, and some journalists may be reluctant to accept the responsibility for the latter. But that does not change the fact of it.

The Founders, to be sure, recognized the vital function of an unfettered press in a free society and took steps to guarantee it in the First Amendment.

But the press must not only be mindful of its traditional role as a watchdog over the nation's welfare. It must be ever alert to the danger, through its close working relationship with the "Department of Leaks," of becoming a lapdog for those who would use it for their own purposes.

Lockheed loan turns out O.K.

Ralph Nader called it a "massive corporate welfare scheme." The consumer advocate was echoed on the floor of Congress, where various critics warned that it marked the beginning of a "parade of private industry" lining up for federal handouts.

They were talking about the government's decision in 1971 to "cosign" a financial shot in the arm to the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., which was caught in a bind because of the collapse of Britain's famed Rolls Royce, supplier of engines for Lockheed's wide-bodied L-1011 jetliner.

None of these dire predictions has come anywhere near true.

From the inception of the bank loan guarantee (a government guarantee, not a government loan) in August of 1971 through the middle of this year, Lockheed has paid nearly $6 million in fees to the Emergency Loan Guarantee Board under the terms of its commitment. This year it has held drawdowns under the loan guarantee to $20 million.

Lockheed has recorded profits for 10 consecutive quarters. Virtually all its programs are making money, except for the L-1011, whose sales are being booked at zero profit. So far, 39 of the planes have been delivered, with another 17 to be delivered before the end of 1973.

The Emergency Loan Guarantee Board, created by the 1971 legislation, reports that it is unaware of any other situations requiring government loan guarantees. Because of this, it is recommending to Congress that it be allowed to go out of existence on schedule at the end of this year.

Nixon sorry way he treated Truman

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has told friends he is sorry for the way he treated President Harry Truman back in the late 1940s.

The shoe was on the other foot in those days. Nixon was the investigating congressman demanding White House files. He used malignant innuendo to suggest that Truman was soft on communism.

"The only way to save America," thundered young Nixon, "is to get rid of Trumanism . . . or whatever ism with which you choose to tag the whole sorry mess."

Now that Nixon is on the receiving end of congressional attacks, he has become a secret admirer of the gritty Truman. In private conversation, the President has praised Truman's "guts."

More and more, Nixon feels a kinship with the late Truman. Both were tough campaigners and outspoken partisans. Both were stubbornly loyal to their friends. Both once failed in a business and both played the piano.

It is painful for Nixon to admit a mistake, his friends acknowledge. But sometimes he wishes Harry Truman were still alive so he could apologize to him for the excesses of the 1940s.

LABOR AND NARCOTICS: One of America's most esteemed labor leaders is identified in Justice Department documents as the longtime friend of a major figure in world narcotics traffic to the United States.

The union official is Irving J. Brown, justly famed as a bulwark of free unionism against government-run Communist "unions." As AFL-CIO head in Europe and Africa, the 61-year-old Brown has labored for decades to better the life of oppressed workers.

Yet, in what seems like almost another life, he has befriended and housed France's notorious Maurice "Broken Head" Castellani and occasionally enters the twilight circle of other shadowy figures who operate the heroin pipeline to America.

The 49-year-old Castellani is identified in a classified Justice Department document as one of "the triumvirate leadership of the 'Trois Canards' ('Three Ducks'), an underworld organization involved in numerous illicit financial enterprises, not the least of which is narcotics."

Charming, dapper

Castellani's charm and dapper appearance have gained him entree to the presidential palace in Italy, the Justice narcotics agents have reported. His friends say a beating by the Gestapo for trying to transport Jews to freedom got him the nickname "Broken Head."

And his skill in smuggling narcotics has earned him eight single-spaced pages with addenda in a secret Justice Department file headed: "GF: Maurice Castellani."

Larded through this file are references to Brown, beginning with trans-Atlantic telephone calls between the two men almost a decade ago. When in New York, Castellani seldom had to look for hotels. As the report put it, "Brown . . . made (his) apartment available to Castellani whenever Castellani was in New York City."

Working from the apartment, Castellani met with Joseph Zurita, a Tangiers and Casablanca-based smuggler, or dropped in on his old pal, Francois Scaglia, an unlucky narcotics bigwig then doing time in New York's infamous Attica State Prison. The Justice report says Castellani was bringing "substantial amounts of money" for the jailed Scaglia.

Worried narcs

Gradually, the friendship of the AFL-CIO's top European man with the narcotics magnate began to worry federal "narcs." They visited Brown and reported he "was receptive and readily answered questions (but) Brown did not provide any significant information . . . "

However, the labor officials agreed to permit the federal sleuths to bug his apartment. The Justice report notes gloomily that "no audible tapes were obtained."

Despite the agents' warning that Castellani was deep in narcotics, the trusting Brown let the smuggler keep a key to his apartment. The agents kept a weather eye on the flat.

Finding Castellani there one day, they popped in unexpectedly to interview him. The suave Castellani surprised them by agreeing "tentatively to cooperate." Yet this, too, turned into a dry hole.

Negative results

Meanwhile, fearful that Brown's United Nations affiliation through the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions would be used by him as "a possible smuggling route," the agents began to "monitor" him. Though U.S. Customs helped in the probe, Justice reported "negative results."

In ensuing years, Brown and Castellani have met frequently, most recently three months ago over dinner with several other friends. Brown has also maintained his social relationship with Zurita, but has not seen him for about a year.

Even less frequently, he has met men like the late Joe Attia, the organizational genius of a Southeast Asian-European-American drug ring and a former close associate to Castellani.

When we reached Brown by telephone in Paris, he charged the Justice Department report was "guilt by association." But in a long trans-Atlantic talk, he went through it with us point by point.

'Never proved it'

The agents themselves had asked him not to alert Castellani by breaking off their friendship, he insisted. He later conceded he had made no report to the "narcs" since the late '60s.

In any case, he said, they had never proved to his satisfaction that Castellani was in narcotics and Castellani had denied it to him. Yet he admitted under questioning that he knew Castellani was in New York to see the jailed drug trafficker Scaglia. "A lot of people have friends in jail," he explained.

As to the apartment, Brown admitted he let Castellani have the key because "he found New York very expensive. I said, 'You can stop at my place. There's plenty of room.' "

When asked whether a man in his sensitive and important role should continue a decade-long friendship with a narcotics king-pin, Brown politely but firmly said no one was going to choose his friends for him.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . . . letters

The death penalty

The State Assembly is currently considering legislation (SB 450) that would establish a mandatory death penalty for certain crimes. We wish to express our opposition to this legislation.

Proponents of the death penalty, such as Assemblyman Lancaster, argue that (1) they are being "responsive to the will of the people as expressed at the polls last year"; and (2) they "support the death penalty as a deterrent to serious capital crimes." Being "responsive to the will of the people" is a praiseworthy political virtue. But what does it mean? Should the politician simply capitulate to public opinion? Or should they "respond" to public opinion, sometimes agreeing with it, but when moral responsibility calls for an opposite opinion, then disagreeing with it? For example, if the public should approve of racial discrimination, should legislation conform to the will of the people? We surely hope not! Besides, what was "the will of the people as expressed at the polls last year" ? Instead of a choice in favor of the death penalty and against a viable alternative, it may have been a hopeless grasp for a simple solution to the frustratingly complex problem of crime. There is little point in appealing to so-called "mandates" when the "willof the people" is subject to various interpretations.

All this is beside the point, since the crux of the matter is the second line of argument taken by the proponents of the death penalty. The Supreme Court ruling on the death penalty places the burden of proof squarely on those who believe in "the deterrent influence of the death penalty both in general and as it affects the commission of specific types of crimes." Whether or not the death penalty has been or can be an effective deterrent is not a matter for the polls to decide. It can be settled only by studies of the appropriate data; and among such studies a wide range of conclusions have been drawn, from the affirmation of the deterrent effect of the death peanlty to the view that it increases, not decreases, the number of serious crimes. It is here that the proponents' argument for the death penalty finally fails, since they cannot establish its only possible grounds of moral justification. All they are left with is the primitive desire for vengeance. And we want no part of this.

Finally, the proponents of the death penalty do not understand that an effective deterrent to crime requires more than severe penalties for certain types of crimes. For every crime, an effective deterrent requires the certainty of swift apprehension and conviction; the certainty of a penalty; the guarantee of real opportunity for rehabilitation; and assurance that the return to society will not be a return to the same old socio-economic problems.

It is pure escapism to think that severe penalties alone, even the more humane proposal of a mandatory life sentence for certain crimes, can fight crime. For a safer and more moral society, let us (Legislators included) continue to look for a more effective and humane deterrent to crime.—David and Karen Lull, Claremont.

Gossip for today

Even though at the present time we seem to be having a coyote problem in and about Pomona, we can console ourselves with the knowlege that down through the years here in California coyotes have ever been a source of trouble and worry. As long ago as the year 1893 the State of California was paying a $5 bounty for coyote scalps; and in Ukiah, California, the problem was so bad that stockmen were offering a reward of $46 for every coyote scalp brought to them. At such prices you can well imagine something had to happen. Which it did! — Thousands of coyote scalps were smuggled into this state from Baja California in order to collect the bounty. Also, as one newspaper article pointed out, some folks were even trapping a few coyotes, corraling them and then letting Nature take its course.

"One industrious pair of coyotes," the story stated, "should be good for about $200 a year."

Mills' tax cure for the economy

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The doleful political significance of Rep. Wilbur Mills's surgery for removal of a damaged spinal disc is its possibly fatal coincidence with a Nixon-Mills agreement on what is potentially President Nixon's most comprehensive tax program to battle both recession and inflation.

With Mills now out of action for one month, this highly imaginative tax program may die aborning. Only Mills, resourceful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has the prestige on Capitol Hill to push a new tax program through the faction-ridden Democratic Congress.

Moreover, President Nixon himself had not quite gone that last step of giving Mills the enthusiastic backing of the Nixon administration. The reason: to make up the revenue loss of tax incentives for new plant and equipment, the Mills plan would have to raise taxes somewhere — probably a small increase in the 48 per cent corporate tax rate.

"The President's still hung up on the stupid pledge he made not to raise taxes in his second term," one highly placed administration official told us. "He's beginning to bend, but he hasn't bent all the way yet."

That final stage of bending is going to be far more difficult for Mr. Nixon now that Mills is flat on his aching back in a Little Rock hospital. Yet, the President's all-out endorsement of the developing Mills plan is an absolute precondition for its success.

Realizing this, Dr. Pierre Rinfret, the President's unofficial and irrepressibly independent economic consultant, has strongly pressed the White House to get Mr. Nixon to take a vocal, exposed position backing the Mills program (incidentally giving the embattled President a nice handle to shift out of Watergate and into the economy).

Dr. Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve who has been way ahead of the administration every step of the way on the anti-inflation front, has quietly been providing Mills with research for the principal part of the Mills tax program: the fast tax write-off for new plant and equipment in such overburdened basic industries as steel.

The Fed's research staff, quietly beefed up during the Burns chairmanship, has sent Mills technical information to identify other basic industries (for example, paper, oil refining and copper production) whose products either are now in dangerously short supply or soon will be.

The idea is that encouraging new investment in these basic industries will increase future supply, thus precluding inflationary pressures stemming from shortages of materials and supplies.

That is the anti-inflation prong of the two-pronged Mills plan, and it fits the still unstated but well known views of such key Nixon advisers as William Simon, Deputy Secretary of the Treasury. Secretary George Shultz, Simon's boss and Mr. Nixon's economic czar, has said privately that he, too, likes this Mills approach. Lacking definitive word from Mr. Nixon, he is keeping silent.

Undeterred by presidential inaction, Dr. Burns has not kept his silence. In little-noted testimony early last month to the joint economic committee, Burns publicly backed Mills' plan to build future capacity through tax incentives and thus cure what he called "severe capacity restraints" in some basic industries.

Mills, more worried over a recession than inflation, sees his tax-incentive plan as a device to continue high employment after consumer spending declines and production lines start laying off workers. That is the anti-recession prong of his plan.

Buttressing Mill's fears are new findings by consumer expert Albert Sindlinger. The pollster most favored by the White House, Sindlinger has just informed his blue-ribbon list of big business clients that consumer sentiment shows a sure-recession consensus among almost 20 million job-holding consumers as of today.

Among all consumers, Sindlinger finds that lack of confidence in job security—hence fear of recession—is higher today than it was just before the August 1971 inflation—recession crisis which stampeded Mr. Nixon into his first wage-price freeze and economic controls.

Mills was a key factor in that belated Nixon—Connally decision two years ago. He is even more important today, first because of the Watergate paralysis in the Nixon administration and second because many of his colleagues in the House need intensive persuasion before they vote to change the tax structure.

Now he is out of combat for at least a month. Unless the Nixon administration itself takes a strong lead, the principal victim of Mills's surgery will be his imaginative tax cure for an economy under ever-worsening seige.

Chino City Council delays action on business licenses and fees

CHINO — The City Council posponed action on two major items Tuesday night and approved a number of brief, minor agenda matters.

The Council tabled action on a supplemental report on business licenses and a resolution establishing fees for such licenses until further review by the board of directors of the Chino Valley Chamber of Commerce.

The five men also agreed to table the item dealing with the establishment of a personnel department for the municipal classified employes after some concern was expressed relevant to a section of the ordinance which called for the city manager to be responsible for appointing authority for all city positions except manager and city attorney.

A task force composed of Police Chief Frank Meehan who served as chairman, City Clerk Margaret "Chris" Wilson, Gale Carr, a director of building, planning and community development, and Art Hern, manager of city services, helped develop the policies, philosophy and operational procedures for a personnel department.

City Manager Bob Fast explained the need of such a department in his written report to the council.

"With the advent of growth of the organization (of municipal employes), the sophistication of employer-employe relations and greater complexity of administration generally, it is imperative that the city formalize a more comprehensive document relating to this matter," he read.

He called the ordinance "pertinent, practical and progressive." In his report, he continued, the document "provides the council with a responsive managment team approach to the implementation of council policy. It provides classified personnel the assurance that their employment environment is constructive, free of patronage, based upon merit and quality and has the due process protection due them."

The ordinance has the endorsement of all employe associations within the municipal government framework.

Councilmen remained quiet as Fast briefly explained each section of the ordinance before them, but mild protest arose when it came to the section dealing with appointments. The section in question, 2-51 stated "the appointing authority shall be the city council in the case of appointments to the positions of city manager and city atorney, and shall be the city manager or his designee in all other cases."

Council and staff will review the matter further before council approves the ordinance.

In relatively routine matters, the council accepted and approved Mrs. Wilson's estimates on costs of the special tax override election scheduled for Oct. 23. The election asks voters to approve a 25 cents tax increase to supplement revenue sharing and redevelopment funds to finance the city's portion of the new Civic Center at Central Avenue, west of D Street.

Mrs. Wilson estimated election costs to be $2,515 and recommended that the council authorize that expenditures not exceed $2,600. She noted that costs would come from revenue sharing money.

The city clerk also submitted a calendar for various deadlines for the election. These include today for the filing of arguments for or against the measure; Sept. 23, last day for registration; Sept. 24-Oct. 16, applications submitted for absentee ballots; Oct. 3, last day for city clerk to publish the list of names of election officers appointed and polling places designated; Oct. 5-12, final period for mailing sample ballots, arguments and polling place cards to each registered voter; and Oct. 30 or Nov. 6, announcement of results of the election.

In another matter, the council accepted the recommendation of John Gerardi, director of public works, to call for bids on the water capital improvement program. Fast reported that the total program would be in excess of $1 million.

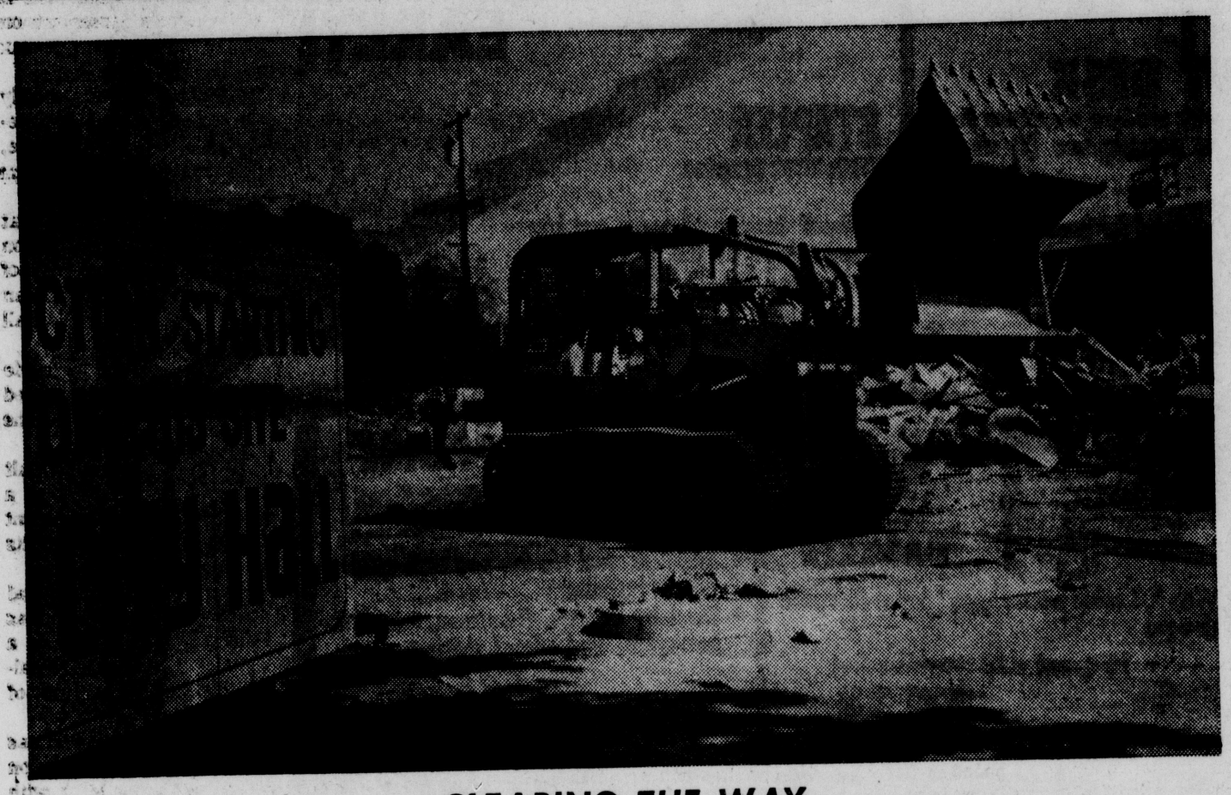
The program, outlined by Gerardi in his written report, "consists of the construction of a six million gallon reservoir; 3,500 gallon per minute booster pumping station, various distribution mains; pressure recording stations; replacement of an existing reservoir roof; constructing a new well; replacing an engine for an existing well and on other metal work."

The program will be ready for bid advertisement by Sept. 11, he noted.

In its final action, the council authorized an additional $2,600 for the repair of well eight. The addition to the $6,000 already given is to correct an offset shift in the well casing.

PERFECT RECORD

Upland Mayor Abner Haldeman displays the city's second American Automobile Association pedestrian safety award for a 1972 record of no pedestrian deaths and only four pedestrian injuries. On hand for the occasion are, from left, Police Chief John Wessely, City Manager Elwin Alder and Auto Club District Manager William J. Wallis Jr., who presented the award to the city.



CLEARING THE WAY

A bulldozer rumbles through the rubble of what was once a service station at the corner of Arrow Highway and Euclid Avenue in Upland. The property is being cleared to make way for the construction of a new city hall building. Some $700,000 has been earmarked for the project. Building is expected to begin in October with a completion date in the summer of 1974.

Youthful driver reports he was robbed, shot at

UPLAND — Police here are continuing their search for the men who allegedly robbed an Upland youth at gunpoint Saturday night and fired several shots into the youth's vehicle before fleeing.

Police said Anthony Olivos, 16, of Upland was in his car on Bodenham Street between Chaffey and Bowen avenues about 10:30 p.m. when another car pulled alongside. The two men in the car allegedly pointed a pistol at Olivos and ordered him to hand over his wallet and money. Olivos said the men took the money he had and then fired several rounds into his car before they sped off.

Police said the gunmen were described as Caucasians of dark complexion, driving a lowered 1964 white Chevrolet. One of the gunmen was described as about 20 to 25, with black hair and a thin build. He was wearing a heavy white T-shirt. The second man was described as being 18 to 19, thin, with long black wavy hair.

Upland High Girls' League holding an outing at park

UPLAND — Upland High School Girls' League will hold its annual Big-Little Sister potluck this afternoon in Memorial Park.

League secretary Helen Demetrion said senior, junior and sophomore girls are invited to arrive at the park at 4 p.m. and serve as big sisters.

Freshmen girls are invited to arrive as little sisters at 4:30 p.m. The affair will end at 7:30 p.m., Miss Demetrion said.

Big sisters with last names beginning with letters A through M are asked to bring a main dish. Those with last names beginning with letters N through Z are invited to bring salads.

The Girls' League will provide a dessert.

Each girl who attends is asked to bring a paper plate, cup, silverware and napkin.

Members of the 1973-74 Pep squad and marching auxiliary will entertain. There will be outdoor games.

High school counselors will be present to explain to freshmen the scramble registration system to take place Thursday at school and to discuss classes.

In Upland

New city hall by July 10

By PATRICK SPENCER
P-B Staff Writer

UPLAND — July 10, 1974 is the date set for the completion of Upland's new city hall building.

In a timetable announced by City Manager Elwin Alder at Tuesday night's council meeting, construction is slated to begin Nov. 1. The building must be completed within 250 days, Alder said, and administrative personnel will begin moving in mid-July or August.

Alder said bids for construction will be advertised on Sept. 13 and 20 with the major contract being awarded at a regular council meeting on Oct. 1.

When completed the city hall building will bring the Civic Center complex to three-fourths completion, with only a new police department facility remaining to be built.

Plans for the city hall building, being developed by the Los Angeles architectural firm of Edward Durrell Stone Inc., essentially call for one large room with about 21,000 square feet of floor space. Movable screens will divide the area into separate offices for over 100 administrative workers.

Council chambers will be located in the center of the building with a seating capacity of 112 persons. The chamber will feature a circular table for councilmen with permanent screen and blackboard facilities for audio-visual presentations, as well as facilities for cable television broadcasting.

A garden patio will also be a feature and the building will connect with the present library and fire station through open archways.

In other action, the council approved a resolution establishing a 15-member citizens' transportation committee under the chairmanship of Planning Commissioner John Meyer.

The committee's purpose is two-fold, according to Mayor Abner Haldeman. It will act as channel of communications for information on transportation to citizens and provide input and recommendations to the council on community transportation needs.

The current committee was an outgrowth of a 45-member advisory group appointed by Mayor Haldeman shortly after bus service was inaugurated between the city and Ontario last June.

Registration opens at Chaffey College

ALTA LOMA — Fall quarter registration at Chaffey College will be conducted today and Thursday and Sept. 12-13 at the college's admissions office.

The fall quarter begins Sept. 17 and runs through Nov. 30. Additional information on registration procedures and course offerings may be obtained by calling the admissions office at 987-1737 or 822-7456.

I. W. ABEL

SAN BERNARDINO — I. W. Abel, president of AFL-CIO, United Steelworkers of America, will be honored at a reception and banquet at Convention Center Sept. 21 at 6:30 p.m.

Arranged by the Southern California-Nevada Labor Committee, the affair will bring together labor and industrial management figures in the testimonial to Abel.

W. R. Holcomb, San Bernardino mayor, will join other civic officials in welcoming Abel.

Recently Abel announced that an experimental negotiating agreement had been approved by the union and 10 of the nation's largest steel producers which will eliminate a national steel strike next year when the major union contracts will be negotiated.

Abel is a strong proponent of curbing excessive foreign imports through legislation. He heads labor's fight for a tough American trade policy.

New administrator takes reins at Chino hospital

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — Gary K. Jones, new administrator of Chino General Hospital, reported that a hospital administrator's job is 10 per cent philosophy and 90 per cent hard work in an interview this week.

Jones took over Monday at this West End hospital. He succeeds Thomas Jose who will head the new facility in San Diego also built by the American Institutional Developers, Inc. Jose will remain at the AID hospital here until Sept. 17, to acquaint Jones with the tasks at hand and the hospital staff.

Jones joins the Chino General staff after several months serving simultaneously as administrator of Arroyo Grande Community Hospital and Twin Lakes Community Hospital in Folsom.

The 37-year-old man began his career in medical facilities as business manager of General Rose Memorial Hospital in Denver. After 4½ years there, he went to Davol Laboratories.

"Davol is a corporation that produces medical-surgical supplies. I was a salesman, I guess. They didn't really have a title for me. I ran all over a half dozen states. Aerial living, you might say. This gave me insight into the other side of this business, too, which needless to say has been helpful," he said.

While at Davol, Jones was approached by the board of directors of the new Southeast Colorado Hospital in Springfield and asked to become administrator there.

"The thing that really got me involved in it was a feeling of moral commitment. That's my home town . . . It was the first hospital built from scratch in 10 years in Colorado. That was 1969.

"Some of us stumble through life and never have the opportunity to do anything for anyone. This is certainly challenging in that sense," Jones commented.

His blue eyes twinkled as he laughingly added "It was a challenge. Most of us like to see how good we are."

The difference in the business side and the administrative tasks were immediately discernible to Jones.

"When someone works in the business function one tends to identify with that function and lose sight of the objective—the care of the patient. An administrator is put in the role of the representative of the patient which is, as you can appreciate, somewhat different than business. You have to oversee the facility and deal with the medical staff and the responsibilities at the community level. The primary difference when you sit down as the administrator as opposed to the business world is that you are totally responsible for the morale of the patient," he said.

Southeast Colorado Hospital opened six months after he took over. He moved to the Arroyo Grande and Folsom hospitals in California after 3½ years in his native state. He sees no contrast in his previous roles and the one he is to play at Chino General.

"The obligation to the patient is still there. A hospital is not an organization, not a building. A hospital is people, caring for people. I find it very difficult to look at a hospital any other way.

"This represents an opportunity and a challenge. I had done nearly all I could where I was. Chino is a new facility in a community that cares. It has a hospital staff that is here and ready to serve. It has a medical staff that is readily anxious to serve," Jones said, explaining his move to the West End facility.

"I look for some great things to happen here. The facility can be what the community wants it to be. This hospital belongs to the community."

Jones, his wife Mary Ann and their two sons, Greg, 3 and Todd, 2, are presently living in a Chino apartment. He is considering possible relocation in the Glenmeade area of Chino.

Dissidents back Russ leaders into corner

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Open warfare has been declared between the Kremlin and some of the Soviet Union's more noted dissenters.

It poses for Soviet leaders a painful dilemma.

The Nobel prize-winning novelist Alexander Solzenisyn discloses he has received threatening letter and says if he dies suddenly the world can know he was killed by Soviet security agents.

Andrei Sakharov, 52-year-old physicist known popularly as the "father of the Soviet hydrogen bomb," is called to the Moscow office of the prosecutor-general and warned against making anti-Soviet statements and meeting with western newsmen.

In response, Sakharov promptly called western newsmen to his apartment to discuss his own plight and to warn western nations against reaching economic accords with the Soviets without insisting on liberalization inside the Soviet Union.

And in an outlying borough of Moscow two other noted dissidents are brought to trial on charges of being paid agents of a western group aimed at overthrowing the Soviet regime.

They are Pyotr I. Yakir, a 50-year-old historian formerly associated with the Central Economic-Mathematical Institute in Moscow, and Viktor A. Krasin, 44, an economist and son of a famous Red Army general executed in 1937 in a Stalinist purge.

The trial was declared to be an "open" one, although foreign newsmen have been barred, and both defendants were said to have confessed.

For the Soviet leaders the dilemma arises from the prominence of the persons involved and the fact that drastic action against them would be bound to raise a hue and cry in the West at the very time that party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and others are seeking to improve their relations with western nations.

The cry for greater freedoms inside the Soviet Union is at the very core of the conflict between western demands for a free exchange of persons and ideas and Soviet charges that western imperialism aims at the overthrow of the Soviet system, especially from within.

Solzhenitsyn and Sakharov have now thrown down the gauntlet.

The closed trial and "confessions" of error are nothing new in the trials of those disagreeing with the Communist leadership.

One of the early victims was Hungarian Cardinal Joseph Mindszenty who warned before his arrest in 1948 that should he be heard to confess, it would not be the real Mindszenty speaking. His forecast of trial and confession turned out to be an accurate one.

What many Russians regard as worse than prison is exile in a foreign land, banned from returning to the Soviet Union.

Boris Pasternak, author of "Dr. Zhivago", pleaded with the late Nikita Khrushchev not to be sent away.

It is a punishment employed in recent months against Dr. Valery Chalidize, a Soviet scientist and civil rights champion, and against Zhores A. Medvedev, a noted Soviet geneticist and dissident writer. Chalidize's passport was taken from him while lecturing in the United States and Medvedev's while on a visit to Britain. Both had planned to return home.

It is noteworthy that few of the dissidents want to leave home. Nor do they wish to restore capitalism. What they want are the freedoms presumably already guaranteed them under the Soviet constitution.

When she needs him, he's gone

MISSING: (Q.) Rick comes to me when he needs me and I'm always there. But when I need him he's never there. He's always off with some other girl.

He thinks I may get serious with him if we see too much of each other. I don't want to get serious. All I want is for him to be my friend, but he doesn't understand how I feel. I want to be able to lean on him when I need him. — 16 and Forsaken in Oklahoma.

(A). Your letter tells me that you ARE serious about Rick. It tells me that he likes you but is not serious about you and is not planning to be.

He also senses your true feelings. In such a situation a boy should not lead a girl on with part-time attention, but many do.

Possibly soon you will meet some other boy with whom your feelings can be mutual — shared.

In the meantime you will have to decide whether the good you get from having Rick bring his troubles to you is better than the bad. If it hurts too much, ask him to find another shoulder to lean on.

SUSPICION: (Q.) I have never done anything wrong with Cindy, but her father thinks I am using her for sex. He has sent her off on a vacation and told me to go away and to not come back.

That is not possible. Cindy and I are 15 and we have many problems to solve. We love each other. How can I talk to her parents and prove to them that I am trustworthy?

If I can't, we will have to sneak behind their backs. We have already decided to do it if her father doesn't let me see her. — Victim in Virginia.

(A.) You can go to Cindy's parents and tell them the truth — that you respect Cindy and love her and do not want to harm her. This way you will be handling your problem out in the open, honestly and correctly.

If you and Cindy start sneaking, you are likely to end up in real trouble. So don't start.

Good to the last drop

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

"Hey, honey," my friend called to the waitress. "Give us a couple more here, will you?"

I looked at him with some concern. "Don't you think you've had enough, Bill? That's four already—and it's not even noon yet."

"Baloney!" Bill gestured grandiosely. "I can drink coffee till the cows come home."

"But didn't your doctor tell you that—"

"Aw, that old sawbones! What does HE know? One more little cup won't hurt me."

"That's what they all say. Once you get hooked on coffee, you go on and on. You gulp a couple cups first thing in the morning.then you're the first guy out for coffee break. I tell you, Bill, I don't like it."

"Oh bull! Sure I have my little eye-opener in the morning. Gets me going. Then I knock back another spot at 10 or 11 to get me out of the mid-morning doldrums. Lot of pressure in this job, you know, pal, and a little of the old java helps a guy to—"

"Bill, face it. You're getting more and more dependnet on caffeine, and it's not good for your body or your mind. You—"

"What d'you mean, dependent?" he demanded belligerently. "It's only coffee. I can lay off it any time I want, see?"

"I've heard that before. Last spring you quit for—how long?"

"Two weeks. Two whole weeks I didn't touch a drop of coffee."

"Then what happened?"

"Well, I went on vacation, so that doesn't count. You don't expect a guy to go through his whole vacation without drinking coffee, do you?Just makes everything more fun, that's all."

"Sure, but why didn't you give it up when you came back to work?"

He fiddled with his cup. "I was going to, but things sort of closed in on me. First it was that dinner party at the Blakes' and when everyone else is drinking coffee you feel sort of like a nut not to join in. Then Jim and Betty came over to watch the fights—what was I going to do, offer them a Coke or something?"

"You caffein freaks can think of more excuses. If you would really face up to it and admit that—"

"They're NOT excuses, just facts. Like yesterday—I decided I wouldn't touch the stuff all day, but you remember what the weather was like—cold, rainy. A guy just had to have a little pick-me-up to get through. I don't see anything wrong in—"

"How about today? Bright and sunny. And here you are—"

"Aw nuts, pal. It's such a lovely day, you just feel you ought to have a cup of steaming coffee to make it perfect. Nothing wrong in that, is there?"

"Listen, Bill," I said. "I want you to know that I only say this because I'm concerned about you. There's an organization called Caffeine Incognito that helps people like you."

"People like—"

"I f you feel the urge to have a cup of coffee, you dial this number and a guy comes over and sits with you until the crisis passes. It's a—"

"Crisis! What crisis? Hey, waitress, give us a couple more here, will you?"

The doctor comments

By .LAWRENCE .E...LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB My husband's doctor tells him that he has uric acid in the blood. He takes one tablet a day and has uric acid blood tests yearly. He's been doing this for three years now. His doctor tells him he will have to take this medicine for the rest of his life. Would you say his doctor is correct in saying that he has uric acid in the blood? My husband does not have gout.

Dear Reader — Everyone has uric acid in the blood. The point is how much. This is the same thing as saying everyone has blood glucose (sugar). We all do, but the diabetic has too much and the person with low blood sugar doesn't have enough. Your doctor probably meant that he had too much uric acid, more than we usually see in individuals who do not develop gouty arthritis or attacks of gout later in life.

Most of the uric acid in the blood is a result of protein metabolism within the innumerable cells throughout the body If you have protein metabolism, and we all do, you will form uric acid.

Normally the amount of uric acid produced by the cells, compared to that eliminated through the kidneys, is small enough that you do not have a very high level in the blood. One method of treatment for a high uric acid level is to increase its elimination by the kidneys. In the process of eliminating large amounts of uric acid one may develop kidney stones or damage the kidneys. Another approach is to give a medi cine to prevent the cells from forming too much uric acid during protein metabolism.

Most animals are able to metabolize or break down uric acid in the cells and never accumulate the amount that we do. This is just a difference in body chemistry. Man is relatively unique in producing uric acid. Medicine that prevents cells from producing an excessive amount of uric acid keeps the blood level low and avoids excess elimination through the kidneys.

During an acute gout episode, special medicines are used to stop the attack. Thereafter, if the uric acid level is high, one of the methods of treatment that I've just mentioned may be used. The gout attack is caused by an inflammatory reaction to uric acid crystals forming in a joint. The slow painless accumulation of uric acid salts cause deformed arthritic joints.

Both acute inflammatory attacks and slow arthritic deformity are more apt to occur when the blood uric acid level is too high, causing the crystals or salts to form. I'm certain that the doctor is trying to prevent your husband from developing gouty arthritis or attacks of gout by prescribing medicine to be taken regularly. This is a sound approach in patients who need such medicine.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Do vitamins contain calories, and, if so, how many?

Dear Reader — Vitamins do not contain calories. They do not react with oxygen in the body to form energy. They are not used to build body structures. Vitamins act with enzymes to stimulate vital metabolic functions within the cells, but are not used for energy in the process.

They are a mixed bag of unrelated chemical compounds. Vitamin A, D (ergosterol), and E (tocopherol) belong to the organic alcohol group, as does cholesterol. The ending "ol" indicates this. The large-molecule alcohols, unlike small-molecule ethanol (drinking alcohol), do not provide calories for the body.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on low blood sugar, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Low Blood Sugar" booklet.

Erma Bombeck

There is nothing in this world any more appealing than an ad for a camping trailer. It pictures an hysterical family of four grouped around a fire on a deserted beach. The kids are carrying wood and playing Frisbee. The family dog is chasing the family rabbit (in jest not lust). And Daddy (looking like Mark Trail) is whittling the heads of four Presidents out of an old tree trunk.

Well, I am here to tell you that the family who camps together gets cramps together.

We have been camping for seven years and we have yet to have an evening where we all go to bed speaking to one another. The problem has remained the same for the past seven years: Parking the trailer.

Some trailer parks have "pull in" parking spaces. This is for marriages that cannot stand too much strain. For the rest of us there is the trailer park where you have to back in the trailer, being careful to line up evenly with the picnic tables, the water and sewer hook-ups.

To assist my husband with this task, there are two large mirrors on either side of the car, three children, one adult (a high school graduate) and a barking dog. Before I record our dialogue I will only comment, "You never know what you have married until you have seen him back up a 24-foot travel trailer into a spot between two trees."

Helpers: "Turn your wheels."

Husband: "Which way?"

Helpers: "That way."

Husband: "Which way is THAT way. I don't have eyes in the back of my head. You have to say right or left."

Husband: "Make up your mind. And which wheels right, the car or the trailer?"

Helpers: "Back up. Now stop. Stop. STOP! Why didn't you stop?"

Husband: "I couldn't hear you with the dog barking and in all this rain."

Helpers: "It isn't raining. You hit the water connection. When we motion like this . . . . ."

Husband: "I'll pull up and back in again. Now, for crying out loud, guide me."

Helpers: (waving madly).

Husband: "Why are you directing me in this way?"

Helpers: "We weren't. We were just waving to our neighbors."

Husband: "It's a crummy time to get friendly. Why don't you wait till I'm parked."

Helpers: "We'd better be friendly now. You just backed into their tent. You know the trouble with you . . . etc., etc., etc."

We should have learned something from the pioneers. They had the entire west to park in and they pulled their wagons into a circle.

Patience and bribe get bird pictures

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Recently we have invested a lot of money in photographic equipment, primarily with the idea of getting some good bird pictures. We have spent a lot of time since then trying to get birds in our garden tame enough to sit for pictures but we are having no luck at all. Some do it. I know. What is the secret?

Dear A. R.: Probably it is patience and inactivity coupled with appropriate bribes — invariably food. It takes a hungry bird in the first place but even one who is starving won't come in to you if you frighten it by moving about. Quiet is the key, then; the closer the bird gets, the quieter you have to be. This quiet at first should be actually immobility. If an apprehensive bird is watching you closely from a few feet away he will probably be frightened by any movement. If he's actually on your hand and watching you, you can't even swallow. He will invariably leave if you do. (Perhaps he associates your swallowing with preparation for a meal . . . like him . . .) Remember too, most cameras sound deafening and deadly to a wild bird so use yours as carefully and discreetly as possible.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Lil has been our faithful little friend for many, many years but she is fading now. She has a bad heart and is on digitalis heart medicine. We are told that her heart is slowly getting weaker even with it. She is on a restricted diet and other care, too, but can you think of anything that we are not doing that might keep out little dog alive just a little longer? — H. T.

Dear H. T.: Logically, Lil's doctor is the one to give you this kind of advice. Undoubtedly, he already has. The digitalis derivitves which are a standard treatment for the old, failing heart, are only part of the patient-care package, however. In diet, the most important aspect is salt restriction. Lower protein or even, in the heavy dogs, severe caloric restriction may be indicated. Drugs to stimulate removal of excess fluids from the body are very useful, even abdominal tapping to drain accumulated fluid may be needed. For comparatively long term survival of the heart patient, however, the most important single item is REST. No medication or diet can long help the congestive heart failure patient who remains active. Specifically, the more nearly Lil approaches zero muscular activity on a day-to-day basis, the easier her heart will have it and the longer it will last.

Photo's publication spurs Stockholm police hassle

STOCKHOLM (UPI) —A bitter internal quarrel within the police department was reported recently over the publication of an exclusive photograph showing a convict and three weary hostages in a besieged Stockholm bank vault.

A police spokesman said officers involved in the successful operation to free the hostages last month were "upset" over the release of the photograph.

It was taken by a policeman who lowered a camera into the vault from the roof and was published by the West German magazine Bild Am Sonntag Sunday.

The spokesman said the policeman signed a written agreement not to release the photograph to newsmen.

The bank drama involved a gunman, Jan-Erik Olsson, who seized four hostages and won the release from prison of convicted bank robber Clark Olofsson. All six were holed up in the bank vault.

The photo was taken before the five-day ordeal ended with the capture of the gunman and the convict in a storm of tear gas.

It shows Olofsson standing and three hostages, two of them women, seated near safety deposit boxes with nooses dangling over the heads.

The gunman reportedly threatened to put the hostages in nooses so that they would strangle if sleep-inducing gas was pumped into the vault.

She didn't want aid from lawmen

NEW YORK (UPI) —Neighbors heard Lillian Merchant arguing with a man who hit her with an iron pipe and called police. But when two officers came to assist her, they said Mrs. Merchant threw a "hot pot of something" on them.

The officers were not seriously hurt. The woman was charged with assault.

At first, police said the substance in the pot may have been lye but spokesmen later said it was probably soup.

Progress-Bulletin Entertainment

ROCKING ALONG — This rock group, Zedekiah, will present a concert in the Upland High School auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Also on the program are folk singer Dennis Tracy and the Electric Man. These performers are, from left, David Bertoglio, Gary Hamilton, Mary Pendleton, Bruce Graham, and Neil Copple. Tickets are $1.50.

Clare Fischer to play organ at Monterey Jazz Festival

MONTEREY — Clare Fischer, playing a space-age, experimental electric organ, will open the 16th annual Monterey Jazz Festival the evening of Sept. 21.

The electric organ, a Yamaha EX 42, is fed through two 300-watt speakers "as big as walk-in freezers," according to Fischer. "It can bark or whisper," he says.

The festival is scheduled for Sept. 21, 22 and 23. It format will be five concerts — Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings and Saturday and Sunday afternoons — held in the 7,000-seat outdoor arena on the Monterey County Fairgronds.

Fischer, who came to prominence as musical director for the Hi Lo's in the late 1950s, is considered by many as an innovator. His first recorded work of importance to jazz audiences was as conductor-arranger for Dizzy Gillespie's "A Portrait of Duke Ellington."

Other artists previously announced for the festival are Mance Lipcombe, Jimmy Rogers, Dave Alexander, Bo Diddley and Eddi "Cleanhead" Vinson who will all perform on the traditional blues show Saturday afternoon.

Others include Thad and Elvin Jones, Percy, Tootie and Jimmy Heath, Conte and Pete Candoli, Stanley and Tommy Turrentine, Jackie and Roy and the Thad Jones-Mel Lewis Big Band. This group of artists will all perform on Sunday evening in the final concert.

New theater to open in Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA — The Mayfair Music Hall and Palace of Varieties, a new theater in the former Santa Monica Opera House, built in 1911, will have a grand opening Oct. 9.

The Music Hall is the creation of Milt Larsen, TV writer and creator of the magician's club in Hollywood, the Magic Castle, in association with John Shrum and Thomas Heric. It will recreate the golden era of musical theater with live entertainment. The shows will present fresh, young talent in addition to a few veteran artists, in variety turns, spoken comedy and song.

The Mayfair Music Hall is the oldest theater in Santa Monica. Constructed as the Santa Monica Opera House, it quickly switched to a vaudeville policy. In the early 1920s it was remodeled as a movie house playing silent pictures with a pipe organ. When "talkies" came in, the organ went out and the building remained a popular movie house until Larsen and Associates undertook to remake the historical building into a home for live entertainment.

TANYA TUCKER, popular teen-age country singer, will be joined by 14 other country-western sars in a "Country Music Spectacular" at Disneyland Sept. 22.

Rock concert scheduled in Upland

UPLAND — The Upland recreation department will present a rock concert in the Upland High School auditorium at 8:30 Saturday night. Tickets will be on sale at the door for $1.50.

The program, offered in cooperation with Midnight Oil Productions, will feature the rock band, Zedekiah, the Electric Man and folk singer Dennis Tracy.

There will be a light show with strobe and black lights, experimental films, a fog machine, prizes, balloons and party hats.

Floods heaping more misery on people

India leader says nation not over hump yet

NEW DELHI (UPI) —A drought that has worsened India's grinding poverty has been replaced in some areas by flooding, which is heaping more misery on people already sorely tested.

"I do not think we have got over the hump," said Prime Minister Indira Gandhi during the weekend in what appeared to be a classic understatement.

Mrs. Gandhi saw some silver linings in the clouds that brought the monsoon rains.

She told lawmakers in her ruling Congress party that the widespread rains held the promise of a good crop.

But in Gujarat and Rajasthan, two states that suffered the full effects of the drought, the people have an overabundance of rain.

Rivers are surging out of their banks, destroying crops India was counting on harvesting in another two months.

Those crops are vitally needed to cope with what Mrs. Gandhi herself has acknowledged is the worst economic crisis in the nation's history.

In her weekend meeting with her party's members of Parliament, Mrs. Gandhi said the people must help her government solve the nation's problems by practicing austerity.

She said people should save, not only their money, but also on such items as electricity and gasoline. But the great majority of the 80 per cent of all Indians who live in unelectrified villages have no need for gasoline and no money to save.

To help create a climate of austerity, Mrs. Gandhi laid down some directives for her cabinet ministers.

Official entertainment should be modest, she said, and restricted to visiting foreign dignitaries of the rank of minister or above.

She also demanded that cabinet bigwigs observe austerity in the consumption of electricity.

It is too late for turning off a few lights in the ministries to do much good for the 250 million of the 570 million Indians who must somehow survive on less than the equivalent of 7 cents a day.

According to reports from some states, some Indians already have died in recent months of starvation.

Increasingly sensitive to criticism of her government's management of the food crisis, Mrs. Gandhi warned the ruling party parliamentarians that strict disciplinary action would be taken against those who indulged in anti-party "propaganda."

She noted that the newspapers had been full of that lately and said "it is much worse when our own partymen indulge in such activities."

BRIDGE

Give trick to insure slam

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's hand decided an IMP match. Both Souths played six spades against a queen of diamonds lead. One South player cashed two diamonds immediately; ruffed a diamond with the nine of trumps and led a club toward his queen.

As he pointed out later on, he would have made the slam if East held the club king; if hearts broke 3-3; if a heart-diamond squeeze developed or if West made the mistake of leading his fourth diamond.

He wasn't quite right about this. His play would have failed against a 5-1 trump break or a 6-1 break in either minor suit.

The other declarer must have been a disciple of our old friend Generous George. He decided to forget about really abnormal suit breaks and the location of the king of clubs and see what could be done if there were no singletons out against him.

He led a heart at trick two and ducked in dummy.

East won and led back the jack of clubs. South's queen was covered by West's king and dummy's ace.

South led dummy's last diamond to his king; ruffed a diamond with the queen of trumps; drew trumps and eventually discarded his last diamond and his two clubs on dummy's hearts.

Identify man hacked by propeller

PALOS VERDES, Calif. (UPI) —Authorities have identified a 35-year-old man who was battered to death by the propeller of his private aircraft as an executive of a Los Angeles savings and loan association.

Officials said recently that William Mosely Jones Jr., Palos Verdes, the executive vice president of Pacific Savings and Loan, was fatally injured when he attempted to start one of his plane's props by hand at Torrance Municipal Airport Friday.

Witnesses said Jones jumped out of the craft when one of the engines didn't fire up and tried to spin it around. He failed to jump out of the way when the engine started police said, and was slashed and knocked to the ground by the propeller.

Jones' father, William Mosley Jones Sr., is the president of Pacific Savings and head of the California Savings and Loan League.

Sheriff's looking for torture tools

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (UPI) —Sheriff Charles Price already has a noose and a gallows —but if you can come up with a ball and chain or a whipping post he'd be thankful.

Price, in his third term as Washington County sheriff, is a collector of methods used to punish criminals. He'd like to establish a museum to display them.

Austrian cuisine—a potpourri

Austria's cuisine is a delightful potpourri reflecting the hundreds of years that Vienna was the center of the Hapsburg Empire and Austria ruled many of its neighbors. Some of Austria's beloved dishes trace their origins to the surrounding countries that once made up this imperial empire. Rest assured, however, these favorites have been enhanced and given an Austrian touch that makes them doubly delicious and distinctly indigenous to this beautiful mountainous country.

A case in point are Palatschinken or pancakes, known as palacsinta in Hungary. Austrians enjoy them tremendously either as an entree or as dessert depending upon the filling. Often the pancake filling has the added goodness of Austria's own flavorful Swiss cheese from lush Alpine pastures.

Why not make some history at your table with these pancakes? For an entree, try the apple-sour cream filling. If the pancakes are for dessert, you'll want to fill them with the apricot-cheese mixture.

AUSTRIAN PANCAKES

3 eggs
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon sugar
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup club soda
Butter or margarine

Beat eggs with milk, sugar and flour. Let stand for 30 minutes. Just before preparing pancakes, stir in club soda. Brush a seven-inch crepe pan lightly with butter or margarine. Spoon about two or three tablespoons of the batter into the pan, rotating the pan so that the batter coats it evenly and thinly. Cook over medium heat until edges of pancake are brown. Loosen edges of pancake with a knife and turn in pan and brown on other side. Stack pancakes, cover and keep warm in a 300-degree oven until all of the pancakes have been made. When ready to serve, fill with either apple-sour cream filling or apricot-cheese filling. Serve immediately. Makes 16 pancakes.

APPLE-SOUR CREAM FILLING

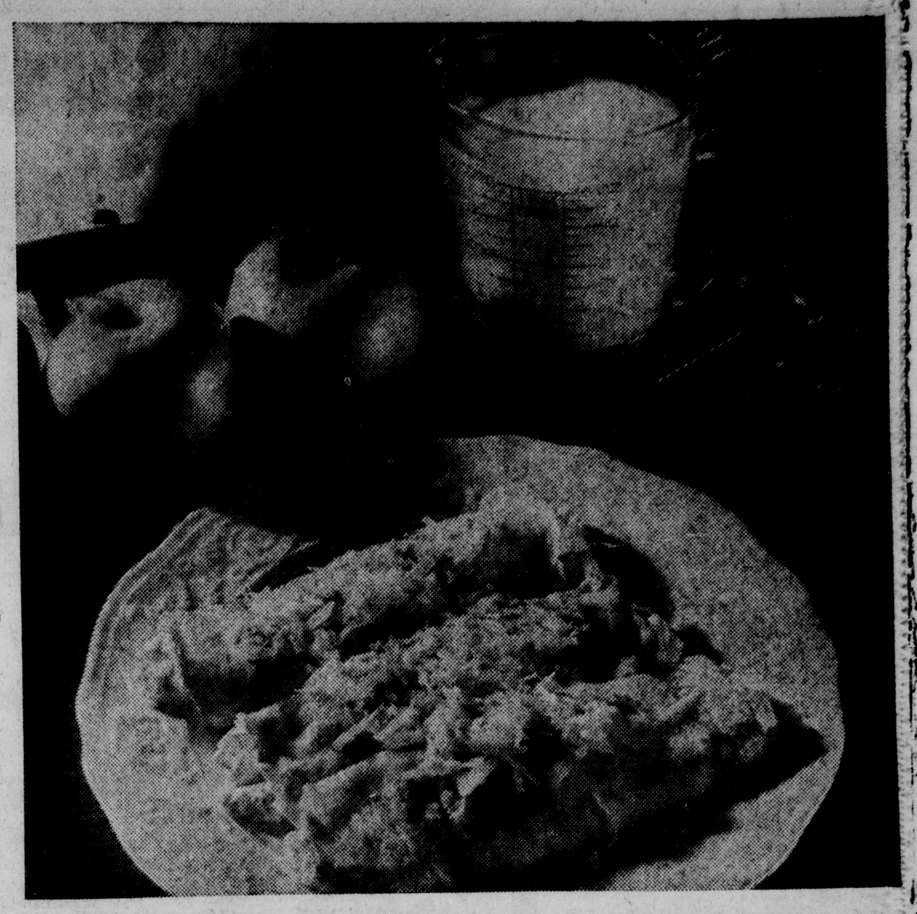
1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) pie-sliced apples, drained and chopped
2 cups (1 pint) dairy sour cream
2 packages (6 ounces each) Austrian Swiss cheese, grated

At serving time, mix apples and sour cream. Spoon some of the sour cream mixture on each pancake. Sprinkle filling with some of the grated Austrian Swiss cheese. Roll up pancake, enclosing the filling. If desired, serve sprinkled with additional finely grated Austrian Swiss cheese.

APRICOT-CHEESE FILLING

1 cup apricot preserves
½ cup walnuts, ground
1 package (6 ounces) Austrian Swiss cheese, grated

Spread each pancake with apricot preserves. Sprinkle with ground walnuts and grated Austrian Swiss cheese. Roll up pancake, enclosing the filling.



Progress-Bulletin Food and Recipes

Serve handful of sweetness

Nutritious fruit pies and frozen delights may be a problem to serve when you are boating or camping, so why not substitute nourishing desserts which can be eaten out of hand? Dried fruits like prunes or apricots offer vitamin A and iron. Fresh fruits satisfy the thirsty ones as well as offering essential vitamins and minerals. Instant puddings can be "instantly" made in shakers or jars and then are easily served in paper cups.

Stretch roast

Juicy beef roasts are an economical buy, especially if you plan more than one meal around them. Home economists suggest that you use leftovers for beef pies, casseroles or beef sandwiches au jus to stretch the enjoyment of beef further.

As Selma sees it

The thinner person seems to be younger

DEAR SELMA:

I'm very independent and very fat. I get disgusted with other people telling me what to do — that I should reduce and that I shouldn't wear the young styles I prefer. How can I shut them off? — Miss P. B.

Dear Miss P. B.:

If you weren't interested in losing the weight, why did you write to me? Be independent from excess food. Shut off those people by becoming slim and attractive. Then even you will really like what you see in young styles because they will be more appropriate. The thinner we become, the younger we appear.

DEAR SELMA:

My husband loves the outdoors. He is a hunter, a fisherman, a hiker, a bird watcher, a nature photographer — you name it, if it is in the outdoors, he does it. Being 75 pounds overweight, I never go with him, even though he is always asking me to go along. How can I cope with the situation? — Mrs. O. W.

Dear Mrs. O. W.:

The more things a husband and wife do together, the happier they are apt to be — it's something called togetherness. It sounds to me as though your husband is getting out and living, while you sit around the house and die a little each day as you stuff yourself and get fatter and fatter. The way to cope with the situation is to get up off your deadend — and come alive — get rid of your fat and live with your husband instead of dying of boredom. You are important enough to make it important. Do it.

Jam industry is a help to busy women

Busy, innovative women can look to the jam, jelly and preserve industry for new food ideas that are quick, impressive and good. This Fresh Apricot Tart, a combination of convenience products with only one "from scratch" step, is an example. Apricot jam makes a quick glaze. Or you can make it with fresh strawberries with a strawberry jelly glaze.

The professional look of the tart is obtained by glazing the fresh or canned fruit with a jar of jelly or preserves that has been warmed over low heat. The fruit can vary with the season and matching flavors of jelly or preserves are always available. Strawberry jelly or currant jelly work well with fresh strawberries, but in most cases the jam or preserve works best.

Blueberry jam works with blueberries, boysenberry with boysenberries and so on. After the tart is chilled the crust is sprinkled with confectioners sugar and garnished with squiggles of frozen whipped topping or whipped cream.

For those who have developed the taste for it, the rich flavor of espresso is a good companion. The Italians serve it with lemon peel and the French without.

FRESH APRICOT TART
Creame Patisserie
6 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
½ cup flour
2½ cups scalded milk
8 thin slices sponge cake or lady fingers
Topping
¼ cup kirsch brandy
1 can (1 pound 14 ounces) apricot halves, well drained
1 jar (10 ounces) apricot preserves
Confectioners' sugar
Whipped topping or whipped cream

Prepare your favorite pie crust or use a top quality ready-made frozen crust. For deeper tart, transfer slightly thawed crust to 9 inch glass pie plate. Pinch crust over edges to keep it from shrinking and pierce bottom of crust with fork. Bake as directed.

For the Creme Patisserie, beat egg yolks, sugar and flour. Add milk a little at a time, blending well after each addition. Cook over low flame, stirring constantly, until smooth and thick. Cover surface with plastic wrap and cool thoroughly.

Then spoon half the creme into the baked pie shell. Top with thin slices of sponge cake or lady fingers. Sprinkle with kirsch. Cover cake with remaining creme and top with apricot halves. Warm apricot preserves over low heat, stirring constantly; brush over apricots. Chill thoroughly. Sprinkle confectioners' sugar over crust and garnish with rosettes or whipped topping or cream. Makes one 9-inch tart.

Preserving kidneys is advanced

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A new technique for preserving kidneys has been developed by three doctors at the UCLA school of medicine.

Drs. Stephen Sacks, Peter Petritsch and Joseph J. Kaufman said the method should facilitate kidney transplants and "workbench surgery"—repairing a kidney outside the patient's body and then sewing it back in place.

The doctors said the new technique is inexpensive and should make it possible for most hospitals to preserve kidneys two to three days. They said it has been used successfully in eight patients.

The most prevalent means of preserving kidneys is the Belzar kidney. But the UCLA doctors said there are only 90 in the nation and many hospitals do not have access to one.

Beer gives vegetable combo zest

"Beer—as good in the pot as in the glass," applies especially when combined with such vegetable favorites as eggplant, zucchini, mushrooms, onions and green pepper. This medley of vegetables is bound to be an all-time favorite!

It's layered with assorted cheeses, such as golden cheddar, Monterey Jack and cream cheese, which when melted spread themselves over layers of vegetables. A delicious tomato sauce enlivens this dish with just the right amount of seasonings. The success secret of this sauce is the bubbling brew, which adds a flavoring medium that is piquant and satisfying.

Medley of vegetables is quite versatile, too. You may serve it as a main dish, together with a summer salad, piping hot French bread and mugs of frothy beer, or as a side dish accompaniment for your main entree. Either way it provides some zesty eating.

SAUCE

1 can tomato soup
1 can (3 ounce) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 can (14½ ounce) stewed tomatoes
½ cup beer
1 can (6 ounce) tomato paste
½ green pepper, diced
1 medium onion, diced
2 teaspoons oregano
½ teaspoon basil
1 teaspoon salt

MEDLEY OF VEGETABLES

1 medium eggplant, peeled and cut in ½-inch slices
2 medium zucchini, cut in ½-inch slices
2 eggs
Cream cheese, 1—3 ounce package
Monterey Jack cheese, 3 large slices, about 4 ounces
Cheddar cheese, about 4 ounces
Sauce

Combine all ingredients for sauce in saucepan. Bring to a boil. Simmer 5 minutes. Dip eggplant and zucchini in egg and saute in margarine approximately 5 minutes on each side. Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Place layer of eggplant in casserole, top with cream cheese and zucchini and cover with sauce. Continue layering, substituting Monterey Jack (3 ounces) and cheddar cheese (3 ounces) for a cream cheese. You'll end up with tomato sauce on top. Then lay a slice of Monterey Jack and a slice of cheddar on top (approximately 1 ounce of each). Place, uncovered, in oven and bake approximately 45 to 50 minutes. Serves 6.

Burger came here in 1904

How could America have existed without the hamburger? Actually, though, ground beef originated with the people of Hamburg, Germany, and made its first appearance in the United States at the 1904 World's Fair held in St. Louis. Its popularity quickly spread across the country and soon each region had its own variation of the hamburger. Clever American homemakers soon discovered numerous uses for ground beef and a whole range of flavorful recipes was born.

Housewife's best friend

Ground beef casseroles are a boon to today's busy cost-conscious homemakers. A pound of ground beef can easily be transformed into a richly flavored casserole with the addition of vegetables, pasta or sauces. And they're perfect for rush days—just make the hearty beef casserole the night before. When you come home, pop it in the oven and relax while your nutritious and tasty supper cooks.

Fix picnic foods before leaving home

Picnic lovers can work less and enjoy more variety by planning ahead. Even cheeseburgers can be prepared ahead of time.

This suggestion comes from the R. T. French Company's test kitchen at Rochester, N.Y. Brown ground beef with an envelope of brown gravy mix, add water plus the zing of Worcestershire sauce and catchup. This recipe provides a burger mixture which can then be spooned into a wide-mouthed vacuum jar to carry along. To finish the delectable cheeseburgers, combine shredded cheese and butter, spread this on the burger rolls and wrap in waxed paper or foil for carying. Come eating time outdoors, all you do is spoon the tote-along burger filling on the rolls.

Picnics and potato salad are go-togethers. But now, potato salad (made the easy way from an envelope of instant potato granules) is handier to pack, tote and eat. Hollow out green peppers, spoon the salad into the shells, then eat in the hand, without muss or fuss.

Today's convenience foods make picnic provisioning carefree and really can make every meal a pcinic.

TOTE ALONG CHEESEBURGERS

- ¼ cup soft butter
- ¼ cup shredded Swiss or American cheese
- 6 hamburger rolls, split
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 envelope (¾ ounce) brown gravy mix
- 1 cup water
- 2 tablespoons catchup
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce

Combine butter and cheese; spread on rolls. Wrap in waxed paper or transparent wrap. Brown ground beef in skillet; pour off excess fat. Stir in contents of gravy mix envelope, water, catchup, and Worcestershire sauce; simmer 5 minutes. Spoon into widemouthed vacuum bottle. At serving time, pour filling onto rolls. Makes 6 servings.

HANDY POTATO SALADS

- 1 envelope (5 servings) instant mashed potato granules
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- ½ cup chopped celery
- 5 to 6 green peppers

Prepare mashed potatoes following directions on package, reducing water to 1¼ cups; stir in mayonnaise and minced onion. Chill. Stir in celery. Cut tops from peppers; remove seeds and membranes, leaving a shell. Spoon potato mixture into pepper shells. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Law wanted no part of taking bull by tail

PAYSON, Utah (UPI) —The long arm of the law grabbed the bull by the tail here Tuesday but decided it wasn't worth it.

City policeman Roger Anderson answered a call this morning that some cattle were running loose on the Payson Canyon Road. When he arrived he was confronted by two dozen ornery Brahma bulls and bucking horses —escapers from rodeo pens nearby.

His dispatcher asked Anderson if he was going to drive the animals back to their corral, but the policeman said, "I don't know if I want to try. Some of those big bulls have blood in their eyes."

Anderson called for help from the rodeo's wranglers and they returned the bulls and horses to their pens.

Contest produces money-saving meatless recipes

NEW YORK (UPI) —A bank that sponsored a money-saving recipe contest here learned as much about feminine logic as it did about economizin. Many contestants whose recipes called for leftovers did not include the cost of leftovers in their planning.

But some recipes submitted to the National Bank of North America in that contest nearly three and a half years ago still represent good value—especially for meatless meals planned in anticpation of rising prices when the beef price freeze ends Sept. 12.

Here are a week's worth of easy and economical meatless main dishes, two of them from the bank contest.

FISH LOAF

Mrs. Gladys Weston, Jericho, N.Y., submitted this fish loaf:

Mix together one and one-half pounds of ground raw haddock or cod, 1 large onion, grated, 1 teaspoon of salt, three-fourths teaspoon of pepper, cup of matzo meal, 3 eggs, beaten, 2 cups of milk and 1 heaping teaspoon of butter, melted. Place mixture in a greased ring mold and bake, uncovered, in a pan of hot water in a 350-degree oven for 45 minutes, or until a knife blade inserted in the deepest part of the mold comes out clean. Makes about 6 to 8 servings. (Cracker meal can be substituted for the matzo meal and margarine for the butter. You can cut the cost still more by using liquefied powdered milk instead of the fluid variety.)

BEAN CASSEROLE

With one minor change, Lebanese bean casserole from Mary M. Connors, Fort Saratoga, N.Y., makes a really low cost meatless main dish. To supplement the incomplete protein in the beans, serve cheese wedges with apples or pears for dessert. For the casserole, soak 1 pound of dried great northern beans overnight in water to cover well. The next day, bring to boil and simmer, covered, 30 to 40 minutes, or until tender. Add more water if necessary. Drain the cooked beans and mix them with one and one-half cans of condensed tomato soup, 1 medium to large onion, minced, one and one-half teaspoons of dry mustard, one half cup of maple syrup (or maple-flavored syrup), one-half teaspoon of salt and three-fourths teaspoon of freshly ground pepper. Pour into a 2-quart bean pot or casserole or an eight by twelve by one and one-half inch baking dish. Bake in a preheaetd 350-degree oven 45 minutes. Serves 8.

Turkey soup

Turkey is a good buy for regular family meals. Buy a bird large enough for four meals. Serve it stuffed for the first dinner. Use leftovers for a casserole and hot or cold sandwiches for two more. When the carcass is almost all that's left, make a main dish soup with dumplings. Recipes for the soup and a casserole follow.

Break up the carcass and place it in a large saucepan with any leftover stuffing. Cover with cold water; bring slowly to boil, reduce heat and simmer about 2 hours, or until a rich broth forms. Add water from time to time, as necessary. Strain. Strip any meat from the carcass and return it to the broth. Add any leftover vegetables or a package of frozen mixed vegetables or both. Taste and add salt and pepper as necessary. Simmer 30 minutes more.

Make dumplings from biscuit mix, following package directions, but adding one-fourth to one-third cup of wheat germ to the mix before adding liquid. Bring soup to boil, drop in dumplings and cook as mix label directs. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

TURKEY CASSEROLE

This range-top casserole uses left-over cubed turkey. It can be prepared and cooked in 30 minutes or less.

Cook one-third cup of chopped onion until golden in 2 tablespoons of preheated salad oil in a 4-quart pot. Add three and one-half cups of water and bring to boil; add 2 beef bouillon cubes, 1 teaspoon of dry mustard and 6 cups (an 8-ounce package) of medium egg noodles. Cover and simmer 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in 3 cups of cubed leftover turkey, 1 cup of sliced celery and 1 medium green pepper, stemmed, seeded and diced. Cover and simmer 6 to 8 minutes more, or until noodles and vegetables are tender. Stir occasionally. Stir in one-fourth cup of chopped fresh parsley or 1 tablespoon of dried parsley flakes. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes 4 servings.

CHEESE LOAF

Cheese loaf is an unusual variation on the popular maraconi and cheese casserole. Lightly mix 1 pound of sharp cheddar cheese, shredded, with 1 (4-ounce) jar of drained pimientos, chopped and 1 cup of soft bread crumbs. Sprinkle mix with juice of 1 lemon. Beat 3 eggs with 1 cup of milk and 1 teaspoon of salt and add to the cheese mixture. Pour in a well-buttered two and one-half to three-quart flameproof casserole. Bake in a preheated, 350 degree oven about 30 minutes until firm but not too firm. While loaf bakes, cook about half of an 8-ounce package of spaghetti in boiling salted water. Drain spaghetti well and spoon-over the hot cheese loaf. Dot generously with butter or margarine and sprinkle generously with paprika. Run casserole under broiler until bubbling hot and lightly browned. Makes about six servings.

Pickled Tuna

Tuna en escabeche, or pickled tuna, is plain canned tuna served with a quick and easy tomato-based cocktail sauce. In a medium saucepan heat 2 tablespoons of salad oil, one-half cup of chopped sweet onion, 2 tablespoons of chopped red bell pepper or pimiento and 1 clove of garlic minced. Cook over medium heat five minutes, or until onion is tender. Add 1 (8-ounce) can of tomato sauce, 1 cup of orange juice, 1 tablespoon of lemon juice, 3 tablespoons of white wine or vermouth, one-fourth teaspoon each of salt and dry mustard and one-eighth teaspoon of pepper; simmer, uncovered, 15 minutes. Cool to room temperature before serving with chunks of tuna on shredded lettuce. Makes enough for 2 (six and one-half or seven-ounce) cans of tuna, or 3 servings. If you omit the wine, add a little extra lemon and orange juice to taste.

Fat marbling means 'tender'

In buying beef, the best type of fat distribution within the muscles is a fine needle type running throughout the beef like a cobweb. This marbling of fat indicates the beef will be tender and juicy.

Dried fruit comes to the rescue in stretching meat

There's an evolution going on . . . in how we shop, in how we eat. Today's menu planner can choose from the widest selection ever—but prices are the highest ever, too! It's time for everyone to take a look at some long-standing favorites that can play a new role in meal planning.

Supermarkets are one group taking that look. Many are setting up new departments relevant to the needs of today's shoppers. The newest change is in dried fruits, which are often in a department all their own. Take a look for yourself—have they moved in your store?

The new role of dried fruits is to extend meat, dairy and vegetable dishes without skimping on quality. Try stretching meat with pitted prunes in easy stir-fry recipes, a meat saving idea that's no news to Chinese cooks.

You'll see how well the idea works, when you try economical Gin-Sun Sweet Pork. It's a stir-fry of pork, and succulent vegetables. A sprinkling of snipped prunes and a handful of whole pitted fruits sweeten and stretch this budget meal to serve 6.

Another stir-fried dish, Chinese Sweet and Sour Chicken, relies on dimpled pitted prunes to stretch 2½ pounds of frying chicken to serve 6. (It takes double the chicken to serve 6 if it's Southern fried. With all this economy magic it's no wonder dried fruits make naturally good new departments in the supermarket.

GIN-SUN SWEET PORK

2 tablespoons oil
2 cloves garlic, minced
3 slices fresh ginger
1 pound thin-sliced boneless pork
¾ cup snipped pitted prunes
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1½ cups water
1 bouillon cube
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 tablespoons sherry
1 green pepper, sliced
2 medium onions, cut in thin wedges
¼ cup sliced water chestnuts
8 whole pitted prunes

Heat oil in a wok or skillet with garlic and ginger. Brown bite-sized pork slices on both sides, remove from pan. Discard ginger and garlic. Toss snipped prunes with cornstarch; add water, bouillon cube, soy sauce and sherry. Add green pepper, onion and water chestnuts to pan; cook for a minute or two, stirring constantly. Add snipped prunes and liquid; cook, stirring, until the sauce is thickened and smooth. Add whole prunes and meat; heat briefly. Serve with rice. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CHINESE SWEET AND SOUR CHICKEN

Frying chicken, about 2½ pounds
2 tablespoons oil
1 cup pitted prunes, finely snipped
2 cups water
¼ cup brown sugar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, dry mustard
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
Salt, pepper

Cut chicken through the bone, Chinese style (i.e. separate wings, divide breast portions into four, thighs and drumsticks into two pieces. Remove small rib bones, and wing tips, if desired.) Heat oil in a wok or large skillet, on the range or over charcoal, and slowly brown chicken pieces on all sides, stirring often. Push browned chicken to one side of pan. Toss snipped prunes with water, sugar cornstarch, spices and monosodium glutamate. Add to pan; cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is clear. Add vinegar. Return chicken to the sauce, cover pan; simmer until chicken is tender, about 20 minutes. Taste and adjust seasoning with salt and pepper to taste. Garnish with whole prunes. Serve with rice. Makes 6 servings.

Plentiful apples used in old recipe

Tradition tells us apple seedlings sprang to light throughout the Midwest, thanks to Johnny Appleseed.

John Chapman (Johnny Appleseed) started his nursery career in Pennsylvania, spent 25 years in Ohio and later lived in Indiana. It's no wonder that homemakers of the apple-producing Hoosier state turned to recipes for their plentiful fruit.

Vincennes was the leading French settlement of Indiana, and from there comes an old French recipe for Delmonico Apples. This was originally served as an accompaniment with turkey or chicken at Christmas, but it's delicious as a dessert any time of the year.

Delmonico Apples is easy and economical since it uses applesauce combined with peach slices. Use fresh applesauce or canned. Stock up on canned peaches when they're on sale at your supermarket.

Macaroons and slivered almonds add extra texture to this brown sugar-flavored treat. Serve warm with a dollop of whipped cream.

DELMONICO APPLES

3 cups applesauce, fresh or canned
1 cup slice peaches
12 almond or coconut macaroons
¼ cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup slivered almonds

Mash peach slices and mix with applesauce. Crumble 8 of the macaroons. Mix these and the ¼ cup brown sugar through the fruit. Pour into a 11-½ x 1½ inch baking dish or casserole. Dot with butter, slivered almonds and the remaining macaroons, crumbled. Bake in a 300-degree oven for 2 hours. Top with whipped cream before serving.

How to choose tender beef

Top quality beef is readily available but some cuts are naturally more tender than others. Cuts from the supportive muscles which are exercised less will be most tender—those from the rib and loin sections. Beef cuts from more active muscles—chuck or shoulder, rump and round—will be less tender but lean and flavorful, too.

Every recipe file has room for a new potato salad

You probably already have your own favorite recipe for potato salad and may not care to consider others. But do read the following recipe for Chef's Secret Potato Salad before you make that decision. There's more to it than meets the eye. You may find it goes a step further than your old recipe in helping to solve menu planning problems.

Like all potato salads, Chef's Secret Potato Salad is highly nutritious. Don't believe the old wives' tale that potatoes are "just a starch." The starch or carbohydrate in potatoes is actually a very important source of energy for your body. In fact, the recommended daily allowance for carbohydrate is over three times that for protein! In addition, a medium-size potato (3 per pound) will provide you with 1-3rd the vitamin C you need every day. Potatoes also contribute vitamin B-1 and niacin, as well as iron and important trace minerals to your daily diet. Potato salad is always economical, too. These days we're all looking for ways to make the most of our food dollars. Potatoes do just that. They're popular with everyone so you know there won't be any waste. They're great appetite-satisfiers, too. Moreover, they combine well with other foods to stretch main dish servings and lower the cost per serving of higher-priced foods.

But Chef's Secret Potato Salad offers something more. It's specially created for dieters! It might surprise you to know that potato salad doesn't have to be fattening. If you're having problems planning family menus that also satisfy the special needs of a dieter, potato salad can come to the rescue.

Potatoes themselves are actually relatively low in calories. A medium-size potato, peeled before cooking, is only 80 calories—less than a pear of the same size! The real calorie-adders are the rich dressings. So stay away from the mayonnaise-type dressings so typical of American potato salads and try using a vinaigrette dressing like the one for Chef's Secret Potato Salad. The vinegar and herbs add zesty flavor for almost no calories. If you add the dressing to the potatoes while they're still hot, they'll marinate while chilling in the refrigerator to bring out the full-bodied flavor of the dressing.

Chef's Secret Potato Salad also provides a delicious Mimosa Dressing which those who aren't counting calories can add. It's a good and easy way to satisfy both dieters and nondieters.

Knowing all the good things Chef's Secret Potato Salad has to offer, doesn't it make sense to give it a try? It may become your new favorite recipe for potato salad.

CHEF'S SECRET POTATO SALAD
Potato Salad

12 medium potatoes (4 pounds), peeled
2-3rds cup vinegar
¼ cup salad oil
½ cup water
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 envelope Italian salad dressing mix

MIMOSA DRESSING
1 cup mayonnaise
2 hard-cooked eggs, quartered
1 small red onion, thinly sliced
Romaine lettuce leaves (optional)

Steam potatoes 25 minutes or until tender. Meanwhile, to make dressing-marinade, in jar with lid, combine vinegar, oil, water, mustard and salad dressing mix. Shake to mix well.

When potatoes are tender, drain and slice into large bowl. Pour dressing over potatoes; cover and refrigerate, to chill and marinate. To prepare salad for picnic, pour excess dressing from potato salad and reserve. Pack salad in large covered container.

MIMOSA DRESSING: Stir reserved dressing into mayonnaise. Separate hard-cooked egg yolks from whites. Sieve yolks and stir into mayonnaise. Pack Mimosa Dressing in jar with tight fitting lid. Add egg whites and onions to salad. Refrigerate salad and dressing until picnic time. To serve, arrange salad in lettuce-lined bowl, if desired. Pass Mimosa Dressing. Makes 12 servings.

Carry salad and dressing to picnic site in insulated bags or containers.

Double your pleasure; halve work

Twice the taste, twice less effort, goes into lunchbox packing if you roast two chickens at one time. Use one for dinner and one for delicious lunchbox chicken salad or sandwiches. Drumsticks delight for lunchbox packing, too, and they are so nourishing with their complete protein.

Here's a clever, plan-ahead lunchbox trick. Make a lot of Crispy Herb Chicken by the oven-frying method. It provides for the evening meal plus delicious leftovers for lunchboxes. The crispy coating helps keep the chicken tender and moist for lunchbox enjoyment.

CRISPY HERB CHICKEN

2 broiler-fryer chickens, cut in serving pieces
½ cup butter or margarine
1 package (8 ounces) herb seasoned stuffing, crushed
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 tablespoons water

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Put butter in baking pan and place in oven until melted. Meanwhile combine crushed stuffing and salt in a plastic bag. Dip chicken pieces into egg that has been beaten with water. Then shake chicken, a few pieces at a time, in the bag until well coated.

Place chicken skin side down in melted butter. Don't layer in pan. Bake uncovered in 425 degrees 30 minutes; turn and continue baking for 15 minutes or until tender. Makes 8 servings.

Take advantage of beef sales

Next time there's a sale on the beef cuts your family enjoys most, buy enough for several meals. The consumer specialists at the California Beef Council tell us that beef freezes well when wrapped carefully in moisture-proof wrap. And you'll have good meals at your fingertips.

Department of Agriculture has ideas for best buys

Pears have been a favorite fruit with Americans for generations, and now is the time to buy them! Bartlett pears — the most popular variety — always come to market ahead of other pear varieties. In stores across the country Bartlett pears from the new crop in California, Oregon and Washington are abundantly available.

Most of us, when we take home the first pears of the season, probably eat them fresh out-of-hand, or perhaps put them in a fresh fruit salad or in fruit cups. With their bland flavor they go well with tart and juicy fruits.

But for a change of pace in summer eating, baked pears are a delightful dessert. Why not try these interesting recipes.

BAKED PEARS

6 firm pears
½ cup boiling water
¼ cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Whipped cream garnish

Wash and pare the pears; cut in half, core, and put into a shallow baking dish with the hollow side up. Combine boiling water, brown sugar, and lemon juice. Pour over pears and sprinkle with brown sugar mixed with cinnamon. Bake, uncovered, in 400-degree oven until tender, about 45 to 60 minutes. Serve pears hot or chilled, garnish with whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

BARTLETT READ PUDDING

3 or 4 fresh Bartlett pears
¼ cup lemon juice
2 cups stale bread cubes
1-3rd cup melted butter
¼ cup sugar
¼ teasoon salt
¼ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup raisins
Whipped cream or ice cream

Pare, halve and core pears; dice to measure 3 cups. Mix with lemon juice. Mix bread, butter, sugar, salt and spice. Place ½ of the combination in buttered 1½ quart casserole; top with pears, raisins and remaining bread. Bake, covered, in 350 degree oven 15 minutes. Uncover; bake 20 minutes longer. Serve with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream, if desired. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

ANYTIME IS APPLESAUCE TIME

Applesauce rates high as a popular and economical canned fruit. Homemakers often turn to versatile applesauce for use as a dessert, a breakfast dish, a pie and cake ingredient, as a topping for waffles and pancakes, and for use as a side dish to accompany meats.

Applesauce is made from apples hand-picked in the firm, ripe state of maturity. Most applesauce canners use a blend of several varieties of apples to get just the right flavor and texture for their product.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says the the most desirable applesauce has firm particles and feels "crisp" when chewed. You may also find a chunky style applesauce containing small pieces of apple which are crisp, but tender, and vary in size. Applesauce may come either sweetened or unsweetended and may have spices, flavorings, or artificial coloring added.

Makers of applesauce may use U.S. grade standards as guides to quality. These grade standards are based on flavor, color, consistency, texture, and freedom from seed particles, peel, and other defects.

The best quality applesauce — U.S. Grade A or Fancy — tastes the best and can be used when looks count the most. In a high quality product, there's very little separation of liquid from the sauce when it's removed from the can.

Grade A or Fancy also wil will have a pleasing natural color (light golden, creamy white, or slightly greenish tinge) and a distinct "fruity" flavor.

GREAT IDEAS FOR GRAPES

Fresh grapes are available now at your supermarket, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Most table grapes are grown in California. Here are the four leading varieties available in early fall:

Thompson Seedless, the most important table variety, has light green grapes that are medium to large-sized. Available until October.

Emperor has large red grapes and is available September to April.

Tokay, available September through November, has large dark-red fruit with thick skin.

Ribier, available through October, has large jet black grapes.

Select well-colored, plump grapes that are ripe, as immature grapes will not ripen on standing. Refrigerate not more than 3 to 5 days.

MELONS WITH GRAPES AND CHICKEN

2 cantaloupes
1 cold cooked chicken
1 pound seedless grapes
1 cup mayonnaise
½ cup cream
2 tablespoons chopped chutney
2 teaspoons curry powder
Cream

Peel the melons and cut them into wedges. Slice the meat of the chicken and arrange the slices on a platter with the melon wedges and seedless white grapes, skinned. Red grapes may be used, halved and seeded. Mix together with mayonnaise, cream and chopped chutney. Set the dressing aside. Add curry powder, to taste, with a little cream until it is smooth, and add it to the dressing. Pour the dressing over the salad. Serve the salad chilled and garnished with parsley. Serves 8.

GRAPE-WINE SALAD

¼ pound white seedless grapes
3 fresh peaches
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
¾ cup boiling water
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup sugar
2 cups dry white wine

Peel peaches, cut in half and stone. Dip peaches in lemon juice to prevent darkening. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in boiling water. Add lemon juice, sugar and wine. Spoon a layer of gelatin in bottom of a chilled 9-inch mold. Press peach halves around bottom and place a small cluster of grapes in center. Chill until almost set. Combine remaining grapes with gelatin and spoon on top of peach halves. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serves 6 or 8.

BUYING TIPS — CUCUMBERS AND PEPPERS

The city dweller, whose vegetable garden is most often the market produce counter, doesn't have to be quite as informed abut the details of production as a commercial producer. But, in order to buy wisely, one should be somewhat informed about the farm situation.

One thing to keep track of is the harvest season, because this will tell the consumer whencertain vegetables should be abundant and at a good price. Another item to keep track of is the weather as it relates to various produce. Remember the high-priced onions last spring? Adverse weather had damaged the spring crop, resulting in a shortage of onions and high prices.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that cucumbers and peppers should be in good supply in the market now. Here are some tips on how to pick the best of the crop:

CUCUMBERS — Look for cucumbers with good green color which are firm over their entire length. They should be well-shaped and well-developed, but should not be too large in diameter. Good cucumbers typically have many small lumps on their surfaces. They may also have some white or greenish-

Chicken wings way into summer salads

Years ago some wag commented, "A chicken ain't nothing but a bird." Today we all know that a chicken is a bird with great potential. It is one of our most popular meats, especially now with other kinds so high in price. Low in calories and rich in protein, chicken lends itself to all manner of delicious dishes.

One of the nicest ways to use chicken in the summertime is in salads. (It goes farther, too.) And one of the tastiest new salads combines cooked chicken, celery, green pepper, and red pimiento for bright color in a sparkling jel. These ingredients are folded into an unflavored gelatine mixture that's delightfully spiced and freshened with horseradish, pepper sauce, and lime juice.

Since 1889, unflavored gelatine has been a reliable standby for cooks of all seasons who enjoy making molded salads and desserts with selected, fresh ingredients. Gelatine contains no sugar or flavoring, is odorless and colorless, and so all the good flavor and color of each food emerges true to nature.

Of course, the beauty of making gelled dishes such as this Spicy Chicken Salad Mold is that you prepare them ahead and they simply wait, keeping their cool in the refrigerator, until serving time.

As a matter of fact, on a hot summer day your molded salad may look a bit fresher and more debonair than the hostess. Make it early in the morning or better yet the night before, and you can keep your cool.

SPICY CHICKEN SALAD MOLD

3½ cups water, divided
½ cup lime juice
3 tablespoons prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
2 cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup diced celery
½ cup diced green pepper
¼ cup diced drained pimiento

In medium saucepan, combine 3 cups water, lime juice, horseradish, salt, and Tabasco; bring to a boil, simmer 10 minutes.

In small bowl, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over remaining ½ cup water; let stand until gelatine is moistened, then add to hot liquid. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves, about 2 minutes.

Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in chicken, celery, green pepper, and pimiento. Turn into 6-cup mold; chill until firm. Unmold and garnish, if desired, with water cress and lemon or lime slices. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Ground beef for new cooks

Ground beef is always a favorite for beginning cooks. Teach your daughter or son to hold his own in the kitchen—start with a basic beef loaf that's tasty and easy. Graduating to a pot roast boosts the ego, but the ease and economy remain. Teach them early to use nutritious and satisfying beef and they will be off to a good start in planning healthful meals.

Midwest state worried over gypsy moths

URBANA, Ill. (UPI) —Illinois residents returning from areas with gypsy moth populations have been urged to check their vehicles for egg masses resembling a piece of sponge.

A University of Illinois Extension Service entomologist issued the warning recently after announcing that two gypsy moths have been trapped in Illinois.

The moths cause serious defoliation of trees in the eastern United States and could become a problem if they become established in Illinois, entomologist Roscoe Randell said.

Randell said one gypsy moth was found Aug. 21 in Palos Township in southern Cook County and the other Aug. 23 in Springfield.

"The fact that only two gypsy moths have been found in Illinois doesn't mean that we can forget the problem", Randell said. "Once the pests become established they can cause severe tree loss."

He said the moths were first reported in New Jersey in 1968 and during the following two summers 17,855 acres of trees were defoliated. In 1971, he said, one million oaks, 39,000 eastern hemlocks and 8,000 white pine trees were killed in New Jersey by gypsy moths.

Randell urged Illinois residents who visited infested areas to check their vehicles for the egg masses, which may contain from 50 to 800 eggs.

Avoid overgrown cucumbers which are large in diameter and have a dull color, turning yellowish. Also avoid cucumbers with withered or shriveled ends — signs of toughness and bitter flavor.

BELL PEPPERS — Most peppers in the market are the sweet green variety. Fully matured peppers of the same type have a bright red color and are good for colorful garnishes or mixing with the green pepper in relishes. The red peppers are usually harder to find.

When buying the green peppers look for medium to dark green color, glossy sheen, relatively heavy weight, and firm walls or sides.

Avoid peppers with very thin walls (shown by light weight and flimsy sides), peppers that are wilted or flabby with cuts or punctures through the walls, and peppers with soft watery spots on the sides (evidence of decay).

EGG GRADING REGULATIONS

Minor changes intended to update and clarify U.S. grade standards for shell eggs and the regulations for use of the voluntary federal-state egg grading service have been proposed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The proposed changes would:

—drop movement of the air cell within eggs as a factor in determining quality.

—slightly increase the tolerances for eggs which do not measure up to quality and shell requirements specified for consumer grades (sold at retail) and procurement grades (sold to institutions).

—require plants using the grading program to reduce the iron content of water used to wash eggs to two parts per million or less.

—provide a definition of "nest run egg."

The proposals were published in the Aug. 3 Federal Register.

FOR EVENINGS, a metallic sweater and soft bow blouse are combined with a refined donegal plaid skirt from the fall sportswear collection.

At JCPenney preview

Fall fashions forecasted

By MARY REMILLARD
Women's Editor

The word is sweaters, the layered look, the "slinky-type" black for evening and the maxicoat for winter.

That's the story of fashion for JCPenney across the nation right now, but particularly in the 400 Penney stores in 11 western states, including Alaska and Haaii.

More fashion trends are established in Southern California than anywhere else in the country. And keeping up to the minute on these trends is JCPenney with its stores placed strategically across the United States.

In order that the vast Penney operations story might be told, the department store managers from many of the western states invited women's editors and television personnel to attend a two day seminar "JCPenney Fashion Dimensions 1973" aboard the Queen Mary at Long Beach.

In a series of fashion shows, lectures, tours of Cal Mart and of Penney offices there as well as the 750,000 square foot Distribution Center at Buena Park, the editors had a first-hand view of fashion trends for women, men and children and the method by which they are put together by a large chain of department stores.

Fashion-conscious women will watch for the put together look, the neat and tidy look and the total look this fall. Accessories are great, and for the first time in recent years, skirts outnumber pants.

The shows included the long skirt look of the F. Scott Fitzgerald era, matched by the cloche hat, long sweater, the head band. Even the men will be wearing the Fisherman's knit sweater, the pea jacket and the turtle neck look.

In every woman's wardrobe Penney's has put a collection of the sleeved and sleeveless fanny sweaters and suits galore.

Colors for daytime are largely wines and deep greens with plaids getting a great deal of attention, and for evening there is black and brown in styles both full flowing and fitted. For next spring, watch for shades of wheat.

Even lingerie has lost its tailored look in favor of the era of Ginger Rogers.

Other fashions favored by Penney buyers are the fun furs - chubby jackets with fabric trim, the three-quarter length coat with ocelot-dyed rabbit trim, and the tweed coat in several lengths.

Agajn this year the cashmere pant coat with tie belt is already a fashion leader.

What are women wearing for evening? Penney's showed navy and black jersey with interesting sequin jackets and halter backs.

And jewelry?

Although the Indian jewelry is still an important accessory, the newest trend is in African trading beads, bright and colorful.

Shoes, too, resemble the F. Scott Fitzgerald era, slightly higher, but with bulky heels and platform soles.

It's a complete story of excitement for the young and nostalgia for their parents.

How does JCPenny put this all together?

It's a big story, but in a few words it means buyers in Los Angeles, Dallas, Miami and New York bring their selections together and from these samples, fashions in menswear, women's dresses, sportswear, coats, shoes and the like are selected for distribution across the nation.

Although much of the fashion selection comes from New York, within the last several years Los Angeles has cornered the sportswear market so that today from 60 to 70 per cent of the selections are coming from Southern California. In Misses and Juniors wear the western market is also growing and now western buyers can account for almost 40 per cent of the selections.

Where there was only a one per cent price change from the fall of 1972 to the present, William H. Fox, head of the JCPenney Los Angeles buying office, and Dwight J. Sloat, branch office distribution manager, say that though they are governed by the price code now, it is inevitable that there will be an increase.

While they have always planned their seasons conservatively regarding distribution, the present economic outlook will cause the company to plan this year even more conservatively, officials say.

The Fashion Distribution facility at Buena Park performs the physical distribution operation for fashion apparel. Shipments of fashion merchandise from New York arrive at Buena Park only four days after departing the East Coast in specially equipped vans capable of carrying 20,000 dresses. These gowns move on hangers on an overhead rail system in the center where they are priced and, by means of an IBM system, are dispatched to loading stations and trasported to 400 stores in the Western Region.

Penney's has for some time been involved in consumer education. Their program seeks to enable individuals to use their talents and resources in securing maximum satisfaction in everyday life, according to Grace Richardson, who is editor of publications, education and consumer relations department for J. C. Penney Co.

The company plays an important role by developing educational materials and services. These are made available to educators in this area by contacting W. J. Paprocki, Montclair Plaza Penney store manager, as a public service.

PLAIDS and tiny floral prints are carefully coordinated and designed for each other in this ensemble of 100 per cent polyester from JCPenney's fall styles.

Baptist Women set patio potluck dinner

A patio potluck supper is in store for the husbands and guests of the members of American Baptist Women of Bethany Baptist Church on Friday.

The 6:30 p.m. dinner will be at the home of Paul McGannon, 231 Armsley Square, Ontario.

Special speakers for the evening are Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bekendam of Chino. Mrs. Bekendam is the regional representative for the "Match 2" job therapy program which is an interfaith rehabilitation organization.

The "M 2" program means a person in prison is matched with a person on the outside for the purpose of visitation until they are released. Then a friendly contact is kept until the prisoner is established in society. The organization finds places to live and jobs.

Mrs. Bekendam works primarily with women at the California Institution for Women at Frontera and her husbands sponsors work at CIM in Chino.

The couple will also discuss foster children. They care for several of these youngsters in their home.

Mrs. Martin Grisso will present several organ selections. Hosting the evening are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cheatwood and Mr. and Mrs. E.H. McGannon.

Singletons schedule demonstration

A demonstration on "Hatha Yoga" will be featured at the meeting of the Singletons of Upland and Ontario on Thursday at 8 p.m. at the First Methodist Church, Upland.

MEETIN' & EATIN' AT BETSY ROSS

By Gene Neighbors

HI NEIGHBORS:

Wow! Never before in our history (since 1926) have things been in such an uproar as the problems we've been having with suppliers and growers and the prices we have to pay for the foods we use in our coffee shoppes.

We believe you know all too well how darn expensive it's been just to feed your own household. We have held the line on our prices as best we have been able and we will continue to do so for as long as we can.

We introduced some new 95c breakfast specials and customers in all our 5 restaurants have told us how much they appreciated these money-savers.

Speaking of money . . . if you want to meet real honest folks drop in at our store in Glendora. One of the customers over there found an envelope with over $1000.00 in it. Seems a local businessman stopped by to eat and lost it near our restaurant. The customer who found the money turned it in to the police department and the businessman identified it later and he was sure glad to get his money back.

I warn you—you have to be real hard to please if you can't find a sandwich and price to fit your taste and pocketbook. We have no less than 14 different and delicious sandwiches that are made fresh to your order—when you order them.

You know, we are all kids at heart and it's especially nice to have a birthday party with family and friends at prices that you can afford. Well, we have six different party plans starting from one dollar per person (and we supply all the extra goodies). So ask for our special special party plan list; make your selection; tell us the date and time and leave the rest to us for your next special event, birthday or anniversary party. Our Pomona store just helped GINA MARTINEZ celebrate her tenth birthday. She was ten years old last August 29th. To help her celebrate also were chaperones CHRISTINE MARTINEZ and VERA CAMPOS. Guests were ALICE ANN CAMPOS, MARY ANN CAMPOS, ROSANN CAMPOSS, RACHEL CAMPOS, LAURA PADILLA, CAMILLE PADILLA, KAREN PADILLA, MARISSA GONZALES, KATHY GONZALES, MATHEW AVALOS, STEVIE MARTINEZ, LISA MARTINEZ, KIM STEPHENS, TINA PITTS.

MRS. BURTON HECHTMAN

Hechtman, Tarshes vows said

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin D. Tarshes of San Carlos announce the marriage of their daughter, Barbara Kyle, to Burton Richard Hechtman of Chino.

The garden wedding took place in the home of the bride's parents. The bride fashioned the rings used for the double ring rites.

The bride made her ecru cotton gown which featured multicolored embroidery around the hem and top of the sleeves. She wore a wreath of white roses and baby's breath and carried a nosegay of red carnations, corn flowers, green mums, yellow and white daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Richard Wong Sansing of Canoga Park was matron of honor.

The son of Mrs. Ida Hechtman of Chino and the late Joseph Hechtman, the groom chose the bride's brother, Donald Tarshes of Cambridge, Mass., as best man.

After the wedding trip to San Francisco, the couple will reside in Hacienda Heights.

The bride attended C. K. McClatchy High School, Sacramento City College, Chapman College World Campus Afloat and Cal Poly Pomona. She is city editor for Intersuburban Hometown Newspapers.

The groom graduated from Chino High School and Cal Poly, Pomona. He is assistant manager of Gemco.

Both are members of Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity.

Stanley Hagler, the award-winning jewelry designer, has put together what is called a wardrobe necklace. Made of pearls it breaks down to three separate two strand necklaces and a pin.

BAKE-OFF contest underway

Entries are now being accepted for the 25th annual Pillsbury BAKE-OFF contest. The deadline for applicants is Oct. 31.

Because easy ideas are the way America lives and bakes, the contest will stress easy-to-create recipes which should be family oriented.

Finalists, chosen from across the nation, will vie for $70,000 in prize money at the February competition in Phoenix, Ariz.

For those planning to enter the Refrigerated Crescent Roll Division, Pillsbury suggests that recipes feature ingredients that are easy to buy or that would be commonly on hand. The company reminds contestants to consider recipes which are a good value for the occasion where they will be served and that have eye appeal.

Entry blanks are available at local supermarkets or by writing The Pillsubry Company, BAKE-OFF Contest Entry Blanks, Box 60-38-B, Minneapolis, Minn., 55460.

Winners will be announced in December.

Tinware differs

Many collectors are still confused about the difference between pewter and Britannia ware, although both are alloys of tin.

Pewter has its own peculiar luster with a satiny surface that is "soft" to touch. It is not a shiny, bright metal. Rather it has a dull and often dark appearance.

Discovered some 4,000 years ago, its basic formula is tin and copper with lead and antimony or bismuth added in varying proportions to increase its workability. Generally, the higher the lead content, the cheaper the grade of pewter.

Few of the pewter items made for American colonists have survived for today's collectors. Tin was scarce, often unobtainable, for new pewter so that household pieces often were reworked. When a bowl became unusable, a spoon broken, a plate badly pitted, they were traded to the pewterer for new pieces. The pewterers usually charged the difference in weight between the old and the new plus a small fee for labor.

As industry grew in the new country, there was an increase in the production of pottery, glass and tinware which could be manufactured at fairly reasonable prices. Competition for the household market grew and pewterers began searching for a method of producing these products at a competitive price.

Britannia ware was the answer. Developed in the 1800s in England this pewter-like metal was harder and more workable than pewter. It could be rolled in sheets and stamped or spun into desired shapes. Britannia could be formed over wooden molds, eliminating expensive bronze molds and hand finishing. Mass production of the new ware could be achieved with the use of semi-skilled labor, cutting the cost even further.

Britannia is a trade name registered in England in 1842 by Richard Ford Sturges. This metal resembles pewter closely but Britannia is brighter and lighter in weight than pewter.

A good portion of Britannia was made by the Meriden Britannia Co., Meriden, Conn. Sometimes the firm was known as Meriden B. Company which later produced silver and silver-plated items.

The ware was marked with the word "Britannia" or simply stamped with the letter "B" along with the maker's name and number. Pewter did not have to be marked by the maker but pewterers usually did apply various symbols to their work.

Reed and Barton, a firm that produces both sterling and plated silver today, produced Britannia ware during the mid-1800s.

Old pewter definitely will show signs of age with a roughened or pitted surface. It will have little luster and be darker than new pewter. If you want to polish an old piece of pewter, you will need lots of elbow grease, plain soap and water and a bit of silver polish. However, if the pewter is badly darkened, use a damp cloth with powdered pumice.

You will have no difficulty in finding new pewter to collect and you will find contemporary styles and reproductions made from 18th century molds.

"Is there something wrong with my eyes? Whenever Dolly leaves they get all runny."

Life ends at 25

In youth-oriented nation

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — This nation is so youth oriented that, as one observer says, "Life not only doesn't begin at 40. It ends at 25."

Those who cater to the consumer cater more often to the young consumer. The fashion industry plays up the youthful look. The cosmetics people pledge us dewy fresh skins and firm jawlines for years to come although chronoligically we develop, inevitably, "character lines" in the face, double chins and wrinkled necks. It is, as Billie Burke once told me, that "Nature reaches up and grabs us by the throat."

We're told constantly that the fun scene is the young scene, you've got a lot to live and a lot to give if you're of a certain generation.

Well, youth has all the pluses but it isn't around forever either. Give the rest of us some attention, you out there. We're not all washed up yet.

How television advertising frequently separates the generations is brought forth in amusing light by Bette Clemens, writing in the Council of Better Business Bureaus' current newsletter.

Miss Clemens said she spoke recently to a women's group and afterwards one of the audience came up to give her a copy of something called "Beyond the Fringe" and signed by "F. Clearpointer."

Says Miss Clemens, "It sums up some of what bugs consumers and I think a little laughter helps all of us see things in perspective." Then she quotes from "Beyond the Fringe".

"...In TV commercials, nothing good happens to anyone past the age of discretion. Life not only doesn't begin at 40. It ends at 25.

"Watch the people in these ads for a while. Teen-agers invariably have great fun, glistening teeth, etc. Adults have dentures and denture breath.

"Boys switch hair grease and girls are glad. Men don't have hair. If they do, it's full of dandruff.

"Boys douse themselves with shaving lotion and wait to beat off the women...older men are happy to find something that drains all eight sinuses.

"Young people have fun. Older people have nagging headaches.

"Young people spend all night wolfing hamburgers in amusement parks or (at) beach parties. Older people go to a nearby movie and have to leave because their stomachs are killing them.

"Girls have yards of blonde hair full of body, and boys nuzzle it. Wives have gray hair and their husbands won't take them dancing.

"Men work hard to get ahead, only to have some pimply assistant tell them they have bad breath.

"The teen-age wife makes a cup of coffee and turns her husband into a sex maniac. The older wife washes, irons, mops the floor, puts up with birds on the sink, and her husband comes home with a miserable headache and takes it out on her.

"Girls are always washing their hair. Wives are always washing dishes.

"Teen-agers wear sneakers and sandals. Adults wear support hose.

"Teen-agers spend a lot of time in boats, sports cars and swimming pools. Adults spend their time in doctors' offices and listening to tedious insurance peddlers.

"Young people romp through the fields and sniff flowers. Adults get hay fever and sneeze.

Granted, the author uses exaggeration and a bit of nonsense to make his points.

But one of them is that consumers might better respond to advertising "that has less fiddle-faddle and more hard information on product merits," Miss Clemens writes.

Otherwise, advertising faces the danger of turning the consumer off.

HOME RUN TWINS

Willie McCovey (R) and Dave Kingman of the San Francisco Giants knocked the Dodgers out of first place with back-to-back homers in the sixth inning Tuesday night at Candlestick Park.

L.A. falls behind

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Ron Bryant's statistics aren't the most impressive—except for one—and that's the one they pay off on.

Tuesday night, only a day out of a sick bed, the stocky lefthander pitched a one-hitter for 8 2-3 innings before the flu bug that floored him took its toll. But old reliable Elias Sosa got the last out and the San Francisco Giants had a 3-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I'm not ashamed to say I got tired," Bryant said. "It wasn't the flu that got to me so much as the medicine I've been taking for it. I had trouble breathing and the manager did the right thing."

Charlie Fox said he hated to take Bryant out after he had pitched so well "but the game was on the line and Ron was having trouble breathing."

So Sosa got the final out and the Giants had their fifth victory in a row while the Dodgers went down to their fifth consecutive loss.

The victory was Bryant's 21st against to nine losses and left him as the top winner in the National League and the second biggest winner in the majors behind Wilbur Wood of the Chicago White Sox, who has 22.

"I tried not to think about my own personal record," said Bryant, "because winning meant more to the team that to me. We're trying to win the pennant and any contribution I make is enough for me."

The only hit Bryant gave up was a one-out, seventh inning single to Joe Ferguson.

"Sure, it would have been nice to get a no-hitter," said Bryant, "but honestly, I wasn't thinking along those lines. I only wanted to pitch good enough for the team to win."

The victory dropped the Dodgers out of first place in the National League West, a game behind the Cincinnati Reds, who took over by beating Houston. The Giants remained in third, five games behind.

Homers by Willie McCovey (his 25th) and Dave Kingman (his 18th) in the sixth drove in all the San Francisco runs but they almost weren't enough because the Dodgers saved their only serious threat for the ninth.

In that inning, Bryant hit Tom Paciorek and walked Ferguson. Steve Garvey flied out and Ron Cey forced Paciorek at third. But Bryant, missing badly, walked Willie Crawford and Sosa relieved. He wild pitched across the Dodgers' only run before getting pinch-hitter Willie Davis on a game-ending infield out.

Tito Fuentes singled to open the Giants' sixth and took second on a sacrifice before McCovey homered. One out later, Kingman delivered his.

Dodger Manager Walter Alston, seeing his club knocked out of first place for the first time since June 17, feels the NL West race is far from over.

"Whoever gets hot in the last go-around will win it," said Alston. "We've played poorly in our last four games and we're due to turn it around. At least, I think we're due."

Brewer's back put in traction

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Dodger relief pitcher Jim Brewer, complaining of back pains following Monday's game against the San Francisco Giants, was put in traction Tuesday at Centinela Valley Hospital.

Team physician Dr. Frank Jobe said Brewer might be laid up the remainder of the week, but that there was an outside chance he might be ready to play Thursday when the Dodgers fly home for a crucial series against the Padres.

A Dodger spokesman said Brewer, who has complained of back pains in previous seasons, flew home Tuesday while the team remained in San Francisco for the rest of the series.

Brewer's hospitalization in Inglewood was the first time this season the relief pitcher had been placed in traction.

Huskers have field advantage

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Pepper Rodgers, UCLA's folksy football coach, admits Nebraska will have "a big advantage" when the No. 2-ranked Cornhuskers host the eighth-rated Bruins Saturday.

But the Bruins' third-year coach says he has no idea how many points the home field is worth.

"I really don't have charts for anything," Rodgers told the first weekly meeting of the Southern California Football Writers Tuesday. "I don't know all that kind of stuff."

"If somebody says it makes you a six-point favorite, I'll assume he's right because I don't really know. I've won on the home field and lost on the home field."

In four seasons as head coach at Kansas, Rodgers made two trips to Lincoln, Neb., winning once and losing once.

"They (the Cornhuskers) got a big advantage with the crowd," he said. "But it's a good crowd. I mean they don't throw snowballs or rocks. At least they didn't hit me with anything."

Three Bruins—tight end Gene Bleymaier, nose guard Pat Sweetland and punter Mike Fryer—will miss the Nebraska game with injuries. It was disclosed Tuesday that Bleymaier has a broken leg.

Defensive tackle Gerry Roberts and safetyman Herschel Ramsey are doubtful.

Rodgers, whose Bruins posted a 8-3 record last season including a 20-17 upset of Nebraska in their opener, was asked about the 1973 Cornhuskers. Saturday's game will be on national television.

"They might be a better team than they had last year," he replied. "And they were very good last year. They do one of the finest jobs of coaching of anybody in the country. Offensively, they're superb and they have one of the best designed pass offesnses in the nation.

Holtzman wins 20th

Pickoff move beats Angels

ANAHEIM (UPI)—The Oakland A's came up with one of their basic plays—a pickoff move to second base—and it won them a ball game Tuesday night as they held off the California Angels 4-3 in the ninth inning.

The win, which enabled Oakland starter Ken Holtzman to gain his 20th victory, stretched the A's lead over losing Kansas City to 4½ games in the American League West.

"We had to have some breaks to win," said Oakland's Sal Bando, "but fundamentals also win ball games."

Darold Knowles came on in the ninth in relief with two on and none out and the A's trying to protect a two-run lead. He spun around and picked off Tommy McCraw at second base.

The Angels eventually scored a run in the inning on a hit, a walk and a forecout before Horacio Pina came on to end the game.

Holtzman, who has lost 11, became a 20-game winner for the first time in his career on his second try. He was 19-11 last year.

California's Bill Singer, 17-12, lost a seven-hitter in finishing his 16th complete game.

Bando collected a double and a triple to drive in two of Oakland's runs while Reggie Jackson singled in one and Ray Fosse singled across the other.

California's Mike Epstein accounted for the Angels' first run with a single in the fourth inning, and then hit a sacrifice fly in the eighth for another.

"It's a great thrill to win 20 games because I've never done that before," Holtzman said. "But more important it's a big win for the team. That could mean like $20,000 if we got rolling and get in the World Series again."

Angel Manager Bobby Winkles said about the A's' pickoff play that, "it's a good play and they worked it well but we should have been ready for it."

Catfish Hunter, 17-3, goes for Oakland tonight against Rudy May, 7-13.

City boxer on Ali-Norton card

INGLEWOOD — Heavyweight Mike Weaver of Pomona, will face Lynch Martin of Phoenix at the Forum Monday night in one of three bouts following the Muhammad Ali-Ken Norton fight.

Jerry Quarry and Tony Doyle will open the five-fight card in a 10-rounder at 6:30 p.m. Quarry is the highest paid non-champion in recent years. He was offered $1-million to fight the winner of the George Formean Joe King Roman Heavywieght title bout in Tokyo. Quarry is now the No. 4 ranked contender to Foreman's title.

The Ali-Norton battle is scheduled for 12 rounds.

Poly gets ready for Fresno trip

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Cal Poly has only two more practice sessions before its 1973 football campaign gets under way.

Friday afternoon at 1 p.m. the Broncos will board buses, leaving from the Kellogg Field parking lot, and head to Fresno where they will battle the Bulldogs Satruday at 7:30 p.m.

The Broncos, who concluded two-a-day workouts Saturday, will don the pads for practices this morning at 10 a.m. and Thursday afternoon in their final opportunity to polish plays before their football fortunes are uncovered.

Fresno State, a member of the tough Pacific Coast Athletic Association-which consists of CS Long Beach, CS Los Angeles, San Diego State, San Jose State, UC Santa Barbara, and the University of Pacific, are starting 1973 under new head coach J. R. Boone.

Boone comes to Fresno State after six years at Reedley Junior College in which he guided them to four conference title s with the 1971 team copping the state jaycee crown. His overall coaching record is 128-32-4.

The Bulldogs have 17 returning lettermen and a defense that lead the PCAA at 264.4 per game average with tnly 95.8 of those via the air.

The stinge unit is anchored by All-conference defensive end Dwayne Westphal (6-3, 230) and Tim Wade.

Mike Harris is back at wide receiver. Harris caught 30 passes for 407 yards and three touchdowns. The wuarterback spot is the key to Fresno's success. Keith Siemens and Dennis Veeh are vying for the No. 1 job and early reports show that both have the ability to throw deep well.

"The only information we have on them comes from their Alumni game—and you can't tell much from that. In that game the alumni had St. Louis Cardinal quarterback Tim Van Galder (Iowa State) riddle the Bulldog secondary but there wasn't much pass blocking nor running."

Fresno plays a national schedule that includes Northern Illonois, Montana State, and Hawaii, besides the likes of San Diego State from the PCAA.

The Bulldogs are indeed in the university class, statistics wise. An enrollment of 16,000 plus and an active booster club as backing gives the school financial ability for adequate scholarships to acquire a lot of good athletes.

"We expect them to pass a lot . . . deep with accurary . . . and they have two excellent young quarterbacks. The outweigh us 10-15 pounds per man but that's nothing new to us," concluded Anderson.

Anthony Davis handles kicking for Trojans

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Heisman Trophy candidate Anthony Davis also is going to handle the field goals and kickoffs for Southern California's football team this season.

The Trojans' talented tailback booted a 35-yarder in practice Tuesday and coach John McKay said Davis had won the kicking job from Brad Rice, a freshman from Monroe High School in the San Fernando Valley.

GILMAN HOT SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Heavyweight Ken Norton finished his training here before heading for his Los Angeles headquarters Tuesday and his trainer said he was ready to face former champion Muhammad Ali next Monday in their 12-round rematch.

"I wish the fight was tomorrow," trainer Eddie Futch said. "Ken is ready right now. We'll have to taper off so he will remain this sharp.

"Ken was in fine shape for the first fight and he is even better this time. Moreover, the victory over Ali gave him confidence. I see no reason why he can't beat him again."

Both Norton and Ali, who has been training in Pennsylvania, will train at a local hotel in Los Angeles, but the sessions will be closed to the public.

Gene Howard goes to Lions

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Cornerback Gene Howard, a six-year veteran and a starter for the Los Angeles Rams the past two seasons, was traded to the Detroit Lions for an undisclosed draft choice Tuesday.

Howard, 26, intercepted nine passes as a Ram, three last year. He came to the Rams in 1971 in a trade with New Orleans that sent wide receiver Charlie Williams to the Saints.

Pro baseball wasn't Brad Kessler's dream

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Most boys in growing up dream of becoming a fireman, policeman, doctor, lawyer or a professional baseball player.

It's not unusual to grow up through the Little League system with the ambition of someday playing for the Dodgers, Angels or the Reds. It is unusual, however, to spend your boyhood days not hoping to someday play along side of Willie Davis, Frank Robinson or Pete Rose.

Such is the case of Brad Kessler of Claremont, the former Wolfpack football and baseball star.

Like most young boys, Brad grew up in the Pomona-Claremont Little Leagues but never really thought too much about becoming a big league ballplayer.

"I never seriously considered it until the end of my junior year of high school," said Kessler. "Oh, I can remember going to see a major league game and wishing I could some day be out there playing but I never thought about it seriously."

Brad has just completed his first summer in professional baseball. The former Claremont High star signed with the Cincinnati Reds in the spring and departed for Bradenton, Fla., to play with the Bradenton Reds of the Rookie League.

He reported June 17 and played the outfield, mostly center and right, until July 25 when he was sent to Seattle, Wash. to play for the Seattle Rainiers of the Northwest League. Brad played about 60 games, where he batted about .280 with one home run and was the teams' cleanup hitter, before joining Seattle to play "A" league baseball.

His season ended abruptly in Seattle, after playing three innings, when he pulled ligaments in his right ankle. In his only at bat, he grounded out.

Brad has been home for about a month now but his first year in the pros isn't over yet.

On Sept. 18 he reports to Tampa, Fla. for winter league baseball.

"The Reds invited me to come down for the winter league season which lasts until Nov. 17," added the 1972 All-Pomona Valley first team gridder. "They feel the more playing time you get in, the quicker you advance toward the majors. And it also gives us the opportunity to work with guys like Johnny Bench (he was there last year)."

"I've talked to John Scolinos at Cal Poly and he said I could work out with the team. So I hope I can get enrolled there."

Brad enjoyed his first experience with pro ball but says there are both good and bad points in the struggle for the majors.

"The conditioning is tougher than anything I've ever come in contact with, It's more like football, and it lasts from five to seven hours a day!"

The time spent in Florida was learning experinece. We were taught to play baseball the way the Reds play. And it's tough to play everyday. Some days you're tired or some part of your body is sore but you play anyway. But the biggest thing you learn is that you're always in the game."

"Another good thing is that all of the guys get along well. There's no age barrier even though first year players are between 18 and 23. Everyone sticks together."

Financially, each young man gets $500 a month in which they pay for food, apartment, clothes and transportation but they are able to save about $150 of that. And since they don't get paid during the off season the life of a minor leaguer would be rough — financially.

"We get fined for missing signals or for missing a base, or for not driving home the runner from third base with less than two out. The fines, in most cases aren't stiff . . . but 50 cents here and there . . . add up."

Young, old clash in Open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) —The Young Turks and the Old Guard go to the battlements today in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

Jimmy Connors, the just-turned 21-year-old, opposes John Newcombe, 29, and the man who found the Fountain of Youth, 38-year-old Ken Rosewall, meets 19-year-old giant killer Vijay Amritraj of India, with semifinal berths the reward for the winners.

Connors, the independent young man from Belleville, Ill., who is aligned neither with Lamar Hunt nor the Association of Tennis Professionals—or for that matter with World Team Tennis—has no qualms about facing Newcombe, who won the last "amateur" Forest Hills title in 1967.

As for Rosewall, what more can be said than that he has come this far without the loss of a set? This from a man closing in on his 39th birthday in November, who has taken the stifling heat and humidity during the first seven days of play as casually as if he were Connors' age.

Yet this heat has been murder for men—and women—years younger. Most notable, of course, was the reeling exit of defending women's champion Billie Jean King, but some are inclined to think that it was the heat as well as Amritraj's undisciplined artistry that led to the downfall of that other great Aussie, Rod Laver.

An upset win for the personable Vijay would establish him as one of the foremost of the Young Turks. Not many players, of any age, could lay claim to laying low both Laver and Rosewall at Forest Hills in the same year.

It could well be a classic match, pitting the 6-3 teenager's big serve, big volley and big smile against the 5-7 Rosewall's deceptive service, consummate all-court skill, and long-suffering court agonies.

In women's play, Julie Heldman, still on Cloud Nine despite the tarnish on her default win over Billie Jean, opposes West Germany's Helga Masthoff; Chris Evert seeks to take another step to her first major title by stopping the now crusading Rosie Casals, and Evonne Goolagong meets last year's beaten finalist, fellow Aussie Kerry Melville.

The three winners will join second seeded Margaret Court in the semifinal bracket, with the Evert-Casals winner opposing the Grand Slam champion of 1970.

Mrs. Court had a rugged quarterfinal win Tuesday over Britain's Virginia Wade, prevailing in two sudden death sets, 7-6, 7-6. Miss Wade, who played extremely well, said afterwards: "Margaret just doesn't miss the big points...and I just can't like the ninepoint tie break at all, at all.

In men's play, Stan Smith had a brisk workout against Tom Gorman before winning 6-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4, and Nikki Pilic, who precipitated the massive ATP walkout at Wimbledon, put down the 17-year-old Swedish boy who had been the darling of that limited field. Pilic prevailed over Bjorn Borg, 6-4, 5-7, 6 3, 6-4.

The Wimbledon winner, Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, advanced, putting out Australia's John Alexander, and Onny Parun of New Zealand gained the other quarterfinal berth by disposing of Australia's Ross Case in a match pretty much ignored by the crowd of 8,155— poorest of the tournament.

Most spectators tried to get a glimpse of Billie Jean who, "feeling terrible," returned to action in a doubles match, joining Miss Casals in a 6-7, 6-6, 6-1 win over Julie Heldman and Mona Schallau.

WORKING UP A SWEAT — Stan Smith worked up a sweat at Forest Hills Tuesday in defeating Tom Groman of Seattle, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4, to advance to quarterfinals against New Zealander Onny Parum.

KEENA ROTHHAMMER and Shirley Babashoff set the fastest times in their heats of the women's 200 meters freestyles at the World Swimming Championships at Belgrade today to boost U.S. hopes for a sixth gold medal in tonight's finals. Miss Rothhammer of Santa Clara clocked 2:07.53 and Miss Babashoff of Fountain Valley touched home in 2:07.75.

THE UTAH STARS of the American Basketball Association Tuesday acquired center David Brent from the Carolina Cougars for a future draft choice and an undisclosed amount of cash. Carolina gave up Brent after trading for center Jim Chones of the ABA New York Nets under a similar deal.

NATIONAL LEAGUE president Charles (Chub) Feeney announced Tuesday he has called a special meeting of club owners in Chicago on Sept. 19 to discuss the San Diego franchise situation.

PETE MACKINAN'S 10th inning hit over a drawn-in outfield gave Spokane a 4-3 win over Tucson Tuesday night in the opener of their Pacific Coast League playoff series.

BASEBALL STAR STEVE BARTKOWSKI has changed his mind and returned to the University of California football team as the no. 2 quarterback. Cal coach Mike White said Bartkowski will work behind sophomore Vince Ferragamo.

DANNY KAY LESTER, 24, a defensive back on the Texas Longhorn team that won the 1970 national championship, was killed Tuesday in a traffic accident that occurred during heavy rainstorms spawned by tropical storm Delia.

CREWS REPAIRING the artificial turf at the multimillion dollar Las Vegas Stadium say the field should be in shape for the first Nevada Las Vegas football game Saturday. The Astroturf, installed less than two years ago by the Monsantio Co., has been deteriorating for several weeks. The reason is under investigation.

No orders from Billy, say Tigers

DETROIT (UPI) — Catcher Duke Sims and pitcher Joe Coleman of the Detroit Tigers have backed up fired manager Billy Martin's assertion he never ordered spitballs thrown.

"If I had to go to court and testify to that, I would," Sims said Tuesday night. Coleman, while not admitting Martin never ordered him to throw an illegal pitch, said "I would not call him a liar."

The "confession" Martin made last Thursday night that he had ordered spitballs thrown led to a three-day suspension Friday morning by American League President Joe Cronin.

That in turn proved to be the straw that broke the general manager's back and Jim Campbell of the Tigers fired Martin with a year to go on his contract.

Martin told UPI Tuesday morning he never ordered Coleman or Fred Scherman to throw pitches loaded with saliva or vaseline. He said he did at the time to protect his pitchers, because if they admitted it, they would have been suspended or fired or both. Alleged greaseballer Gaylord Perry of Cleveland was pitching against them.

"I denied it at first because I had to protect myself," Coleman said. "But Billy said it was all right because he told you writers he'd ordered it so I admitted it.

"If he hadn't said anything, the whole thing would have been forgotten by now," Coleman said.

However, Coleman told UPI Monday he threw several spitters before Martin "ordered" him to in the eighth inning. Sims had named himself as the instigator of the whole thing Friday.

"It was my idea originally, the Detroit catcher repeated Tuesday. "I was mad because Gaylord had thrown so many at me. I asked Joe if he could throw one and told him to do it every pitch.

"There were several guys on the bench and they all wanted us to do the same thing to show him (Perry) up," Sims said. "Billy never ordered us to throw them. Not that I know of anyway."

Rams' running attack worries 49er coach

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI)—Coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers worried today about the running game of the Los Angeles Rams and three more roster cuts.

"They've (the Rams) been working toward an effective running game and they showed it against San Diego,' said Nolan of the 49ers' next opponent Friday night in Los Angeles. "Jim Bertelsen and Tony Baker are a hell of a pair of fine runners."

In another move, the 49ers traded linebacker Marty Huff, a fifth-round choice in 1971 out of Michigan, to Buffalo for an unspecified 1974 draft choice. Huff became expendable when Jim Sniadecki and Skip Vanderbundt performed well at middle linebacker behind Frank Nunley.

Nolan said he will announce in a day or so the next three cuts to reach the 44-man limit. He said he was investigating the possibility of deactivating an injured player to postpone an immediate decision on one of the cuts.

Halfback Vic Washington, suffering from a cracked kneecap, will rejoin the club next week but probably will miss the season opener against Miami in two weeks.

Playoff dates set for L.A.

LOS ANGELES — Dodger fans can circle the dates of Oct. 6 and 7 and also Oct. 16, 17, and 18. And then cross their fingers.

These are the dates the Dodgers will be at home if they are involved in the National League Championship Series and the World Series.

The Championship Series—matching the National League divisional champions—will be a three-out-of-five series and will open in the home park of the Western Division Champion on Sunday, Oct. 7. Both will be day games.

The National League champions will play host to three night games in the middle of the week—Tuesday (Oct. 16), Wednesday (Oct. 17), and Thursday (Oct. 18). If the Dodgers represent the N.L. the middle three games will start at 5:30 p.m.

Sir Dalrae at Hollypark

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Sir Dalrae, seeking the final win in the third and final leg of the $160,000 U.S Pacing Championship, has arrived at Hollywood Park, where the 1973 Western Harness meeting opens Thursday.

Winner of 12 straight races including the $25,000 Invitational Mile last weekend at Brandywine Raceway in Wilmington, Del., the converted trotter Sir Dalrae already has won the first two races of the championship.

Sir Dalrae will try to add the final win to his credits Saturday night to increase his lifetime earnings of $297,628 by first place money of $35,000.

Sir Dalrae has now won 28 of 37 lifetime starts, five of the tallies at Hollywood Park's 1972 season.

The opener for the 28th season of harness racing in Southern California is expected to draw a crowd of 18,000.

Sports parade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hank Aaron got into the habit as a kid.

He'd pick up the paper every day, turn to the sports section and after skimming over the chaff, like golf, boxing and football, he'd get down to the wheat by checking out all the boxscores and batting averages.

Hank Aaron is 39 now and has a few other things on his mind but he still clings to that habit he developed as a kind.

He was looking over the averages the other day, those in the other league as well as in his own, and he happened to notice that a younger player whom he knew and liked, one who had been a teammate of his with Atlanta but now has playing ball in the American League, still seemed to be having some trouble with the pitching over there.

This young man was hitting the long ball all right, with better than 65 RBI's and something like 15 or 16 homers, but his average was dragging down around .220 somewhere.

Earl . . . this is Hank

"Earl? . . . this is Hank," Aaron opened the conversation.

Earl Williams didn't have to ask "Hank who?" First because he doesn't know that many Hanks, second because he recognized his former teammate's voice immediately and third because they had spoken over the phone before.

So he picked up the phone and called his young friend over in the other league, Earl Williams of the Baltimore Orioles.

he doesn't know that many Hanks, second because he recognized his former teammate's voice immediately and third because they had spoken over the phone before.

"How are things going?" Aaron asked Williams.

"So-so," said the Orioles' 25-year-old catcher-first baseman. "Could be better, could be worse."

Earl Williams was talking about that phone call this past weekend before he went out and took the Red Sox apart with six RBI's and three homers in a Labor Day doubleheader in Boston. That same evening Hank Aaron had two homers and three RBI's against San Diego, moving him within six home runs of Babe Ruth's record.

Hank told me not to get discouraged, that it would take me awhile to go through this adjustment period of learning everything there is to learn about these new ballparks and new pitchers," said Williams. "I understood what Hank was trying to say. What he was telling me was I should stay with 'em."

Strong down the middle

Williams still wears a tee shirt which has the words "Atlanta Braves" stenciled across it.

"You miss 'em?" I asked him.

"Not that," he said. "This shirt is the lightest one I can find. It's confortable in this hot weather."

Those three home runs against the Red Sox jumped Williams' total for the season to 20, tops among the Orioles but considerably less than the 38 Dave Johnson has hit so far for the Braves. The odd aspect about the whole thing is Johnson never hit more than 18 homers in any of the eight seasons he was with the Orioles and the big reason they let him and three others go for Williams last winter was to get more thunder in their lineup.

Now everybody says the only reason Johnson has hit so many homers is because he's playing most of his games in accommodating Atlanta Stadium.

"I don't know about that," says Williams. "Dave Johnson doesn't concern me. He's with Atlanta; I'm with Baltimore. The only thing that bothers me is nobody has mentioned that old baseball axiom lately in connection with our club. You know the one that goes 'you can't win unless you're strong down the middle.'"

Catching . . . and hitting too

Williams' implication is clear enough because the Orioles are way out in front in the American League East, they're strong down the middle, and he's an integral part of that middle inasmuch as he's doing the bulk of the Club's catching.

With Atlanta, one of the raps against Williams was he didn't like to catch, he'd much rather play first.

"It's true, I wasn't that happy when I was first approached about catching in Atlanta," he says. "I hadn't caught before and I knew it takes three to five years to become a competent catcher in the big leagues. You can't just go out there and be a big league catcher like they were asking me to do. Yes, I preferred playing first base. Workload-wise, any position in the infield is less demanding than catching."

But Earl Williams has been doing his share of catching for the Orioles and Hank Aaron noticed that.

Hank Aaron was right.

Fickle umps spice N.L. East play

By United Press International

There's nothing like a heated argument at home plate on the deciding run to spice a hot pennant race.

The St. Louis Cardinals argued vigorously with home plate umpire Ed Vargo Tuesday night when he called Lou Brock out at the plate as he attempted to score the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning on a short wild pitch.

But the Cardinals danced off the field in jubilation when Vargo changed his decision after consulting with another umpire and ruled that Brock had scored. The Pirates then argued in vain as the new decision stood and St. Louis went on to post a 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

The result was that St. Louis moved to a two-game lead over the Pirates in the Eastern Division.

The drama started after the Cards had scored two runs in the eighth to tie the game 2-2 and Brock dashed home on Dave Giusti's short wild pitch. Catcher Manny Sanguillen retrieved the ball and fired home to Giusti, who put the tag on Brock as Vargo raised his arm in the out sign.

Brock jumped up screaming as the Cards streamed out of the dugout to argue with Vargo, who then decided to ask for another opinion. Umpire Bruce Froemming came in from second base and after checking with Froemming, Vargo spread his hands in the safe sign.

That ended the St. Louis argument and started the Pittsburgh's.

Dave Cash, the Pirates' second baseman, said, "I can't see how Froemming can make the call at second base when he was behind me and I couldn't see it."

Vargo said, "when Brock hit home, Giusti made the tag and I banged him out. There was a cloud of dust and I didn't see anything. I asked my buddies for help and they told me the ball was dropped so I changed the call."

Giusti said, "I made the tag and rolled over. I came up with the ball in my hand and when I went to show him, the ball squeezed out."

Brock said, "Giusti dropped the ball in the process of tagging me. He never had control of the ball. I hit the plate at the same time he tagged me. If he would have held the ball, it would have been interesting. You have to give Vargo a lot of credit. He didn't make an outrageous decision. He asked for help."

St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst said, "Giusti never had possession. He made the tag, brought his glove up and dropped the ball."

Froemming said, "Vargo asked me if I saw the play and I said I did. He asked me if the ball was loose and I said it was and that was it."

In the other games, Montreal edged Chicago 3-2, Cincinnati routed Houston 12-7 in 10 innings, San Francisco beat Los Angeles 3-1, Atlanta blanked San Diego 3-0 and New York topped Philadelphia 7-1.

Cincinnati moved a game ahead of the Dodgers in the Western Division with a five-run 10th inning. Phil Gagliano's two out, bases-loaded bunt single snapped the 7-7 tie and Pete Rose and Joe Morgan followed with two-run singles. Rose, who now has 202 hits this year, drove in four runs with three hits.

Tom Seaver picked up his 16th win on a five-hitter as the Mets topped the Phillies. Seaver struck out 13 to run his league-leading total to 218. Jim Lonborg took the loss.

Montreal remained three games back of St. Louis by downing Chicago as rookie Steve Rogers posted his seventh victory. Mike Marshall came on to get the final out and post his 28th save.

Dusty Baker's two-run homer paced Atlanta past San Diego. Hank Aaron doubled and walked twice and his double off the leftfield wall missed being homer No. 709 by only a couple of feet.

Tiant won't forget marathon victory

By United Press International

Over the space of a 10-year major league career, there are only so many games that will stand out in a player's mind.

For Luis Tiant, one of those milestones occurred Tuesday night.

The 32-year-old right-hander, pitching with only three days rest instead of his regular four in a bid to snap a personal three-game losing streak, struggled through 12 tense innings and 167 pitches before Boston gave him the run he needed to edge the Baltimore Orioles 2-1.

To finally muster his 16th victory, Tiant had to out-duel Jim Palmer, the man he considers "the best pitcher in the American League right now," getting the winning homer from perhaps the most unlikely candidate on the field, Ben Oglivie.

Oglivie homered on Palmer's first pitch in the 12th inning. It was only his second homer of the year.

As a reward for their patience, the Red Sox kept alive their playoff hopes by climbing to within five games of first-place Baltimore in the American League East, with the chance of gaining another notch when the two clubs conclude their four-game series at Boston tonight.

Ken Holtzman became a 20-game winner for the first time in his career and the Oakland A's stretched their lead in the West to 4½ games by beating the California Angels 4-3 after second-place Kansas City dropped a 6-0 decision to Minnesota. Elsewhere, Detroit edged New York 2-1, Chicago blasted Texas 14-0 and Cleveland beat Milwaukee 5-4.

Tiant, who allowed only six earned runs in his previous three outings, but lost them all when his teammates could muster only three runs, was determined to get back in the win column Tuesday night.

"My arm is tired and stiff but I think I might have gone one more inning," he said. "They played well behind me tonight but the only thing is we can't score.

"Sometimes you throw as hard as you can and everything's going against you. They win with four, three, two runs. And a lot of time I'm pitching while behind. We've been hitting the ball good, but right to somebody. I don't want another game like that.

"Palmer is the best pitcher in the American League right now," Tiant continued. "He's tough, has good control and three or four good pitches. I've beaten him twice this year but he's tough."

Al Bumbry gave Baltimore a 1-0 lead in the first when he beat out an infield single, stole second and scored on Boog Powell's double. Boston came back in its half of the first on singles by Tommy Harper and Carl Yastrzemski.

"I thought it was off the wall," Oglivie said. "That was my reaction when I hit the ball. I was at second when I realized it was in the screen."

Of his pitcher's performance, Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver said: "I don't think Palmer threw a bad pitch. It might not exactly have gone where he wanted. But he threw 136 pitches, 135 might have gone close to where he wanted, the 136th didn't."

Bert Blyleven limited Kansas City to four hits in registering his eighth shutout of the season as Minnesota breezed to an easy victory over the Royals. Joe Lis had a pair of doubles for the Twins and scored two runs.

Rich Glover, college hero, entering pro football limbo

By United Press International

Early this year, Glover was the king of college football linemen, the most feared middle guard in the college ranks. He won the Outland Trophy and the Vince Lombardi Trophy as the best college lineman in the nation and was named the Football Writers Association's Player of the Year.

But that was six months ago.

Today Rich Glover in in pro football limbo.

Glover, trying to make it in the pros as an undersized middle guard, was one of three players placed on waivers Tuesday by the New York Giants. Some clubs have expressed interest in securing the former Nebraska All America but the Giants have until 4 p.m. EDT today to decide whether they will recall him from the waiver list or deal him away.

"I never thought this would happen," Glover said after learning of the Giants' decision. "I feel I can make it with any team at any position on the line or linebacker. Most of the guys on the team thought I'd made it but yesterday they (the Giant coaches) came to me and said I was being placed on waivers. I was a little down after that but they told me they'd bring me back if I was claimed.

"I never thought about being traded," Glover added. "I'm from Jersey City and the Giants are in the backyard."

Glover was attempting to break in at the position earned last season by John Mendenhall, also considered undersized at 6-foot-0 and 260 pounds but still 25 pounds heavier than Glover. But he never got the penetration that made him a terror in college and his pass rush failed to impress the coaches.

The Giants also waived Otto Brown, a five-year veteran cornerback, and rookie wide receiver Walter Love.

In other action in the training camps Tuesday, Detroit acquired a pair of defensive backs to replace Rudy Redmond, out for the season with an injured Achilles tendon. The Lions obtained Gene Howard from Los Angeles and Willie Germany from Atlanta.

Houston placed quarterback Lynn Dickey on the injured reserve list and reactivated linebacker Paul Guidry. The New York Jets put defensive tackle Steve Thompson on injured reserve and Pittsburgh did the same with defensive tackle Tom Keating.

Chicago released four players, including former Notre Dame receiving star Jim Seymour, and placed linebacker Jim Gunn on injured reserve.

The final weekend of preseason games will be spread over a four-day period. Miami, making its third consecutive appearance on national television, is at Dallas Thursday night while on Friday, Kansas City is at St. Louis, New England at Detroit and San Francisco at Los Angeles.

On Saturday, Cleveland takes on the Giants in Akron, Ohio, the New York Jets play Philadelphia in Tampa, Fla., Oakland is at Buffalo, Green Bay at Cincinnati, Atlanta at Pittsburgh, Minnesota at San Diego and Houston at New Orleans. Baltimore is at Denver and Chicago at Washington on Sunday.

New offense installed for San Diego St.

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Heading into his first season as coach of the San Diego State Aztec, Claude Gilbert has taken a man out of the backfield and installed a triple option offense.

Gilbert is in his seventh year on the Aztec staff, but the last four of them have been as defensive coordinator under Don Coryell, now the head coach of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Most of the assistants left with him.

"Coryell had as sophisticated a passing formation as anyone," Gilbert said Tuesday, at the final stop on the PCAA media tour. "All you have to do is check the number of quarterbacks and receivers who are now pros."

Gilbert has installed a Veer-T offense, modeled after the University of Houston's and said his quarterback, Jesse Freitas, has taken to the new system well.

Deke Houlgate

Motor sport today

John Mahler is widely believed to be the man who blew the whistle on the unsuccessful Champ Carr deception at Indianapolis Motor Speedway in May. He has never denied being the fingerman up to now, because he apparently didn't care what anybody thought.

"It doesn't bother me a bit to be called a stoolpigeon," Mahler said. "The biggest cheaters are in Gasoline Alley, and the biggest stoolpigeons are there, too. It's all part of trying to win.

"When you get right down to it, racing is a dirty, mean, hard business. If you are going to cheat, you had better know what you are doing."

In case you are unfamiliar with the Car 34 caper, it happened like this: Sam Posey, by a fluke of bad luck, took a slow qualifying speed on the first weeeknd of time trials.

Mahler was fired soon after that and the team nominated veteran Jim McElreath to try to qualify No. 35, the second of three cars it had entered. A story was circulated that a frosh chassis tub had been flown in from tht West Coast.

Posey's crew busied itself working on this "new" car, to get it ready for a qualifying attempt. It was actually the original No. 34 in disguise, already credited with a qualifying speed and ineligible to try again.

USAC chief technical inspector Frankie Del Roy exposed this seemingly amateurish bit of trickery, which became known as the Indianapolis Watergate, both for its deception and the fact that it was bungled.

But while Champ Carr was exposed for its attempt to cheat, Mahler was blamed for his role in blowing the whistle. The word around Gasoline Alley was that he would have a hard time finding a ride anymore, on the basis that if it suited his purpose he might rat on any new car owner who hired him.

This is to report that not only did he not tell on Champ Carr, he wasn't sure just what the crew was doing. As for the aftermath, Mahler's career is doing nicely. He is under contract to Dick Deutsch, a Connecticut land owner and investor. On Oct. 1 the two of them will decide what is going to be their 1974 racing program.

After Deutsch bailed Mahler out of the Champ Carr episode, he associated with the team for which Mahler drove at Ontario. It was a trial run. If all parties, including the sponsor, Carling Black Label, are pleased, Mahler may race a Woods McLaren on the USAC championship trail next year for the full season.

"Mr. Deutsch is a very wealthy and busy man," Mahler said. "He is very loyal. Being involved with Richard Deutsch is like being associated with Tony Hulman at the speedway. As long as you keep your nose clean you keep your tenure."

Deutsch is apparently a throwback to sportsmen of an earlier decade. He saw his first Indianapolis 500 in 1971 (coincidentally, the year Mahler was removed from his car so the owner could drive it, because he had been bumped from the field in another car).

Deutsch thought racing was an exciting sport and believed it would be a nice thing to take his friends to a race, be involved with a driver and give parties.

The way it turned out, however, Deutsch is so busy with philanthropic activities he rarely gets time to see Mahler race, except for once a year when he charters an airliner and flies his friends to Indianapolis and a few other races in the East. Nevertheless, the wealthy New England patron has remained enthusiastic about the sport and his driver.

They claimed Pearlman, president of the sponsoring National Off-Road Racing Assn., had promised them air transportation to La Paz so they could cover the conclusion of the race. They insisted on paying, but also insisted on flying. They reminded him that he had enticed them to cover the race on the basis of that flight.

Pearlman was in a terrible dilemma. One of the two aircraft promised to him was unavailable. He only had room on the remaining plane for his officials. He was very sorry, but they would have to stay behind.

What followed was one of the great journalistic put-downs of sports history. Newspapers carried anti-NORRA stories the length and breadth of the country.

Under the circumstances, it shouldn't have been a surprise to NORRA when the government stepped in and took away its right to stage motor races in Mexico.

NORRA officials reacted bitterly when it was announced that the Baja Sports Committee, a new arm of the Tourism Promotion Committee of Baja California, had been awarded the very November dates that NORRA held for seven years. Only the name of the race had been changed, from the Mexican 1000 to the Baja 1000.

Many of the accusations made against the new Mexican group by friends and allies of NORRA are being publicly denied by the new group in a display of candor previously unknown in off-road racing. Some charges are being ignored as not worthy of discussion.

Competitors have been warned by NORRA supporters that the Mexican government will collect income tax from their prize money and that there are a lack of English-speaking officials and medical facilities. In a reckless example of bigotry, the innuendo has been published that "typical Mexican efficiency" will get everything fouled up in the land of manana.

The BSC is a non-profit group and will turn all its net over to youth charities. That means under Mexican law that no income tax can be levied, even from prize money. All official positions will be staffed with bilingual men and women. The BSC refuses to comment on the "efficiency" barb but is doing a conscientious job of trying to overcome that image with its actions.

Last weekend Alfredo Arenas, executive director of BSC, came to Ontario to meet the press and answer some of the many questions that have arisen since Baja Gov. Milton Castellanos turned over the right to promote races to his own countrymen.

"We in Mexico are very grateful for what the Americans did with the races to put Baja California on the map," Arenas said. "The governor just felt that it was about time that races were held by a Mexican organization for the benefit of the Mexican people.

"The previous group only used Baja as terrain. It organized the race in America, paid the prize money and kept the profit in America."

One of the greatest benefits to racers of the new group will be medical coverage all along the race route. Under a new law, Arenas said, American tourists are entitled to the same socialized medicine benefits as natives. Accordingly, for the first time there will be doctors providing free service at every checkpoint and hospitals available to Americans on the same basis as Mexicans from the border to La Paz.

International champions begin series at Riverside

RIVERSIDE — They have won 222 major professional automobile races, captured 23 national or international championships and banked more than $6 million in prize money.

The awesome ledger belongs to the 11 drivers so far named for the International Race of Champions, a series of four match races starting October 27 at Riverside International Raceway.

The $140,000 series, which will be taped and telecast nationally by ABC Sports early next year, will have a field of 12 drivers when completed and they will compete against each other in identical Porsche Carrera racing cars.

Drivers represent four branches of auto racing and their 222 major victories include those in Formula One, USAC Championship, NASCAR superspeedways and Can-Am, Trans-Am and U.S. Road Racing Championship events.

The field incudes:

Mark Donohue, 36, of Pennsylvania. Donohue has been America's most successful driver in recent years, winning five road racing championships and 41 major races. He won the 1972 Indianapolis 500, the 24 Hours of Daytona in 1969 and was the Martini & Rossi Driver of the Year for 1968.

Jackie Stewart, 33, Scotland. Stewart is a two-time World Champion (1969, 1971) who is well on his way to his third title this season. His recent win in the Dutch Grand Prix was his 27th career Grand Prix victory, the most ever gy a driver in Formula One competition.

Richard Petty, 36, Randleman, N.C. The four-time NASCAR stock car driving champion has amassed 152 career Grand National victories, but only 20 of those on superspeedways were counted in the IROC statistics.

Emerson Fittipaldi, 26, Brazil. Fittipaldi is the youngest driver in the IROC field and the defending World Champion. He has nine Grand Prix wins in his young career and is second in the 1973 Formula One standings.

Bobby Unser, 39, Alburquerque, N.M. The perennial USAC pole winner has 17 championship victories to his credit, icnluding the 1968 Indianapolis 500. He was also the USAC driving champion that year.

David Pearson, 39, Spartanburg, N.C. America's hottest driver in 1973 with nine major wins in 13 races. Pearson, a three-time NASCAR champion, has 21 career superspeedway wins and is closing

Qualifying races set at Hollypark

INGLEWOOD — Qualifying races during the 1973 Western Harness meeting, which begins Thursday night at Hollywood Park, will be held every Tuesday and Thursday nights at 6 p.m., according to Director of Racing Harry Hatch.

Although non-betting events, qualifiers are conducted under actual race conditions, with the mobile starting gate employed and drivers wearing their silks.

The public is invited to watch the qualifiers, which are conducted so that young horses or horses who haven't raced in more than 60 days can demonstrate their ability to be competitve in actual wagering races.

Seven qualifying races were held Friday at Hollywood Park and among the winners was the good mare, Sweet Move, who raced with the best of her sex at Hollypark last fall. With trainer-driver Lou Rapone in the bike, Sweet Move paced her mile Friday in 2:02 1-5.

Southland racing

IRWINDALE — The stars of United States Racing Club claimer stock car racing will converge on the San Gabriel Valley Speedway in Irwindale this Saturday night for competition on the high-banked half-mile oval.

The special event will mark the third appearance of the claimer stocks this season on the big oval that surrounds the smaller quarter-mile where the regular Satruday night races are run.

Trophy dashes will start off the racing spectacular at 7:30 p.m. followed by a 25 lap semi-main and 50 lap main event. Grand finale of the evening will be destruction derby.

IRWINDALE—The NASCAR sportsman stock car racing stars move onto the highbanked San Gabriel Valley Speedway in Irwindale for another Friday night of highly competitive action.

NASCAR hobby and mini-stocks will share the 12 event program with the powerful sportsman machines starting at 7:30 p.m. with trophy dashes.

IRWINDALE — Merchandise valued at $1250 will be given away to racers and spectators at the final event of Pacific Customs $5000 series this Friday night at Irwindale Raceway. Two weeks ago nearly a fifth of the prizes went to folks in the stands.

Only the Experts will be ineligible since they will also be riding for the standard purse and in recent meeting, there have been some thrillers.

VALENCIA — With a pair of cash purses and valuable points towards the season's championships in all racing divisions up for grabs, many of the nation's top motocross riders are expected to slide into action both Friday night and during a daytime show Sunday on the dirt courses at Indian Dunes Park near Saugus.

The two motorcycle competition programs, both being sanctioned by American Motocross Enterprises of Hawthorne, will offer expert racers a 100 per cent payback of their entry fees, while novice riders will contest the issue for an award of trophies.

SAN BERNARDINO—Harold Harcrow is the man to watch as the NASCAR sportmsan and hobby stock cars roll into action this Saturday night at the Oranse Show Speedway in San Beranardino.

Considered a dark horse in the field of 16 sportsman drivers starting the main event two weeks ago the Bloomington speedster surprised the experts with an outstanding victory.

CORONA — Crashing and smashing will be the order of the night when the Figure 8's, oval and powder puff stockers hit the dirt at Corona Raceway, Saturday night at 8 p.m.

CORONA — SCIDA, under the direction of Hank Crawford, will stage another of their high flying Sprint Buggy and Sprint Sedan races Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The Sprint Buggies and Sprint Sedans are direct cousins of the super powerful desert machines that race in the Baja 1000. The differences between them vary only in the suspension, which has been lowered for the closed track racing. Both types of cars use the same powerful unlimited engines which allow them to reach speeds of up to 90 m.p.h.

The closed course that the buggies and sedans will run on at Corona is composed of a steep jump which launches the cars ten to fifteen feet in the air. Also on the course are two giant sweepers and an eighth mile straight, not to mention the tight, twisty corners the drivers must negotiate.

Los Alamitos brings down 1973 curtain

LOS ALAMITOS — Los Alamitos Race Course brings down the curtain on its 23rd year of quarter horse racing tonight with most of the West Coast's top distance-running horses meeting in the 13th running of the $25,000 Marathon.

Racing Secretary Donald "Curly" Smith has invited Arete, Bar Fame, Dynago Gee, Hy Divy, Little Lady Roar, Nercino and Un Charge to the distance event to be run over the 870-yard Vessels' Sr. Course.

No horse has established itself as the "horse to beat" in tonight's Marathon as Little Lady Roar had last year, thus leaving distance horse of the meeting honors up in the air going into the $25,000 dash.

Little Lady Roar, who finished third in last year's Marathon behind Chariwari and Un Charge but managed to salvage a share of distance horse of the meeting honors with Chariwari, will be the sentimental favorite of the closing night crowd.

The 6-year-old mare's first two starts of the summer resulted in victories in a division of the War Chic Stakes and the $10,000 Endurance and in her latest event, she was narrowly nipped at the wire in a sizzling 45.44 seconds in the Pap.

Nercino may wind up the wagering favorite based on his sensational streak of finishing no worse than second in 11 of his last 13 starts, not to mention his rapid 45.44 triumph in the recent Pap.

Arete was named distance horse of the Bay Meadows meeting after a speedy victory in the Hillsdale Handicap but the son of Azure Te is winless in stakes races at the meeting although he does own a victory over Nercino this summer.

Bar Fame was a sharp come-from-behind winner of the Table Tennis Stakes in August while Hy Divy, an invader from the Southwest, has notched two wins at the meeting in a division of the War Chic and the El Ocho Setenta.

Along with Bar Fame, Un Charge, named top 870-yard horse of the winter HQHRA meeting, figures to be closing ground in the stretch as he did last summer when he finished second back of Chariwari in the Marathon.

Dynago Gee may prove to be the "sleeper" of the field. The talented 5-year-old gelding won a division of the Pap Stakes in 1971 and has been seen at every distance possible (350, 400, 440, 549 and 870) during the current quarter horse meeting.

ON THE MOVE — Graceful trotters and pacers return to Southern California Thursday night when the 67-night, 1973 Western Harness meeting gets underway at Hollywood Park. Racing will be conducted Tuesday through Saturday nights with first post scheduled at 7:45 p.m.

Long Beach looks optimistic

LONG BEACH — Optimistic uncertainly. This would probably be the best way to describe Long Beach State's head coach Jim Stangeland's preseason opinion of his 1973 49er football team.

The 49ers experienced a dismal 5-6 season in 1972 and Stangeland lost 28 lettermen. But 25 returning lettermen are set to join a group of 30 junior college transfers and several 1972 redshirts to present Long Beach State with a 1973 squad long on possible talent and short on experience at the university level.

The Stangeland offense this year will once again feature a potentially strong running game. Eastern Arizona JC transfer Tommy Nathan (6-1, 196) accounted for over 2,000 yards rushing and 27 TD's in his two years of JC play, earning first team JC All-America recognition last season. Fullback Ron Choata (6-0, 200) from Hartnell JC is a strong, punishing runner. Senior quarterback Gary Wann (6-2, 190) returns after playing behind Randy Drake in 1972.

Long Beach State's entire offensive line has been rebuilt almost entirely with junior college performers. Center Mike Badsky (6-4, 258, Palomar JC), guards Kim Rhodes (6-2, 260, DeAnza JC) and Rudy Huerta (6-2, 255, Imperial Valley JC), and tackles Augie Olgy (6-4, 250, Ventura JC) and Charles Jones (6-3, 236), a walk-on player, will anchor the line that is expected to clear the way for Nathan and Choate.

Every bit of the newcomer's size will be needed to offset the huge size of the 49ers first foe's defense.

"Grambling will field its biggest defensive team ever and one of its best against us," commented Stangeland. "And our defense will be up against a strong running attack that features fullback Rod Tureaud (6-3, 225), who is a top pro prospect and one of the best runners in the collegiate ranks this year."

The Long Beach defense that will have to stop Tureaud has six newcomers to go along with five returning lettermen. Veterans Scott Ward (5-10, 215) and Bruce Jacobson (6-2, 215) will be the ends and lettermen Conrad Grandoni (6-4, 235) and San Francisco City College transfer Doug Stewart (6-5, 250) will handle the tackle positions.

The linebacking corp will have redshirts Tom Knudson (6-0, 212) at middle guard and Dana Hogan (5-10, 210) at weak linebacker, and transfer Dave Stanley (6-1, 220, Long Beach CC) at strong backer.

The defensive secondary should be one of the best units on the 1973 49er football squad. Returnee Quincy Newsome (6-2, 193) will be at rover, Long Beach City College transfer Louis Lauriano (6-0, 190) at cornerback, Greg Bailey (6-2, 195), injured for all of 1972, at safety, and El Camino JC newcomer Paul Horn (5-10, 175) at halfback.

Long Beach State's 25-19 win over Grambling in last year's Freedom Classic was the last defeat for Eddie Robinson's Tiger. Ten consecutive wins have been piled up by Grambling, including a 56-6 smashing of North Carolina Central in the Pelican Bowl. The all-time Grambling record is 12 straight wins and the Tigers want that record. Long Beach coach Jim Stangeland knows all too well how Grambling will look at his 49ers this coming Saturday afternoon.

"Grambling definitely will be fired up this year. Maybe they didn't take us that seriously last time, but that won't happen this Saturday in the Coliseum. They will be prepared, but our kids know it will be one of the tougher games of the year and we will also be fired up."

It will be difficult to evaluate this year's Long Beach State football team until the 1973 results start to come in. The talent could be there; it is on paper. But an opponent the caliber of Grambling will be a most difficult first test for the 1973 football 49ers.

Peter Revson, 34, Redondo Beach, Calif. The 1971 Can-Am driving champion is now a regular McLaren driver in Formula One competition and he recently became only the fifth American in hisotyr to win a Grand Prix event.

George Follmer, 39, Arcadia, Calif. Follmer, one of America's veteran road racers, had his best year in 1972, winning both the Trans-Am and Can-Am road racing championships. Like Revson, he is now a regular competitir on the Formula One circuit.

Bobby Allison, 35, Hueytown, Ala. Last year's Marini & Rossi Driver of the Year has a toal of 16 superspeedway wins and is considered perhaps the most versatile driver from the stock car ranks.

Gordon Johncock, 37, Speedway, Ind. Johncock added this year's rain-shortened Indy 500 to his list of eight major championship car victories.

Denis Hulme, 37, New Zealand. A familiar name in American road racing because of his domination for several years in the Can-Am series. Hulme, another former world champion (1967), won Can-Am titles in 1968 and 1970 and he has 31 major career race victories.

The Race of Champions gets underway October 27 at Riverside International Raceway. Three of the four events will be held that weekend in conjunction with the Los Angeles Times Grand Prix Can-Am event and the final race will be held at Daytona next February.

Parker earns spot in Trojan's book

LOS ANGELES — Artimus Parker has caught 12 passes in his football career at the University of Southern California and he is about to earn a spot for himself in the Trojan record books for his exploits.

All 12 passes have been thrown by the OPPOSITION quarterback and Tee Parker, a two-year starter at safety, is just one interception away from equaling the Trojan career interception record.

The old mark is held jointly by Jim Hardy, Manuel Laraneta, Mike Battle and Bruce Dyer.

"Tee has become a super safety," said Trojan Coach John McKay. "He has worked hard to improve and he seemed to improve with every game in his sophomore and junior seasons.

Tee's first opportunity comes a week from Saturday night when the Trojans host Arkansas (7:30 p.m.) in the Coliseum in the opening game for both teams.

Parker came to USC three years ago as one of the most highly recruited split ends in the nation. He had been a prep All-America at Sacramento High School.

Parker played both split end and safety as a freshman. He was second to Lynn Swann in pass receptions with nine for 144 yards in three games and had one interception with a 60-yard return. He was moved to safety in spring practice the same year.

Tee stayed there in the fall because of his impressive showing in the spring and the shortage of defensive backs. Although he still thinks of himself as a better receiver than defensive back, his constant improvement at safety makes him an all-star candidate this season.

"He will be the only experienced player in our secondary this fall. We'll look to him for leadership back there," McKay said.

Parker's prep and freshman background on offense has helped him as a safety. He is well versed in the moves and tricks of a receiver. Another asset is his size, 6-3 and 215 pounds.

Parker earned UPI All-Coast honors and second team AP All-Coast as a junior. Even more honors are within his grasp this time around.

Ali shocked to learn odds

DEER LAKE, Pa. (UPI) — Muhammad Ali was shocked to hear that he had been made a 12-5 favorite Monday for his return bout with Ken Norton in Los Angeles on Sept. 10.

"It must be a Norton plot to give me false confidence," said Ali when he was informed of the odds on the fight. "I lost the last fight. I should not be favored this time. I should be the underdog."

INGLEWOOD — Harry Hatch, for 13 years Western Harness' Director of Racing, will serve again as Presiding Steward during the 1973 standardbred season which begins Thursday night at Hollywood Park. The 67-night session will continue through Dec. 8.

Joining Hatch on the Board of stewards for the third straight year will be veteran California officials Alfred Shelhammer and Tom Carter.

Milt Lied will begin his 10th season as WHR's Racing Secretary and his assistants in putting the racing programs together will be Gary Buxton, Peter Tommila, Rick Stroud and Mike Corley.

Other officials named for the 1973 Western Harness meeting include Tony Tribo, Director of Operations; Bonnie Walker, Director of Group Sales; and Roy Shudt, announcer. Shudt's familiar call of "here they come" will be heard for the 27th consecutive year.

Author Tolkien dead at 81

BOURNEMOUTH, England (UPI) —Like Lewis Carroll with Alice in Wonderland, J.R.R. Tolkien began writing a book for children and it developed into an international classic for adults.

By the time he died Sunday at the age of 81, the former Oxford University professor's stories of a "middle earth" populated by hobbits, dragons, trolls, walking forests and rings of enchantment had become almost a cult among readers of all ages.

It was a 10-year-old boy who got Tolkien's first book, "The Hobbit," published.

Tolkien wrote it for the benefit of his own children then sent it to publisher Sir Stanley Unwin in 1939 for possible inclusion in his list of children's books.

Unwin's son, Rayner, drew the task of reading it, then urged his father to publish it.

Tolkien retired as professor of English language and literature in 1959 and lived in semi-seclusion. He became ill Sunday while visiting friends and was rushed to a local nursing home where he died shortly after admission.

They'll be floating in coffee, tea

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's opposition Labor party has signed a new pay agreement with its headquarters staff that includes a free cup of coffee every morning and a free cup of tea every afternoon.

But the agreement is retroactive to May 1, which means the 100 staff members have more than 18,000 cups of coffee or tea coming.

Officials have ruled out ordering every employe to drink doubles for the next four months, making the award good in cash or not awarding the back coffee or tea at all.

"We think the best thing is to leave it to the staff to sort out among themselves," said a headquarters spokesman.

New source of fuel oil has minuses

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Getting oil from shale will destroy some vegetation, fill some Western canyons with debris, lower water quality and supply, and cause "virtual disappearance" of some wild creatures from some areas.

But shale development also promises billions of barrels of low sulphur oil which could ease U.S. energy shortages, make the nation more independent in its fuel supply, and help redress the balance of payments. It also could help hold the line on gasoline prices.

The report looked into the potential harm from the "prototype" shale program—by which the government would lease six tracts of land of about 5,000 acres each—and from future full development of shale. If the prototype program succeeded in holding harm to limits the government could accept, then the secretary of interior could be expected to open the way for more widespread leasing.

Estimates of the oil locked in shale rock range up to trillions of barrels, with perhaps hundreds of billions that could be obtained reasonably easily with emerging technology.

When shale is broken down and heated to more than 900 degrees Fahrenheit, organic material in the shale emerges as shale oil, a synthetic crude oil whose properties are so much like petroleum that it can be refined into most petroleum products.

The richest shale deposits are in Utah, Wyoming, and Colorado. The Interior Department estimates the prototype program could cost up to $250 million for plants and equipment producing perhaps 250,000 barrels of oil daily. Unless that harms the environment too much, it could lead by 1985 to production of 1 million barrels a day, officials predicted.

The removal of shale, processing into oil, disposal of debris, and delivery of the finished product to market would have these main effects, the environmental statement said:

—Underground water supply would be reduced and surface water quality would be affected.

Speaking specifically of the million-barrels-a-day rate by 1985, that development could, the report predicted:

—Raise the region's population by 114,800 with the attendant income, commerce and related development.

—Reduce the region's population of mule deer, for example, by 10 per cent.

DO WANT ADS WORK?

DO MICE LIKE CHEESE?

The answer to both questions is a roaring "yes".

Why mice prefer cheese over all other types of food is something we two-legged creatures will never understand.

Why Want Ads work, at a lower cost and greater effectiveness than any other form of advertising, is easy to understand. It is because Want Ads provide people-to-people communication, bringing buyer and seller together.

If you've never used a Want Ad, you have a pleasant surprise in store for you.

You are about to invest money for an Ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results. Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and cost less in the long run.

1. Don't Omit The Address

Many out-of-town readers will write you but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. Don't Omit The Phone Number

Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. Don't Use Blind Box Numbers

Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. Don't Conceal The Price

5. Don't Leave Home On The Days You Advertise

Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

SPOT NEWS was made in Detroit by Robert Driskell, 22, in filing a complaint with the civil rights office that when he applied for a bus driver job the interviewer repeatedly referred to his freckles. And because the interviewer noted on his application "excessive noticeable freckles."

astrograph

by Bernice Bede Osol

For Thursday, September 6

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today is a day when you're better off acting on your own. A partner or associate will slow things down.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you're going to have work or service performed, be sure you deal with those who have very reliable reputations.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll have to keep your guard up where temptations are concerned today. If you yield, you'll get in hot water.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The one closest to you will have to be handled with extra tact today, else a serious confrontation will result.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You will be angered by someone who has promised to do something, and let you down. Rely on yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Any form of gambling or speculation is an absolute "no-no" for you today. Expect nothing for nothing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Do everything you can to lessen friction on the home front. If not, you'll personally trigger a donnybrook.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're going to misinterpret something another says and be unreasonably angered. Later, you'll go all-out to make amends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Keep an eye on your possessions today. Be sure to lock the house and your car if they are unattended.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your load will be a trifle heavier today. Toward afternoon or evening your burdens will begin to lighten.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll have trouble facing issues squarely today. Once you stand up to them you'll see they're not so frightening.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
September 6

You will assume greater responsibilities this coming year in your sphere of involvement. Rewards and benefits will be accrued in ratio to your growth.

LOS GATOS (UPI) — Leroy Murray, 23, was fatally stabbed recently when a friendly touch football game erupted into a fight.

Police said a group of young people from Oakland were playing on a green in Vasona Park after a picnic.
